MAIL CONTRACTS (WEST INDIES).

Return to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 11 June 1863;—for,

A COPY "of all CORRESPONDENCE which has taken place on the Subject of the MAIL CONTRACT to the WEST INDIES, between any Department of the Government and the various Parties who tendered for the Service."

General Post Office,
1 July 1863.

F. HILL,
Assistant Secretary.

— No. 1. —

Mr. F. Hill to Mr. R. T. Reep,

Sir, General Post Office, 31 March 1862.

UNDER the terms of the contract entered into with the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company on the 5th July 1850, it is stipulated that the contract should commence on the 1st January 1851, should continue in force for 11 years, and should then determine, provided 12 calendar months' notice in writing be given to the Company; and by the further contract made on the 25th February 1858, the duration of the former contract was extended for two years, that is, up to the 1st January 1864.

The time for giving formal notice is yet distant; but the Postmaster General thinks it only due to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company to apprise them at this early date of the course which has been resolved upon by Her Majesty's Government.

I am accordingly desired to request that you will state to the Directors that it is his intention, as soon as the proper period arrives, to serve the requisite notice for the termination of the contract on the 1st January 1864.

I am, &c.

NOTICE FOR TENDERS FOR WEST INDIAN MAIL SERVICE.

CONTRACT for the Conveyance of MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES, or between NEW YORK and the WEST INDIES.

General Post Office, 19 July 1862.

HER MAJESTY'S POSTMASTER GENERAL hereby gives notice, that, on Saturday, the 1st November next, at one o'clock, he will be ready to receive tenders from such persons as may be willing to contract for the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies, or between New York and the West Indies.

No tender will be received after one o'clock on the day above mentioned, nor any entertained unless made on the printed form provided for the purpose, which may be obtained on application, personal or written, at the General Post Office.

Every tender must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, and must bear in the left-hand corner of the envelope, the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails to the West Indies."

Mr. R. T. Reep to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Royal Mail Steam Packet Company,
55, Moorgate-street,
London, E. C., 1 November 1862.

Sir,

I AM instructed by the Court of Directors of this Company to transmit herewith two tenders, viz., one for the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies, the other for the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails between the United Kingdom and Brazil and the River Plate.

I am at the same time to state that the Directors would undertake to perform the two services together for nineteen thousand five hundred pounds (19,500 l.) per annum less than the aggregate amount of the two tenders taken separately, and that if allowed to perform the West India service by a branch line direct to and from the Mexican ports and Antigua, viâ St. Thomas and Havana, they would make a further abatement of seven thousand four hundred pounds (7,400*l.*) per annum.

I have, &c.

Mr. J. W. Lloyd to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Royal Mail Steam Packet Company,
55, Moorgate-street,
London, E. C., 1 November 1862.

Sir,

WITH reference to the tender this day handed in, I am instructed by the Court of Directors to submit the enclosed memorandum of trifling alterations, which they are of opinion would, if adopted, prove advantageous in carrying on the service; and I am accordingly to submit the same for the consideration of Her Majesty's Postmaster General, in the hope that his Lordship will approve thereof.

That the time for the conveyance of the mails between Antigua and Demerara and back be 87 hours, which will allow Demerara four days; for replies between Barbadoes

Barbadoes and Tobago, 47 hours, and between Tobago and Barbadoes, 45 hours, allowing Tobago two days for replies.

That the time for the conveyance of the mails from Colon to Santa Martha be 64 hours, and Santa Martha to Colon 50 hours; from Blewfields to Colon, 50 hours, and from Colon to Blewfields, 38 hours; from Belize to Jamaica, 110 hours, and from Jamaica to Belize, 83 hours.

I have, &c.

MEMORANDUM of Mr. E. H. Rea, of the Secretary's Office, General Post Office.

THIS letter * and the accompanying memorandum were delivered to me by Mr. Reep at 2·45 p.m. this day, with a request that they might be substituted for the letter and memorandum sent in by the Royal Mail Company with their tender for the West India and Brazil mail services, the reason given being that he (Mr. Reep) had in error omitted to state in his original letter that the abatement of subsidy by 7,400*l.* per annum, offered by the Company for an alteration of the service, was made subject to the conditions set forth in the memorandum. * Enclosure No. 1

By direction of Mr. Hill, I informed Mr. Reep that as the hour fixed for the receipt of tenders had passed, his letter and memorandum could be received only with the promise that his request should be duly considered.

1 November 1862. (signed) Edw. H. Rea.

MEMORANDUM.

THAT the time for the conveyance of the mails between Antigua and Demerara be 87 hours each way, allowing Demerara four days for replies; from Barbadoes to Tobago, 47 hours; and Tobago to Barbadoes, 45 hours, allowing Tobago two days for replies.

From Colon to Santa Martha, 64 hours; from Blewfields to Colon, 50 hours.

From Belize to Jamaica, 110 hours.

Enclosure 2 in No. 6.

TENDER for STEAM VESSELS for conveying HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.

Sir,

1 November 1862.

WE hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's Mails twice in each calendar month, each way, on routes a, b, c, and e, and once in each calendar month, each way, on routes d, f, g, and h, by a sufficient number of steam vessels of adequate power, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, for the sum of 259,000*l.* per annum, subject to the several conditions marked A.

Or, subject to the like conditions, we will convey the mails once only, each way, in each calendar month on all the routes, for the sum of 236,000*l.* per annum; the port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed, to be Southampton.

Provided we be allowed

[Here state the increased or decreased time proposed to be occupied in each direction on any route.]

we will perform the whole service twice, each way, in each calendar month, on routes a, b, c, and e, and once in each calendar month on routes d, f, g, and h, for the sum of £. —— per annum; or once only each way in each calendar month on all the routes for the sum of £. —— per annum.

We will agree to an abatement of 12,000*l.* in the amount of the subsidy for the fortnightly service, and 8,000*l.* for a monthly service, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to an abatement of £. —— from the subsidy demanded; and if the contract be made for seven years certain, we will agree to an abatement of 20,000*l.* from the subsidy.

We propose as our sureties in the penalty of 35,000*l.*, Mr. Eden Colvile, of Fenchurch Buildings, and Mr. Thomas Robert Tufnell, of Spring Grove, Middlesex, and we refer you to Messrs. Barclay, Bevan & Co., and Messrs. Marshall, Mullens & Co., as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

In the event of the tender being accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 1st December 1863, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10*l.* from the day on which the vessels ought to have been ready for survey for every day during which they shall not be ready for such survey. And we further engage that such vessels shall be complete for sea on the 1st January 1864, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10*l.* from the day on which the vessels ought to have been complete for sea for every day during which they shall not be complete for sea.

And we hereby agree to commence the said service on the 1st of January 1864, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter, which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we hereby agree to pay Her Majesty the sum of 100*l.* for every day from that day until the said service shall be commenced by us.

And we further hereby agree that such respective sums of 10*l.*, 10*l.*, and 100*l.* are to be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures; or, in the event of any one or more of such failures, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining any agreement for such service by us.

And we do hereby agree to execute a contract according to the said conditions marked A., and for the performance of the said service.

We are, &c.
(signed) Richard T. Reep,
Secretary of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.

The Secretary of the Post Office.

N. B.—All tenders to be made upon this printed form, and to be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. No tender will be received unless it be made precisely according to the preceding printed form; although in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, the parties tendering may suggest for consideration any alteration in the conditions or otherwise.

CONDITIONS of the TENDERS to be received for a CONTRACT for the Conveyance of HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.—Referred to as marked A.

1. The service required to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails, from the 1st January 1864, by the following routes, viz.:—

Main Route.

(a.) From the port in the United Kingdom to be named in the tender to Jamaica and back, calling both going and returning at Falmouth (Antigua) and at Jacmel (Hayti).

Branch Routes.

(b.) From Antigua to Demerara and back, calling both going and returning at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

(c.) From Barbadoes to Tobago, and back, calling both going and returning at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad.

(d.) From Jamaica to Tampico, and back, calling both going and returning at Havana and Vera Cruz.

(e.) From Jamaica to Colon, and back.

(f.) From Colon to Santa Martha, and back, calling both going and returning at Carthagena.

(g.) From Colon to Blewfields, and back, calling both going and returning at Greytown.

(h.) From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras), and back.

2. The parties tendering to state the sum demanded. First, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on routes a, b, c, and e, and once in each calendar month on routes d, f, g, and h; and secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the routes.

3. The tenders must provide for the mails being conveyed from the United Kingdom to Jamaica in 410 hours; from Jamaica to the United Kingdom in 430 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours; from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; between Jamaica and Colon in 52 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours; from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Blewfields in 38 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours. The periods here given are in each case exclusive of stoppages, the duration of which will be fixed by the Postmaster General.

4. The parties tendering may also state upon what terms they would perform the several services in a greater or less number of hours.

5. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails," are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article sent by the post, to whatever country or place they may be addressed, or in whatever country or place they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

6. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, whether on a main or a branch route, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

7. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time, and also the sum of 500 l. for every successive day which shall elapse after such appointed time; and a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage whether on the main or a branch route, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the portion of the subsidy applicable to such voyage; on the assumption that such portion is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

8. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed time, as a breach of the contract.

9. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

10. The contractors must engage to supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service within the time stipulated in the tender.

11. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by him or by the Lords of the Admiralty.

12. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers and a sufficient crew of able seamen and other men. A medical officer to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage money may be paid for in whole or in part by the Government.

13. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty, and any defect discovered on such survey to be immediately made good by the contractors. This survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

14. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel from any port for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

15. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration, to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

16. The contractors to provide, at their sole cost, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure lock and key.

17. In the event of the Postmaster General requiring it, a sorting-room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting the sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c. will be defrayed by the Postmaster General, but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must also be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

18. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided, free of expense, for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with a servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

19. The mails shall be conveyed in the vessels, and be delivered and received at each of the places to which the vessels are to proceed in the performance of the contract; and, at each port or place where the mails are to be delivered and received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever and as often as by him deemed practicable or necessary, be conveyed on shore, and also from the shore to the vessel employed in the performance of the contract, together with, or, if necessary for the performance of the duties of such officer, without Her Majesty's mails, in a suitable and seaworthy boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail bags, and to be provided and properly manned and equipped by the contractors.

20. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the said mails, or any part thereof, in the care of the master or commander of any of the said vessels, the said master or commander shall, without any expense to the public, take charge of them and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. He shall also make the usual Post Office oath or declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such services as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

21. The contractors must not receive, or permit to be received, on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters for conveyance other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails, except any letters not required by law to pass through the Post Office. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General, and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

22. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors shall, at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

23. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable, or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

24. The

24. The contractors shall, when and as often as in writing they or the masters of their respective vessels shall be required so to do by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the person or persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for him or them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers; and any non-commissioned or warrant-officers, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers; and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers, in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding 10, and their wives and children as deck passengers, to be effectually protected from sun, rain, and bad weather, due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers respectively, and others being required to be conveyed.

25. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 18, to be paid (in full of all charge for mess) at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

26. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz. :—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the Mail Steam Packet for passage to , and landed at on the ."

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz. :—

"I further certify that the first dinner meal taken on board was on the , and the last dinner meal on the .

"Dated this day of ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated by the master of the packet, adding underneath the passenger's signature,—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct."

(Signature)

"Master of the Packet."

27. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

28. Whenever the contractors shall convey any soldiers as deck passengers, other than those specially provided for by the contract, the contractors must provide them with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather, such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

29. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, without charge any number of small packages containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles, and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, two days' previous notice), receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding 10 tons' weight at any one time in any one vessel, and shall convey and deliver the same at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods, to, from, and between all or any of the ports or places to or from which the mails are to be conveyed, in performance of the contract, when so directed by the Postmaster General or his agents, or by the British naval officer in command of the station; and the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages, articles, and stores.

30. The contract to be terminable on a notice of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

31. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the Table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a resolution of the House.

32. Payments will be made quarterly out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of the Post Office, of certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed, subject to the amount of penalties and other sums (if any) being thereout deducted.

33. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

34. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

35. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

36. In case of any great or habitual breach of the contract, the Postmaster General may terminate it without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

37. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share or part of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

38. The contractors to be bound with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 35,000 l., for the due fulfilment of the contract; and they must furnish the names of persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of the sureties proposed.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or indeed to accept any tender.

London, E. C., 7 November 1862.

Sir,

I AM instructed by the Court of Directors of this Company to state that when the copy of the letter which accompanied their two tenders of the first instant for the West India and Brazil Mail Services was read over to them on the 5th instant, the first time of their meeting after the date of the tenders they discovered to their great surprise and regret that the sum proposed as an abatement for the two services combined, had been stated at 19,500 l., instead of 15,000 l. as intended.

This difference upon tenders at terms otherwise reduced to a very low figure, is a matter of great importance, and while the Directors hold themselves bound by the offer already sent in, still they think it their duty to submit the mistake to the notice of the Postmaster General in the hope that an equitable consideration of the case will induce his Lordship to permit the error to be rectified.

Mr. R. T. Reep to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Royal Mail Steam Packet Company,
55, Moorgate-street,
London, E. C., 2 February 1863.

Sir,

I HAVE the honour to transmit herewith two tenders for the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies; the one for the service embracing exactly the routes specified in the printed form issued by the Postmaster General, and the other for a service somewhat modified, which, if Her Majesty's Government shall, after consideration, decide upon adopting, the Company will be prepared to carry out for the reduced sum specified therein.

I have, &c.,

Enclosure 1, in No. 11.

TENDER for STEAM VESSELS for conveying HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.

Sir,

WE hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's mails by steam vessels, on the following lines, and on the conditions marked A., for the sum of 235,857 l. per annum.

Line A.—Twice a month, calling both going and returning at Falmouth (Antigua), Jacmel (Hayti), and Kingston (Jamaica), in 462 hours from the United Kingdom to Colon, and 482 hours from Colon to the United Kingdom.

Line B.—Twice a month, in 87 hours, from Antigua to Demerara, and 87 hours from Demerara to Antigua.

Line C.—Twice a month, in 47 hours, from Barbadoes to Tobago, and 45 hours from Tobago to Barbadoes.

Line D.—Once a month from Antigua to Tampico, in 230 hours, calling at St. Kitts, St. Thomas, St. Juan (Porto Rico), Havana, and Vera Cruz; and from Tampico to Antigua in 290 hours, calling at the same ports.

Line E.—Once a month from Colon to Santa Marta, in 64 hours, and from Santa Marta to Colon in 48 hours.

Line F.—Once a month from Colon to Grey Town, in 30 hours; from Grey Town to Colon in 40 hours.

Line G.—Once a month from Jamaica to Belize, in 83 hours; from Belize to Jamaica, in 110 hours.

The

The port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed, to be Southampton.

We will agree to an abatement of 12,000 l. in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

We will further agree to an abatement of l. in the amount of the subsidy, if conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 be omitted.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of l. from the subsidy; and if it be made for seven years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of 20,000 l.

We propose as our sureties, in the penalty of 35,000 l., Mr. Eden Colville, of Fenchurch-buildings, London; and Mr. Thomas Robert Tufnell, of Spring-grove, Middlesex, and we refer you to Messrs. Barclay, Bevan & Co. for the former, and W. H. Mullens, Esq., for the latter, as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

Should this tender be accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be complete and ready for sea on the 1st January 1864, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l. for every day's delay beyond that time. And should the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th conditions be retained, we further engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 15th December 1863, except such vessels as we require to replace by new, which shall be ready for survey not later than 13 months from date of acceptance of tender, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty a like sum of 10 l. for every day's delay beyond that time.

We agree to commence the service on the 1st of January 1864; and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that time until the said service shall be commenced by us.

We further agree that every sum of 10 l. and 100 l. herein mentioned shall be considered not as penalties but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures. Moreover, should any one or more of such failures take place, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining the contract.

And we hereby agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked (A).

We, are, &c.

The Secretary of the Post Office.

N.B.—All tenders must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words, "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies," in the left-hand corner of the envelope. Other things equal, a preference will be given to a tender made upon this printed form, and in exact accordance therewith. Even, however, when this printed form is used, the parties tendering may, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, suggest for consideration any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

SERVICE.

The service to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails by steam vessels from the 1st January 1864, by the following lines, viz.:—

Line A.—From a port in the United Kingdom, to be named in the tender, to Colon (New Granada) and back; calling, both going and returning, at Falmouth (Antigua), Jacmel (Hayti), and Kingston (Jamaica); or the same line, omitting the call both at Antigua and Hayti.

Line B.—From Antigua to Demerara and back; calling, both going and returning, at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

Line C.—From Barbadoes to Tobago and back; calling, both going and returning, at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad.

Line D.—From Jamaica to Tampico and back; calling, both going and returning, at Havana and Vera Cruz; or from Antigua to Tampico and back; calling at St. Kitts, St. Thomas, San Juan (Porto Rico), Havana and Vera Cruz.

Line E.—From Colon to Santa Martha and back; both going and returning, at Carthagena.

Line F.—From Colon to Greytown and back.

Line G.—From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras) and back.

The parties tendering to state the sum demanded, first, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on Lines A., B., and C., and once in each calendar month on Lines D., E., F., and G.; and, secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the lines.

The parties tendering must also state the time, in hours, which they will require to perform the different services (exclusive of such stoppages as may be ordered by the Postmaster General), and the sum demanded for the several services. Although it is not compulsory, the parties are invited to state for what sum they would perform the services (exclusive of the above-mentioned stoppages), in the following times:—From the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Antigua, Hayti, and Jamaica, in 462 hours; from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at the same places, in 482 hours; from the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Jamaica only, in 432 hours, and from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at Jamaica only, in 460 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours, and from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; from Antigua to Tampico in 230 hours, and from Tampico to Antigua in 290 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours, and from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Greytown in 30 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours.

The tenders may be for any one or more of the services, or for all the services combined.

Parties tendering for Line A. must state the sum demanded; first, if the packets call at Antigua and Hayti; and secondly, if those calls are omitted.

Parties tendering for Lines B. and C. only must state for what additional sum they would substitute for these two lines an independent service once in each calendar month from a port in the United Kingdom (to be specified) to Demerara and back, calling at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes, with a branch from Barbadoes to St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago; and for what additional sum they would perform such a service twice in each calendar month.

CONDITIONS—Referred to as marked (A.)

1. UNDER the term "Her Majesty's Mails," are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article transmissible by the post, without regard either to the place to which they may be addressed, or that in which they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

2. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, on any line, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

3. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred on each occasion when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time, and a further penalty of 100 l. for every day which shall elapse until the vessel shall proceed to sea, and continue her voyage with the mails; also a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, on any line, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the part of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such part is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

4. The arrangements for determining and recording the exact time of arrival and departure of the vessels to be under the exclusive regulation of the Postmaster General, whose decision on all matters relating thereto shall be final.

5. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed period, as a breach of the contract.

6. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

7. The contractors must supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service within the time stipulated in the tender.

8. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by the Lords of the Admiralty.

9. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed, and

and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers and a sufficient crew of able seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for in whole or in part by the Government.

10. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty or Post Office, and any defect discovered on such survey must immediately be made good by the contractors. Failing which, the vessel to be considered unfit for use, and the contractors to become liable to the penalties named in the third condition. The survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

11. The parties tendering to state what abatement they would make in the subsidy if conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 were omitted, and the Postmaster General, content with specifying the time within which the mails must be conveyed, left the means of accomplishment wholly to the contractors.

12. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered, from time to time, by him on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel, from any port, for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

13. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

14. The contractors to provide to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure locks and keys.

15. Should the Postmaster General require it, a room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting this sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General, but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

16. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with an assistant or servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief cabin passengers, and assistants and servants as fore cabin passengers.

17. At each port where the mails are to be delivered or received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever he may deem it necessary, be conveyed to the shore, and back, with or without Her Majesty's mails (as he may desire), in a suitable boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail-bags, and to be properly manned and equipped.

18. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the mails in the care of the commander of any of the vessels, such commander shall take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. The commander shall also make the usual Post Office declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such other services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

19. Except such letters as are not required by law to pass through the Post Office, the contractors must not receive, or permit to be received, for conveyance on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any Colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

20. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors, shall at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

21. Except where otherwise specified, none of the duties enumerated in the foregoing conditions shall give the contractors any claim to remuneration beyond the general subsidy.

22. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies monies then payable or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

23. The contractors shall, whenever they or the masters of their respective vessels may be required so to do, in writing, by the Postmaster General or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to provided for them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as chief cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as fore cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding 10, with their wives and children, as deck passengers; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers or others being required to be conveyed.

24. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 16, to be paid at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

25. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz. :—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the mail steam packet for passage to

"Dated this day of (signed) ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated by the master of the packet, adding underneath the passenger's signature,—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct."

(signed)
"Master of the Packet."

26. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

27. The deck passengers mentioned in the 23d condition, together with any like persons, other than those specially provided for by the contract, who may be conveyed as deck passengers, must be provided with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather; such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

28. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, on behalf of the Admiralty, without charge, any small packages which may be tendered for conveyance, containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, or from the British naval officer in command of the station, two days' previous notice), receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding 10 tons weight, at any one time, in any one vessel; and shall convey and deliver such stores at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods. And the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages and stores.

29. The contract to be terminable on a notice, by either party, of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

30. The contract will not be binding until it has been laid upon the table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

31. Subject to deductions for penalties or otherwise, payments will be made quarterly, at the Post Office, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of Certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed.

32. The

32. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's Service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

33. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

34. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

35. In case of the breach of the 34th condition, or in case of any great or habitual breach of the contract of any other kind, the Postmaster General to have power to terminate the contract without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

36. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

37. For the due fulfilment of the contract, the contractors must enter into a bond, with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 20,000 l. for Line A; 7,000 l. for Lines B and C.; 10,000 l. for Line D; 3,000 l. for Line E; 3,000 l. for Line F; 3,000 l. for Line G; or 35,000 l. for the whole of the lines. Such penalties to be considered and recoverable as liquidated damages.

38. Should any dispute arise respecting the interpretation of any part of any contract to be framed on the basis of these conditions, the same shall be settled by arbitration in the usual manner.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or even to accept any tender.

Enclosure 2, in No. 11.

TENDER for STEAM VESSELS for conveying HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.

Sir,

WE hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's Mails by steam vessels on the following lines, subject to the conditions marked "A" in the accompanying form of tender, for the sum of 176,500 l. per annum, provided that the penalties for delay on the voyage shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors, and provided that the contract shall be for a period of seven years:—

From Southampton to Colon, twice a month, in 462 hours, and back in 482 hours, calling both going and returning at St. Thomas:

From St. Thomas to Tampico, once a month, in 562 hours from England, and 627 hours to England, calling both going and returning at Porto Rico, Havana, and Vera Cruz:

From St. Thomas to Demerara and back, twice a month, in 102 hours each way, calling both going and returning at St. Kitts, Antigua, Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes:

From St. Thomas to Jamaica and back, twice a month, in 81 hours each way, calling both going and returning at Jacmel:

From Colon to Santa Marta, once a month, in 64 hours, and back in 50 hours, calling both going and returning at Carthagena:

From Colon to Grey Town, once a month, in 30 hours, and back in 40 hours.

Should it be preferred by Her Majesty's Government, the Company will be willing to substitute for the fortnightly service to Demerara a service twice a month to Barbadoes, and once a month to Tobago, calling both going and returning at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad; and once a month from Barbadoes to Demerara alternately, at an average speed of nine knots; also to substitute for the fortnightly communication with Jamaica, a communication once a month to Jamaica from St. Thomas, and once a month to Belize from Jamaica, the latter service in 83 hours, and back in 110 hours.

We propose as our sureties in the penalty of 35,000 l., Mr. Eden Colville, of Fenchurch Buildings, London, and Mr. Thomas Robert Tufnell, of Spring Grove, Middlesex; and we refer you to Messrs. Barclay, Bevan & Co., for the former, and to H. Mulleens, esq., for the latter, as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

Should this tender be accepted, we agree to commence the service on the 1st of January 1864, and engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey the 15th December 1863, with the exception of such vessels as we require to replace by new, which shall be ready for survey not later than 13 months from date of acceptance of this tender, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10*l.* for every day's delay beyond that time; and we further agree to pay Her Majesty the sum of 100*l.* for every day from the 1st January 1864, until the said service shall be commenced by us.

We further agree that every sum of 10*l.* and 100*l.* herein mentioned shall be considered, not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures. Moreover, should any one or more of such failures take place, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining the contract.

And we hereby agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked "A," subject to the provisions set forth in the beginning of this tender.

FORM of TENDER referred to in accompanying TENDER for Conveyance of MAILS by the ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET COMPANY. 2 February 1863.

TENDER for Steam Vessels for conveying Her Majesty's Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies.

Sir,

WE hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's Mails by steam vessels on the following lines and on the conditions marked A, for the sum of £. —— per annum.

[Here state the precise line or lines of service tendered for, the time, in hours, required for its performance; and how frequently the service is to be performed; and, if the parties tendering are desirous of offering also for a higher or lower speed, state the smaller or greater number of hours proposed to be occupied, and the addition demanded or deduction offered in the subsidy.]

The port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed, to be

We will agree to an abatement of £. —— in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

We will further agree to an abatement of £. —— in the amount of the subsidy, if conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 be omitted.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of £. —— from the subsidy; and if it be made for seven years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of £. ——

We propose as our sureties, in the penalty of £. —— Mr. of and Mr. of and we refer you to as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

Should this tender be accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be complete and ready for sea on the , in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10*l.* for every day's delay beyond that time. And, should the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th conditions be retained, we further engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the ; in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty a like sum of 10*l.* for every day's delay beyond that time.

We agree to commence the service on the 1st of January 1864, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100*l.* for every day from that time until the said service shall be commenced by us.

We further agree that every sum of 10*l.* and 100*l.* herein mentioned shall be considered, not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures. Moreover, should should any one or more of such failures take place, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining the contract.

And we hereby agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked A.

We are, &c.

The Secretary of the Post Office. (Address)

N. B.—All tenders must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the conveyance of mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies," in the left-hand corner of the envelope. Other things equal, a preference will be given to a tender made upon this printed form and in exact accordance therewith. Even, however, when this printed form is used, the parties tendering may, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

SERVICE.

THE service to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails by steam vessels from the 1st January 1864, by the following lines, viz.:

Line A.—From a port in the United Kingdom, to be named in the tender, to Colon (New Granada) and back, calling both going and returning at Falmouth (Antigua), Jacmel (Hayti), and Kingston (Jamaica); or the same line, omitting the call both at Antigua and Hayti.

Line B.—From Antigua to Demerara and back, calling, both going and returning, at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

Line C.—From Barbadoes to Tobago and back; calling, both going and returning, at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad.

Line D.—From Jamaica to Tampica and back; calling, both going and returning, at Havana and Vera Cruz; or from Antigua to Tampico and back; calling at St Kitts, St. Thomas, San Juan (Porto Rico), Havana, and Vera Cruz.

Line E.—From Colon to Santa Martha and back; calling, both going and returning, at Carthagena.

Line F.—From Colon to Greytown and back.

Line G.—From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras) and back.

The parties tendering to state the sum demanded; first, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on Lines A., B., and C., and once in each calendar month on Lines D., E., F., and G.; and, secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the lines.

The parties tendering must also state the time, in hours, which they will require to perform the different services (exclusive of such stoppages as may be ordered by the Postmaster General), and the sum demanded for the several services. Although it is not compulsory, the parties are invited to state for what sum they would perform the services (exclusive of the above-mentioned stoppages), in the following times: from the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Antigua, Hayti, and Jamaica, in 462 hours; from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at the same places, in 482 hours; from the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Jamaica only, in 432 hours; and from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at Jamaica only, in 460 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours, and from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; from Antigua to Tampico in 230 hours, and from Tampico to Antigua in 290 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours, and from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Greytown in 30 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours.

The tenders may be for any one or more of the services, or for all the services combined.

Parties tendering for Line A. must state the sum demanded, first, if the packets call at Antigua and Hayti; and, secondly, if those calls are omitted.

Parties tendering for Lines B. and C. only must state for what additional sum they would substitute for these two lines an independent service once in each calendar month from a port in the United Kingdom (to be specified) to Demerara and back, calling at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia and Barbadoes, with a branch from Barbadoes to St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago; and for what additional sum they would perform such a service twice in each calendar month.

CONDITIONS.—Referred to as marked A.

1. UNDER the term, "Her Majesty's mails" are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article transmissible by the post, without regard either to the place to which they may be addressed or that in which they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by, or to, or from the Post Office.

2. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, on any line, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

3. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred on each occasion when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time, and a further penalty of 100 l. for every day which shall elapse until the vessel shall proceed to sea, and continue her voyage with the mails; also a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, on any line, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the part of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such part is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

4. The arrangements for determining and recording the exact time of arrival and departure of the vessels to be under the exclusive regulation of the Postmaster General, whose decision on all matters relating thereto shall be final.

5. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed period, as a breach of the contract.

Penalties not absolute.

6. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make, on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

7. The contractors must supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power and in all respects suited for the performance of the service, within the time stipulated in the tender.

8. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract, shall be built on plans previously approved of by the Lords of the Admiralty.

9. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackel, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers, and a sufficient crew of able seamen, and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments, gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for in whole or in part by the Government.

10. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty or Post Office, and any defect discovered on such survey, must immediately be made good by the contractors. Failing which, the vessel to be considered unfit for use, and the contractors to become liable to the penalties named in the 3d condition. The survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

Means of accomplishment to be subject of contract.

11. The parties tendering to state what abatement they would make in the subsidy, if conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 were omitted, and the Postmaster General, content with specifying the time within which the mails must be conveyed, left the means of accomplishment wholly to the contractors.

12. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered, from time to time, by him on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel, from any port, for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

13. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

14. The

14. The contractors to provide to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure locks and keys.

15. Should the Postmaster General require it, a room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting this sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General, but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

16. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office, to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with an assistant or servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled, and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and assistants and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

17. At each port where the mails are to be delivered or received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever he may deem it necessary, be conveyed to the shore, and back, with or without Her Majesty's mails, (as he may desire,) in a suitable boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail bags, and to be properly manned and equipped.

18. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the mails in the care of the commander of any of the vessels, such commander shall take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. The commander shall also make the usual Post Office declaration, and furnish such Journal Returns, and information, and perform such other services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

19. Except such letters as are not required by law to pass through the Post Office, the contractors must not receive, or permit to be received, for conveyance on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

20. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors, shall at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General, or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

21. Except where otherwise specified, none of the duties enumerated in the foregoing conditions shall give the contractors any claim to remuneration beyond the general subsidy.

22. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable, or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

23. The contractors shall, whenever they or the masters of their respective vessels may be required so to do, in writing, by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers; and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding 10, with their wives and children, as deck passengers; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers or others being required to be conveyed.

24. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 16, to be paid at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

25. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz.:—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the Mail Steam Packet for passage to and landed at on the ."

26. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

27. The deck passengers mentioned in the 23d condition, together with any like persons, other than those specially provided for by the contract, who may be conveyed as deck passengers, must be provided with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather ; such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

28. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, on behalf of the Admiralty, without charge, any small packages which may be tendered for conveyance containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, or from the British naval officer in command of the station, two days' previous notice), receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding 10 tons weight, at any one time, in any one vessel; and shall convey and deliver such stores at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods. And the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages and stores.

Contract to be for six years.

29. The contract to be terminable on a notice, by either party, of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

30. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

31. Subject to deductions for penalties or otherwise, payments will be made quarterly, at the Post Office, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant-General of Certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed.

32. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service ; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

33. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

34. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

35. In case of the breach of the 34th condition, or in case of any great or habitual breach of the contract of any other kind, the Postmaster General to have power to terminate the contract without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

36. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

£. 35,000 for the whole.

37. For the due fulfilment of the contract, the contractors must enter into a bond, with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 20,000 l., for Line A.; 7,000 l. for Lines B. and C.; 10,000 l. for Line D.; 3,000 l. for Line E.; 3,000 l. for Line F.; 3,000 l. for Line G.; or 35,000 l. for the whole of the Lines. Such penalties to be considered and recoverable as liquidated damages.

38. Should

38. Should any dispute arise respecting the interpretation of any part of any contract to be framed on the basis of these conditions, the same shall be settled by arbitration in the usual manner.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or even to accept any tender.

A DEPUTATION from the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company waited upon the Postmaster General 9th February, 2·30 p.m.

Admiral Whish, Director.
Mr. Childers, M.P., Director.
Mr. Reep, Secretary.

The deputation handed to the Postmaster General the enclosed Memorandum.

Enclosure in No. 12.

MEMORANDUM.

THE directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company venture to claim your attention for a short time to a statement which they are anxious to place before you, but in doing which it will be necessary that they should go back for a few years, to explain how by degrees the company has been brought into its present position as owners of very costly ships, of great size, of great steam-power, and of great speed.

The Atlantic speed with which the Company started was eight knots an hour; it was subsequently increased to 9, then to 10, and lastly to 10½ knots per hour, which is a higher average speed than is attained by the Atlantic steamers of any other Company.

In all these advances which have been urged upon the Company, the directors have yielded to the requirements of the Government, under a conviction that by doing so they were not only serving the best interests of the country, but were also securing for themselves a title to equitable consideration, whenever the question of renewing the contract engaged the attention of Her Majesty's Ministers; and indeed they now feel confident that they will receive that equitable consideration which they believe their case deserves.

It would be trespassing too long upon your Lordships' time were the directors to read extracts from all the correspondence which has passed between Her Majesty's Government and the company bearing upon this subject; it is proposed, therefore, to confine this statement to the last case of acceleration of the mails.

In a letter from the Secretary of the Admiralty, dated the 9th October 1857, he wrote to the secretary of the Company as follows: "If you are prepared to adopt a more efficient and satisfactory service to the Brazils, and to make a general improvement in your vessels by an adequate additional outlay of money, the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury will be prepared to authorise the extension of your contract to the period specified." To which letter the secretary of the Company, under date the 14th of October of the same year, replied, "With respect to the condition that a general improvement in the Company's vessels shall be effected by an adequate additional outlay of money, I am to state that the directors agree to this requirement also, and they acquiesce in it the more readily from a conviction that the disposition evinced by other countries to compete with Great Britain in the maintenance of steam communication, by means of subsidised companies, demands that every effort should be made to secure the superiority which we at present enjoy. In thus executing the wishes of Her Majesty's Government, the directors feel that they are adopting a course most conducive to the public interest, and consequently one which they hope will entitle them to a continuance of that equitable consideration without which they would not be warranted in making the outlay necessary to accomplish the objects proposed."

If any doubt had existed in the minds of the directors of their receiving this equitable consideration, they would most certainly not have been justified in expending the large sums they did in building the following ships expressly and solely with the view of shortening the postal communication with the West Indies and Pacific, namely:—

The "Parramatta" - - - - - - - -	120,364	17	–
„ "Seine" - - - - - - - - -	137,933	6	6
„ "Shannon" - - - - - - - - -	124,286	2	4
Making a total expenditure of - - - £.	382,584	5	10

Under the last arrangement that was made (namely, 1860) for increased acceleration, not only was the time considerably shortened of the outward and homeward voyages, but a sufficient interval was gained in England to admit of replies to the correspondence brought by each homeward steamer being forwarded by the outward one, and leaving three days afterwards, and a reduction was also effected of 15 days in the course of post. These improvements alone are of great importance, and are highly appreciated by the commercial public, and the adoption of any plan that would cancel such valuable facilities would, it may easily be conceived, be disastrous to the country generally, and especially to the interests of all who are engaged in our trade with the various ports of the world affected by our West India postal arrangement.

It may be further observed, that, in consequence of having, by desire of the Government, provided ships of great capacity for speed (as may be proved by reference to a letter from the Admiralty, dated 6th July 1859, in which the following expression occurs: "My Lords wish you distinctly to understand that the interests of the public require that an interval of at least three clear days be afforded between the arrival of the homeward mail in London and the departure thence of the outward mail, to enable the receivers of letters to forward their replies. This accommodation was contemplated by the acceleration of the service which you have undertaken to effect, and arrangements must therefore be made to carry out the improvement to such extent at least, either by the employment of additional vessels or steamers of greater power"), the directors are not now in a position to compete with inferior ships for an inferior service, but for a service equal to that which has been forced upon the Company; they are prepared to contend with any fair competition that can be brought to bear against them.

The anxiety of the directors to meet the views of Her Majesty's Government by studying economy to the utmost extent, will be found in the fact that they have submitted tenders, which if both be adopted, will together effect a reduction in the present subsidy of 58,500 l. per annum; and if the Postmaster General will allow the directors to refer to the very regular and satisfactory manner in which the service for some years past has been performed, they feel quite assured his Lordship will admit that the claims they submit for fair consideration are based on just and undeniable grounds.

Sir, General Post Office, 11 February 1863.

With reference to your tender of the 2d instant, offering to convey Her Majesty's mails to and from the West Indies, on Lines A, B, C, D, E, F, and G, for the sum of 235,857 l. per annum, with certain deductions in the event of penalties for delay being conditional, and a contract being entered into for seven years, I have to request that you will state, for the information of the Postmaster General, what further deductions the Directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company would agree to if not required to perform Lines D and G.

I have further to inquire what abatement the Directors would make from the amount of the subsidy of 176,500 l., demanded in their second tender of the same date, in the event of the line from St. Thomas to Tampico not being required.

Royal Mail Steam Packet Company,
55, Moorgate-street, London,

Sir, 16 February 1863.

In reply to your letter of the 11th instant, wherein you request that the Postmaster General may be informed what further deductions the Directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company would agree to perform Lines D and G, and further inquire what abatement the Directors would make from the amount of the subsidy of One hundred and seventy-six thousand five hundred pounds (176,500 l.), (176,500 l.), demanded in their second tender of the same date, in the event of the line from St. Thomas to Tampico not being required, I am to state that, as regards the first tender to which you refer, the Directors would abate Eight thousand eight hundred and eighty-six pounds (8,886 l.) per annum, provided they are not required to perform Line "G," as the ship required for that service is not used for any other route; but as regards Line "D" in the first tender, and the line from St. Thomas to Tampico in the second tender, I am to state that the routes in question add materially to the Company's receipts by means of the large amounts of specie which are transmitted from Mexico for conveyance by the Transatlantic vessels to England, and thus enable the Company to make up in some degree for the deficiencies which are caused by working other lines; besides which, the basis upon which the calculations for the performance of the service were made, contemplated the whole service being undertaken, as the same staff and establishment would be required whether the lines in question were to be excluded or not, and the vessels employed performing that portion of the service-work with others; the Directors, therefore, would be unable to make any reduction in their tender in the event of the Line "D" in the first tender," and the line from St. Thomas to Tampico, in the second tender, not being required.

With a view, however, to meet the wishes of Her Majesty's Government, should they desire a service which could be performed at a somewhat less cost than either of those referred to, the Directors would suggest the subjoined plan, differing somewhat from those previously tendered for, which they would be prepared to undertake, subject to the conditions set forth in the second tender referred to in your letter, for the sum of One hundred and sixty-five thousand four hundred and fourteen pounds (165,414 l.) per annum, a proposal which they trust will be acceptable to Her Majesty's Government.

I have, &c.

From Southampton to Colon twice a month, in the time specified in the printed form of tender, say out in 462 hours and back in 482 hours, calling both going and returning at St. Thomas, Jacmel (Hayti) and Kingston (Jamaica).

From St. Thomas to Tampico once a month, in 562 hours from England, and 627 hours to England, calling both going and returning at Porto Rico, Havannah, and Vera Cruz.

From St. Thomas to Demerara and back twice a month, in 450 hours each way from and to England, being the same time as at present occupied, calling both going and returning at St. Kitts, Antigua, Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, Barbadoes; or, at the option of the Government, instead of a fortnightly service to Demerara, a service twice a month to Barbadoes, and once a month from Barbadoes to Tobago, in 449 hours each way from and to England, as at present, calling both going and returning at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad, and once a month from Barbadoes to Demerara, in 450 hours each way from and to England alternately.

From Colon to Santa Marta once a month, in 64 hours, and back in 50 hours, calling both going and returning at Carthagena.

From Colon to Grey Town once a month, in 30 hours, and back in 40 hours.

Sir, General Post Office, 6 March 1863.

In the tender made by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company to perform the West India mail service for the sum of 176,500*l.* a year, according to a scheme of routes set forth in the tender, the service between Barbadoes and St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago, was proposed to be omitted, or, if performed formed monthly, then the line from Barbadoes to Demerara was to be reduced from once a fortnight to once a month.

I am directed by the Postmaster General to request that you will be good enough to inform me for what additional sum the Company would undertake to serve all the places mentioned twice a month, as at present.

In reply to your letter of the 6th instant, in which you refer to the tender made by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for the performance of the West India mail service, according to a scheme of routes by which the service between Barbadoes and St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago, was proposed to be omitted, or if performed monthly, then the line from Barbadoes to Demerara was to be reduced from once a fortnight to once a month; and request that you may be informed for what additional sum the Company would undertake to serve all the places mentioned twice a month, as at present; I am desired by the Court of Directors to state that they would be prepared to perform such service for the additional sum of seven thousand five hundred pounds (7,500*l.*) per annum.

I am also to state that the Directors are prepared to make the arrangement applicable to the plan set forth in my letter of the 16th February last.

Sir, General Post Office, 25 April 1863.

With reference to the tenders made by the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for the conveyance of the West India Mails after the 1st of January next, and to the correspondence which has taken place relative to certain modifications of those tenders, I am directed by the Postmaster General to request that you will state to the Directors of the Company, that the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury are desirous that the contract to be made for this service should not befor a longer period than six years.

His Lordship requests, therefore, to be informed as early as possible whether the Directors will agree, without any alteration in the terms demanded for a seven years' contract, to enter into a contract which shall be terminable at the expiration of the sixth year, provided notice be given on either side two years in advance, and on the understanding that, if no such notice be then given, the contract will continue during a period of seven years and thenceforward, until the end of a notice of two years.

In consideration of this alteration, and of the delay which has unavoidably taken place in deciding upon the tenders submitted, the Postmaster General would be prepared to act with great forbearance in the infliction of fines for excess of time occupied in the voyages performed by the Company's vessels, say for the first six months of the contract.

I am, &c.

Royal Mail Steam Packet Company,
55, Moorgate-street,
London, E.C., 29 April 1863.

Sir,

In reply to your letter, dated the 25th April 1863, inquiring whether the Directors of this Company would be willing to take a six years' contract for the conveyance of the West India Mails after the 1st January next, without any alteration in the terms demanded for a seven years' contract, I am instructed by the Court of Directors to state that they consent to the proposed alteration.

As it is found, however, on perusal of the draft of the contract for the Brazil service, lately sent to the Directors for examination, that the clause relating to war risks has been omitted, although embraced in the present and all the previous contracts of the Company, I am to take this opportunity of stating that the Directors assume the omission has arisen from inadvertence, and that the clause will be introduced into the Brazil contract as well as into that for the West India service as heretofore.

General Post Office, 1 May 1863.

Sir,

Having laid before the Postmaster General your further letter of the 29th ultimo, in which you state that the Directors of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company are willing to enter into a contract for the West India Mail service which shall be terminable at the end of the sixth year, provided notice be given on either side two years in advance, I am directed to inform you that, with this further alteration, his Lordship accepts the second tender of the company (modified, however, in accordance with the proposals made in your letters of the 16th February and the 11th March), to perform the service in question for a subsidy of 172,914 l. a year, the penalties for excess of time on the voyage not being payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the company.

With reference to the concluding part of your letter, in which you remark that the Directors assume that a clause will be introduced into the new contract similar to one in the present contract, and which stipulates that a further payment shall be made to the Company in the event of the rate of insurance of steam vessels and the freight payable for coals to be used in the performance of the contract being increased by reason of war, I am to state that, as no such stipulation was contained in the printed conditions of tender, and as the company made no reference to such a condition in their letter accompanying the tender, he could not consent to the introduction of such a clause into the contract.

The same observation applies to the new contract for the Brazil service, a draft of which is now before the Directors of the Royal Mail Company.

I am, &c.

Mr. Alfred Holt to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Office of the Liverpool and West India Steam Ship Company, 1, India-buildings, Liverpool,
30 October 1862.

Sir,

Referring to the memorandum at the foot of the printed tender, you will at once conclude that the offer herewith is merely filled up to obtain a standing for this letter.

I have for two years past maintained, and am still maintaining, a monthly service of steamers between New York and Kingston, calling at Port-au-Prince. For this I receive 5,400 l. per annum from the Jamaica, and $ 10,000 (about 2,000 l.) from the Haytian Government. The line, however, does not pay, and, unless other arrangements be come to, I propose to end it when the term has run out. The reason it has not answered is that the trade is not of a profitable nature, and also that I am afraid of my paymasters, and for the two reasons dare not lay out a sufficient capital; but if the Post Office wish the service continued, and will guarantee me the above payments, and make the total into 10,000 l. a year, giving me a fair term, I will continue the service effectively, and have very little doubt that the only charge on the Post Office will be the difference (viz. 2,600 l. a year), as both the Jamaica and Haytian governments are exceedingly desirous for the service to continue.

I am, &c.

The Secretary to the Post Office. (signed) Alfred Holt.

Enclosure in No. 20.

TENDER for Steam Vessels for conveying Her Majesty's Mails between New York and the West Indies.

Sir,

I hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's mails fortnightly, each way, on Routes a, g, and h, and monthly, each way, on Routes b, c, d, e, and f, by a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power in reason, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, for the sum of £. per annum, subject to the several conditions marked A.

Or, subject to the like conditions, I will convey the mails monthly, each way, on all the routes, for the sum of 280,000 l. per annum.

Provided I be allowed an increase of 25 per cent. in all the times stated, I will perform the whole service fortnightly, each way, on Routes a, g, and h, and monthly on Routes b, c, d, e, and f, for the sum of 250,000 l. per annum; or monthly, each way, on all the routes, for the sum of 175,000 l. per annum.

If Halifax, Nova Scotia, be substituted for New York in Route a, I will perform the whole service fortnightly, each way, on Routes a, g, h, and monthly, each way, on Routes b, c, d, e, and f, for the sum of 400,000 l. per annum; or monthly, each way, on all the routes, for the sum of 225,000 l. per annum.

I will agree to an abatement of 1,000 l. in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond my control.

If the contract be not made for 10 years certain, this offer to be void.

I propose as my sureties in the penalty of 35,000 l., Mr. P. H. Holt of Liverpool, and Mr. R. D. Holt of Liverpool; and I refer you to the Mayor of Liverpool, and J. B. Smith, Esq., M. P., as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

In the event of the tender being accepted, I engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 1st December 1863, in failure of which I agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of Ten pounds from the day on which the vessels ought to have been ready for survey for every day during which they shall not be ready for such survey. And I further engage that such vessels shall be complete for sea on the 1st January 1864, in failure of which, I agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of Ten pounds from the day on which the vessels ought to have been complete for sea for every day during which they shall not be complete for sea.

And I hereby agree to commence the said service on the 1st of January 1864, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, I hereby agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that day until the said service shall be commenced by me.

And I further hereby agree that such respective sums of 10 l., 10 l., and 100 l. are to be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures; or, in the event of any one or more of such failures, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining any agreement for such service by me.

And I do hereby agree to execute a contract according to the said conditions marked A, and for the performance of the said service.

I am, &c.

N. B.—All tenders to be made upon this printed form, and to be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between New York and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. No tender will be received unless it be made precisely according to the preceding printed form, although, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, the parties tendering may suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions or otherwise.

CONDITIONS of the TENDERS to be received for a Contract for the Conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails between New York and the West Indies.—Referred to as marked A.

1. The service required to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails, from the 1st January 1864, by the following routes, viz.:—

(a.) From New York to Colon, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Kingston (Jamaica).

(b.) From Jamaica to Tampico, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Havana and Vera Cruz.

(c.) From Jamaica to Falmouth (Antigua), and back, calling, both going and returning, at Jacmel (Hayti), Porto Rico, St. Thomas, and St. Kitts.

(d.) From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras), and back.

(e.) From Colon to Santa Martha, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Carthagena.

(f.) From Colon to Blewfields, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Greytown.

(g.) From Martinique to Demerara, and back, calling, both going and returning, at St. Lucia, Barbadoes, St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago.

(h.) From Martinique to Antigua, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Dominica.

2. The parties tendering to state the sum demanded. First, if the service be performed fortnightly on Routes a, g, and h, and monthly on Routes b, c, d, e, and f; and secondly, if the service be performed monthly on all the routes.

The parties tendering further to state the sum demanded in the event of Halifax, Nova Scotia, being substituted for New York, in Route a.

3. The tenders must provide for the mails being conveyed between New York and Colon in 196 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; from Jamaica to Antigua in 103 hours; from Antigua to Jamaica in 103 hours; between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours; from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Blewfields in 38 hours; between Martinique and Demerara in 90 hours, and between Martinique and Antigua in 17 hours. The periods here given are in each case exclusive of stoppages, the duration of which will be fixed by the Postmaster General.

4. The parties tendering may also state upon what terms they would perform the several services in a greater or less number of hours.

5. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails," are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article sent by the post, to whatever country or place they may be addressed, or in whatever country or place they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

6. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage may be less than that allowed under the contract.

 7. A penalty

7. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time; and also the sum of 500 l. for every successive day which shall elapse after such appointed time; and a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the portion of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such portion is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

8. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed time, as a breach of the contract.

9. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make, on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

10. The contractors must engage to supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service within the time stipulated in the tender.

11. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by him or by the Lords of the Admiralty.

12. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers and a sufficient crew of able seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments, gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for in whole or in part by the Government.

13. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty, and any defect discovered on such survey to be immediately made good by the contractors. This survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

14. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel from any port for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

15. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration, to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

16. The contractors to provide at their sole cost, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure lock and key.

17. In the event of the Postmaster General requiring it, a sorting-room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting the sorting-room and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General, but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must also be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

18. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided, free of expense, for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with a servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

19. The mails shall be conveyed in the vessels, and be delivered and received at each of the places to which the vessels are to proceed in the performance of the contract; and, at each port or place where the mails are to be delivered and received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever and as often as by him deemed practicable or necessary, be conveyed on on shore, and also from the shore to the vessel employed in the performance of the contract' together with, or if necessary for the performance of the duties of such officer, without, Her Majesty's mails, in a suitable and seaworthy boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail bags, and to be provided and properly manned and equipped by the contractors.

20. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the said mails or any part thereof in the care of the master or commander of any of the said vessels, the master or commander shall, without any expense to the public, take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. He shall also make the usual Post Office oath or declaration, and furnish such journal, returns and information, and perform such services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

21. The contractors must not receive, or permit to be received on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters for conveyance other than those contained in Her Majesty's Mails, except any letters not required by law to pass through the Post Office. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General, and the whole postage of every mail shall under all circumstances be at his disposal.

22. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractor, shall at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

23. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable, or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

24. The contractors shall, when and as often as in writing they or the masters of their respective vessels shall be required so to do by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the person or persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for him or them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorized to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not extending 10, and their wives and children, as deck passengers, to be effectually protected from sun, rain, and bad weather; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers respectively, and others being required to be conveyed.

25. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 18, to be paid (in full of all charge for mess) at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

26. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz. :—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the Mail Steam-packet for passage to
and landed at on the ."

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz. :—

"I further certify that the first dinner meal taken on board was on the
, and the last dinner meal on the

"Dated this day of ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated by the master of the packet, adding underneath the passenger's signature :—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct.

(signature)
"Master of the Packet."

27. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

28. Whenever the contractors shall convey any soldiers as deck passengers, other than those specially provided for by the contract, the contractors must provide them with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather, such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

29. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, without charge, any number of small packages containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles, and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, two days' previous notice), receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding 10 tons weight, at any one time, in any one vessel, and shall convey and deliver the same at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods to, from, and between all or any of the ports or places to or from which the mails are to be conveyed, in performance of the contract, when so directed by the Postmaster General, or his agents, or by the British naval officer in command of the station; and the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages, articles, and stores.

30. The contract to be terminable on a notice of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

31. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

32. Payments will be made quarterly out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of the Post Office, of certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed, subject to the amount of penalties and other sums (if any) being thereout deducted.

33. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

34. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

35. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

36. In case of any great or habitual breach of the contract, the Postmaster General may terminate it without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

37. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share or part of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

38. The contractors to be bound with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 35,000 l., for the due fulfilment of the contract; and they must furnish the names of persons of whom inquiry can be made as the responsibility of the sureties proposed.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or indeed to accept any tender.

— No. 21. —

Mr. Alfred Holt to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Office of the Liverpool and West India Steam Ship Company, 1 India-buildings, Liverpool,
30 October 1862.

Sir,

Referring to the memorandum at the foot of the printed tender, you will at once conclude that the offer herewith is merely filled up to obtain a standing for this letter.

Having sailed steamers for more than six years from this port to the West Indies, and having suffered much from the presence in the same trade of a subsidized rival, with which it was futile for me, drawing my revenue from freight and passengers only, to contend, I have anxiously waited for this opportunity to obtain, if it be possible, a remedy.

The conveyance of the mails must doubtless be provided for, and if I suffer through through this necessity I have no right to complain; but if I can point out how this suffering need not be inflicted, and the mails still be conveyed, I respectfully submit that on all the principles of free trade, my case deserves not only a hearing but even a slight concession from the demands of the Post Office service so long as efficiency be maintained.

If the Post Office will abstain from subsidizing (otherwise than with the postage), any Company running steamers from England to Hayti, Jamaica, Santa Martha, Carthagena or Colon, I will provide a monthly service in all those ports for the postage only, or a half monthly service for the same—the postage in the latter case being guaranteed not to fall short of 24,000 l. (twenty-four thousand) a year.

My vessels shall leave Liverpool for head quarters in England and Kingston, Jamaica, for head quarters abroad, and shall touch at Queenstown to receive and land mails, and the time occupied on the voyages shall be as follows, about:—

To and from Port-au-Prince, one day less than at present—(Port-au-Prince is the capital of Hayti, and nearly all the mails landed at the out-port of Tacmel are carried there).

To and from Kingston, two days more than at present—(Time to count to and from Port Royal).

To Santa Martha, one day less than at present.

To Carthagena, the same time as at present.

To and from Colon, six days more than at present.

But as Colon is a place of so much importance that I can readily believe you will hesitate to have the mails delayed six days, I cannot object to your subsidizing a service between that port and New York, for which service you will very probably get a separate contract on moderate terms, especially if allied with the Cuban and Mexican services, and I think no one acquainted with the question will doubt New York to be the best, and, from physical causes, the quickest route for all these mails.

The steamers on this station would very probably earn an unusually large commercial income in proportion to their mileage, and as the working expenses are comparatively light, it is reasonable to suppose that if the opposition of the present West India Company, which affects the European traffic, were removed, either a line of fast British steamers would occupy the station unsubsidized, or would be attracted by a very moderate Imperial subsidy.

I take the liberty to point out to you that if a service by vessels of a similar nature to mine, or those to the Cape of Good Hope, relying on freight more than on subsidy, were also established under a separate contract between England and the group of ports from Antigua to Demerara, the whole West India district would be served quite as well as it deserves, considering its relative importance to other British possessions, at a fraction of the cost, and in a more discriminating manner than at present; and I foresee that if the whole service be allowed to take the form I suggest, in a very short time vessels more suitable than the present ones will necessarily be employed, and all that the Post Office will need to pay will be a mere retaining fee, to secure stated arrivals and departures.

I will not lengthen this letter by naming minor requirements, none of which, if you entertain my general proposal, will, I think, present any obstacle, and I do not doubt to be able to satisfy you that I possess adequate means to carry out what I offer.

I conclude by remarking, with every respect, that it is no part of your business to cheapen freight and passage-money, or even to benefit our foreign possessions by unnaturally forcing a protected traffic into their harbours; whatever the past may have been, the present result of the system of subsidies is to prevent, in many instances, the extension of steam navigation.

I am, &c.

The Secretary to the Post Office. (signed) Alfred Holt.

Enclosure in No. 21.

TENDER for STEAM VESSELS for conveying HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.

Sir,

I HEREBY offer to convey Her Majesty's mails twice in each calendar month, each way, on Routes a, b, c, and e, and once in each calendar month, each way, on Routes d, f, g, and h, by a sufficient number of steam vessels of adequate power, in reason, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, for the sum of 480,000 l. per annum, subject to the several conditions marked A.

Or, subject to the like conditions, I will convey the mails once only, each way, in each calendar month on all the routes, for the sum of 400,000 l. per annum; the port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed, to be Queenstown.

Provided I be allowed an increase of 25 per cent. on all the times stated, I will perform the whole service twice each way, in each calendar month, on Routes a, b, c and e, and once in each calendar month on Routes d, f, g and h, for the sum of 300,000 l. per annum; or once only each way in each calendar month on all the routes for the sum of 225,000 l. per annum.

I will agree to an abatement of 1,000 l. in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond my control.

If the contract be not made for 10 years certain, this offer to be void.

I propose as my sureties in the penalty of 35,000 l., Mr. P. H. Holt, of Liverpool, and Mr. R. D. Holt, of Liverpool, and I refer you to the Mayor of Liverpool, or Mr. J. B. Smith, M.P., as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

In the event of the tender being accepted, I engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 20th December 1863; in failure of which I agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l. from the day on which the vessels ought to have been ready for survey for every day during which they shall not be ready for such survey. And I further engage that such vessels shall be complete for sea on the 1st January 1864; in failure of which I agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l. from the day on which the vessels ought to have been complete for sea for every day during which they shall not be complete for sea.

And I hereby agree to commence the said service on the 1st of January 1864, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day for sailing, I hereby agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that day until the said service shall be commenced by me.

And I further hereby agree that such respective sums of 10 l., 10 l., and 100 l. are to be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures; or, in the event of any one or more of such failures, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining any agreement for such service by me.

And I do hereby agree to execute a contract according to the said conditions marked A, and for the performance of the said service.

I am, &c.

(signed) Alfred Holt,
1, India-buildings, Liverpool.

The Secretary of the Post Office.

N.B.—All tenders to be made upon this printed form, and to be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies" in the left hand corner of the envelope. No tender will be received unless it be made precisely according to the preceding printed form, although, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, the parties tendering may suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

CONDITIONS of the TENDERS to be received for a Contract for the Conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies.—Referred to as marked A.

1. THE service required to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails, from the 1st January 1864, by the following routes, viz.:—

Main Route.

(a) From the port in the United Kingdom to be named in the tender to Jamaica and back, calling both going and returning at Falmouth (Antigua) and at Jacmel (Hayti).

Branch Routes.

(b.) From Antigua to Demerara and back, calling both going and returning at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

(c.) From Barbadoes to Tobago and back, calling both going and returning at St. Vincent, Grenada and Trinidad.

(d.) From Jamaica to Tampico and back, calling both going and returning at Havana and Vera Cruz.

(e.) From Jamaica to Colon and back.

(f.) From Colon to Santa Martha and back, calling both going and returning at Carthagena.

(g.) From Colon to Blewfields and back, calling both going and returning at Greytown.

(h.) From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras) and back.

2. The parties tendering to state the sum demanded—first, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on Routes a, b, c and e, and once in each calendar month on Routes d, f, g and h; and secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the routes.

3. The tenders must provide for the mails being conveyed from the United Kingdom to Jamaica in 410 hours; from Jamaica to the United Kingdom in 430 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours; from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; between Jamaica and Colon in 52 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours; from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Blewfields in 38 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours. The periods here given are in each case exclusive of stoppages, the duration of which will be fixed by the Postmaster General.

4. The parties tendering may also state upon what terms they would perform the several services in a greater or less number of hours.

5. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails," are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article sent by the post, to whatever country or place they may be addressed, or in whatever country or place they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

6. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, whether on a main or a branch route, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

7. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time, and also the sum of 500 l. for every successive day which shall elapse after such appointed time; and a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage whether on the main or a branch route, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the portion of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such portion is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

8. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed time, as a breach of the contract.

9. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

10. The contractors must engage to supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service, within the time stipulated in the tender.

11. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by him or by the Lords of the Admiralty.

12. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning-conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers and a sufficient crew of able able seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for in whole or in part by the Government.

13. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty, and any defect discovered on such survey to be immediately made good by the contractors. This survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

14. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel from any port for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

15. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed, on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration, to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

16. The contractors to provide at their sole cost, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure lock and key.

17. In the event of the Postmaster General requiring it, a sorting-room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting the sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General, but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must also be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

18. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided, free of expense, for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with a servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief cabin passengers, and servants as fore cabin passengers.

19. The mails shall be conveyed in the vessels, and be delivered and received at each of the places to which the vessels are to proceed in the performance of the contract; and, at each port or place where the mails are to be delivered and received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever and as often as by him deemed practicable or necessary, be conveyed on shore, and also from the shore to the vessel employed in the performance of the contract, together with, or if necessary for the performance of the duties of such officer, without, Her Majesty's mails, in a suitable and seaworthy boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail-bags, and to be provided and properly manned and equipped by the contractors.

20. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the said mails or any part thereof in the care of the master or commander of any of the said vessels, the said master or commander shall, without any expense to the public, take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. He shall also make the usual Post Office oath or declaration, and furnish such journal, returns and information, and perform such services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

21. The contractors must not receive or permit to be received on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters for conveyance other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails, except any letters not required by law to pass through the Post Office. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General, and the whole postage of every mail shall under all circumstances be at his disposal.

22. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen and servants of the contractors, shall at all times during the continuance of the contract punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

23. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

24. The contractors shall, when and as often as in writing they or the masters of their respective vessels shall be required so to do by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the person or persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for him or them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails) any naval, military and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding 10, and their wives and children, as deck passengers, to be effectually protected from sun, rain and bad weather; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers respectively and others being required to be conveyed.

25. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 18, to be paid (in full of all charge for mess) at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

26. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz. :—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the mail steam-packet for passage to and landed at on the ."

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz. :—

"I further certify that the first dinner meal taken on board was on the and the last dinner meal on the

"Dated this day of ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated by the master of the packet, adding underneath the passenger's signature,—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct.

"Master of the Packet."

27. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

28. Whenever the contractors shall convey any soldiers as deck passengers, other than those specially provided for by the contract, the contractors must provide them with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather, such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

29. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, without charge, any number of small packages containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles, and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, two days' previous notice) receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding 10 tons weight at any one time in any one vessel, and shall convey and deliver the same at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods, to, from, and between all or any of the ports or places to or from which the mails are to be conveyed, in performance of the contract, when so directed by the Postmaster General or his agents, or by the British Naval officer in command of the station; and the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages, articles, and stores.

30. The contract to be terminable on a notice of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

31. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a resolution of the House.

32. Payments will be made quarterly out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of the Post Office, of certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed, subject to the amount of penalties and other sums (if any) being thereout deducted.

33. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

34. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

35. The contractors must not assign, underlet or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

36. In case of any great or habitual breach of the contract, the Postmaster General may terminate it without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

37. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share or part of the contract or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

38. The contractors to be bound with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 35,000 l., for the due fulfilment of the contract; and they must furnish the names of persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of the sureties proposed.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or indeed to accept any tender.

13 November 1862.

Sir,

Pursuant to the conversation at our interview on 10th November, I beg to add the following to my communications of 30th October, respecting the West India Mail Service.

At the outset I must apologise for sundry mistakes in my letter of the above date, as to the lengths of the present passages; these arose from want of knowledge. I was not aware that information on the subject, such as that given in the "Table of Routes" existed, and was consequently guided by the dates of my own letters.

The route I framed my offer on was the following, and the times I intended are expressed in days, opposite the name of each port.

Route A.—Queenstown (starting point). 1st. Port-au-Prince, 18½. 2d. Jamaica, 21½. 3d. Santa Martha, 25½. 4th. Carthagena, 26½. 5th. Colon, 28½. To that offer, with times as above, I adhere.

But this would cause me to require a stay of about a week at Colon, whereas I now learn that you require that stay not to exceed 1 day 21 hours; I beg, therefore, to offer you the following route, half-monthly, for an increase of 4,560 l. (Four thousand five hundred and sixty pounds) in the guarantee.

Route B.—Queenstown (starting point). 1st. Port-au-Prince, 18½. 2d. Jamaica, 21½. 3d. Colon, 25½. 4th. Santa Martha, 28½. 5th. Carthagena, 30½.

If this route be adopted, I can offer you a stay at Colon of the duration you require, but would wish to bargain for a latitude of one day in the arrivals and departures at and from Santa Martha and Carthagena, also for leave to call at Savanilla.

It is in my power to quicken this transit by one day to all the ports beyond Hayti, by merely touching at Port-au-Prince, and not working cargo there; that is to say, the route would be,—

Route C.—Queenstown (starting point). 1st. Port-au-Prince, 18½. 2d. Jamaica, 20½. 3d. Colon, 24½. 4th. Santa Martha, 27½. 5th. Carthagena, 29½.

My goods traffic to Port-au-Prince is worth about 275 l. per voyage; if you therefore choose this route, I must seek a recompense of 6,600 l. (six thousand six hundred) a year.

Finally, by omitting Hayti altogether, another day can be saved, for which (as I should then sacrifice my passengers also), I should want 3,000 l. a year (three thousand), the route being—

Route D.

Route D.—Queenstown (starting point). 1st. Jamaica, 19½. 2d. Colon, 23½. 3d. Santa Martha, 26½. 4th. Carthagena, 28½.

Greytown and Blewfields may be alternated for Santa Martha and Carthagena, for a yearly payment of 2,880 l. (two thousand eight hundred and eighty).

Homeward I cannot do with less than 2½ days at Jamaica, as I must complete coals and cargo there; I therefore offer you the choice of the two following routes, at the same charge:

Route E.—Colon (starting point). 1st. Jamaica, 3½. 2d. Port-au-Prince, 7½. Or, 3d. Queenstown, 26½.

Route F.—Colon (starting point). 1st. Jamaica, 3½. 2d, Queenstown, 25½.

The times given in the above six routes include all the stoppages I require.

As you wished me to contemplate a call at Antigua, I beg to inform you that I will make that call in 17½ days for 6,000 l. (six thousand) a year. But I take the liberty to recommend you, in your own interest, not to ask it of me. The group of ports from St. Thomas to Demerara affords ample commercial revenue, with slight Post Office assistances, for an independent line from England; and my call at a port in that group would draw off the traffic, with the probable result, as it appears to me, of augmenting the other Company's demands on the Post Office. Neither could I offer to touch at Antigua homewards, except by stipulating for a lengthened time. My vessels would probably go 11 knots from Antigua towards Jamaica, and not above 6½ back again.

Having stated my views as to the routes, I will proceed to comment on the conditions, which I will indicate by the numbers they bear in the printed tenders:—

Numbers.

1 to 4. May be supposed to be already answered.

5. Agreed to.

6. My main route being important, and the branch routes unimportant, I would suggest that this apply to the periods from Queenstown to Colon, and vice versâ only. I think I am not wrong in supposing you not to care very much about the Santa Martha, Carthagena, Greytown and Blewfield mails.

7. I will agree to a fine of 500 l., if I fail to provide a vessel to sail from Queenstown on the appointed day; and a fine of the same amount for each day the deficiency continues, provided the failure be not caused by an accident to the vessel en route from Liverpool. If this happens, I am to have 60 hours to get the spare vessel ready to leave Liverpool; and if this be not done, I will agree to be fined on her account as if she were the original vessel. These penalties, however, in no one case to exceed 2,500 l. (two thousand five hundred pounds).

I will agree to a penalty of	£. 10	for the first	completed period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage above contract time.
„	£. 40	„ second	- -	- - ditto.
„	£. 100	„ third	- -	- - ditto.
„	£. 150	„ fourth	- -	- - ditto.

and so on by steps of 50 l. per 12 hours, until the amount applicable to that passage be exhausted.

8. Agreed to.

9. I have no abatement to offer, but venture to express the hope that if the service be well done as a whole, the Postmaster will not insist on fines for delays, arising from causes beyond my control. It is very difficult to get certainty at sea, and the service is not an easy one.

10. I engage to supply for this contract seven steamers. I calculate six will do the work. The seventh, of smaller capacity, I should keep at Liverpool as a spare vessel. For a payment of 3,800 l. (three thousand eight hundred) a year, I will agree to provide eight vessels.

11. Agreed to.

Numbers.

12. Agreed to, except as to carrying a doctor, for which I shall require 2,750 l. (two thousand seven hundred and fifty) additional, unless the number of people on board exceed 100.

13. Agreed to.

14. The Postmaster may fix the days for leaving Queenstown and Colon, the others necessarily depend on these. The power to delay I assent to.

15 to 17. Agreed to; sorting room to be of moderate size.

18. I must charge for the naval officer and servant, 2,500 l. (two thousand five hundred) a year.

19, 20. Agreed to.

21. I agree to the first part and to the second part also, if it should turn out that my refusal to carry the mails free does not subject my vessels to port charges at Hayti and New Granada; if it does, I must be paid the additional expense I incur, by the Postmaster, but I undertake that this shall not exceed 1,200 l. per annum, and quite expect no such charge will be made.

22 to 29. Agreed to.

30. The contract to be certain for three years, afterwards terminable on one year's notice from either party to the other.

31 to 37. Agreed to.

38. The contractors to find sureties for 8,000 l. I should have no difficulty in finding sureties to a larger amount, but this seems to me, considering the payment I ask, if anything, above the usual bond taken.

39. Agreed to.

Extra Conditions.—In case of Great Britain becoming involved in a naval war, I require permission to terminate the contract, or to receive compensation at a rate to be settled by arbitration for the war risk.

The seven vessels I tender for the service are—

		Tons O. M.	Tons N. M.	Net Register.
3	"Crusader" and 2 new similar vessels	1,080	901	725
1	"Askalon"	991	875	631
1	"Talisman"	850	738	581
1	"Plantagenet"	732	695	472
1	"Saladin"	544	510	347

The first four will, according to my calculations, perform the service at a greater speed than I have tendered. The "Talisman" possesses about sufficient speed for the contract. The "Plantagenet" and "Saladin" will both fall below it, the former slightly, and the latter perhaps 10 per cent.; but I consider it probable (though I am not prepared to promise it) that I may have a vessel of even a higher speed than the "Crusader" at my disposal before the service commences; I also take the liberty of stating that I look forward to improving my fleet, and gradually working the small vessels out of the service.

Proportion of Postages payable to me.

Letters.—The entire rates charged to the public less 2 d. a letter. Any augmentation in the postage to be for my benefit, but no reduction to cause me to receive a smaller sum than I should receive on the existing scale.

Newspapers

Newspapers and Books.—Two-thirds of the entire postage charged to the public to be paid to me.

Despatches on HerMajesty's Service which pass free through the inland post shall be carried free by me also.

Memorandum.—The above are only applicable in case of through rates to the proportion thereof charged for the service performed by my vessels.

The above letter, which is lengthier than I could have wished, embraces all the information which, according to my recollection of our interview, you wished to receive; if there be anything more I am at your service to call on you in London at any time you may appoint.

Your, &c.

The Secretary, General Post Office. (signed) Alfred Holt.

General Post Office,

Sir, 22 November 1862.

With reference to your letter of the 13th instant, I request that you will be good enough to furnish me, at your earliest convenience, with information on the following points:—

1st. Supposing your vessels to call at Antigua, and to reach that island in 17½ days from Queenstown, in what period would you undertake to reach Jamaica; calling, en route, to land mails at Jacmel?

2d. In the event of such call at Jacmel, should you require to be paid the sum of 6,600 l. per annum for loss of goods traffic, and the sum of 3,000 l. per annum for loss of passengers, contemplated in consequence of not calling at Port au Prince?

3d. In addition to the payment of 6,000 l. per annum for calling at Antigua, on the voyage in both directions, should you require to be paid any portion of the postage on the mails landed or embarked at that island?

4th. What would be the precise length of the voyage from Colon to Queenstown, if the vessels called on the voyage at Jamaica, Jacmel, and Antigua?

I understand that no additional subsidy is demanded by you for calling at Antigua, either on the homeward or outward voyage, and no part of the postage of letters embarked or disembarked there; only an allowance of additional time.

I am, &c.

Alfred Holt, Esq., Liverpool. (signed) F. Hill.

Mr. Alfred Holt to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Office of the Liverpool and West India Steam Ship Company, 1, India Buildings, Liverpool,

Sir, 24 November 1862.

Your letter of November 22d is received, and I have now the pleasure to answer the queries therein contained, and for brevity shall indicate the answers by the same numbers you have affixed to the questions:—

1st. My vessels would require 3½ days to go from Antigua to Jamaica, and six days back, calling at Jacmel both ways, but exclusive of stop there.

2d. The 6,600 l. a year for the loss of goods traffic would have to be repaid, but only a portion of the 3,000 l. for passengers. I expect calling at Jacmel instead of Port au Prince would make two-thirds of the passengers take some other route, and I may therefore estimate my loss at 2,000 l. a year.

3d. £. 6,000 per annum, like all the other sums I mentioned, is only a minimum payment which I require to be guaranteed. If my vessels earn more than that sum in postage at the rates named, I expect to be paid the excess also.

4th. I append time table of both outward and homeward voyages, viâ Antigua, Jacmel, and Jamaica.

Route G.—Queenstown (starting point). Antigua, 17½ days. Jamaica, 20¾. Colon, 24¾.

Route H.—Colon (starting point). Jamaica, 3½ days. Antigua, 12. Queenstown, 29½.

On both routes the stoppages at Antigua and Jacmel are not included.

I think the last paragraph of your letter must be written under a misunderstanding. I require for a call at Antigua both an extension of time and an increase in the minimum postage guaranteed, the amounts of both of which demands I have mentioned.

The questions you ask show me that you contemplate serving the Windward Islands by my boats viâ Antigua. I therefore take the liberty of again endeavouring to dissuade you from doing so. I am convinced if you advertise you will get plenty of offers for a direct line, and the amount charged for the intercolonial service to connect with my boats, added to the 6,000 l. I must charge, would go far to pay (even if it did not exceed) the subsidy such line would require. It is the passage from Jamaica to Antigua, right in the teeth of the trades, which I fear. I would very much prefer not to undertake a call which I could do no better than another, and which would spoil that part of the service I can do well.

Your, &c.

The Secretary, General Post Office. (signed) Alfred Holt.

Sir, General Post Office, 25 November 1862.

In acknowledging the receipt of your letter of the 24th instant, I beg to inform you that I find there are still one or two points respecting which I require further information, and I shall be glad therefore if you can make it convenient to call at this office on Thursday next, between 12 and 3.

In the meantime I shall be glad if you will consider for what additional sum you will be prepared (in the event of the Postmaster General being free to receive from you a specific offer for the performance of a portion of the West India Mail Service) to bind yourself with two sureties in the sum of 20,000 l. for the due fulfilment of the conditions of the contract.

On receipt of this letter you will perhaps have the goodness to let me know at what hour on Thursday I may expect to see you.

Mr. Alfred Holt to the Secretary to the Post Office.

Sir, London, 27 November 1862.

PURSUANT to the conversation I have had with you this morning, I beg to give you the following additional information:—

I have no objection to Falmouth being substituted for Queenstown as the port of embarkation and disembarkation of the mails, on the following condition—viz., that time be allowed for the extra distance performed at the rate of nine knots an hour, but without extra payment.

In my assent to Clause 11, I should have said that I meant it to apply only to vessels to be built, not to those already in existence.

On the question of sureties, I propose the following:—

1st. I undertake to find bond for a sum equal to the largest given by any other contractor in porportion to the payments received, or

2nd. I undertake to find bond for 8,000 l., and to allow you to retain from each of the first four payments the sum of 3,000 l., said sums to be invested in your name on my account in Government securities, the interest on which to be payable to me, and the said securities to be made over to me on due completion of the contract.

I understand you to say that the forfeiture of the bond or securities held by you is the maximum penalty for non-performance of the contract.

The Secretary, General Post Office. (signed) Alfred Holt.

Office of the Liverpool and West India Steamship Company, 1, India Buildings, Liverpool,

Sir, 20 December 1862.

I HAVE no wish to hurry your deliberations respecting the West India Mail Service, but I am afraid, unless a speedy decision be come to, I shall be obliged to retract that part of my offer in which I undertake to submit the plans of any vessels to be built to the approval of the Admiralty.

My reason for this is that, independent of the contract, the requirements of my trade will not admit of further delay in adding new vessels to those already on the line.

Sir, General Post Office, 22 December 1862.

THE Postmaster General having communicated with the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury respecting the result of the advertisements issued by this Department for tenders for conveying Her Majesty's mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies, I am now directed to inform you that their Lordships have decided not to accept any of the tenders sent in, but to cause the service to be advertised afresh, under such amended conditions as will admit of parties tendering either for a part or for the whole of the service.

The new conditions of tender will be ready for issue in the course of a few days.

I am, &c.

— No. 29. —

TENDER for STEAM VESSELS for conveying HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.

Sir, 31 January 1863.

I HEREBY offer to convey Her Majesty's mails, by steam-vessels, on the following lines, and on the conditions marked A., for the sum of 67,900 l. per annum, viz.:

Twice each month from England to Colon, and thence alternately once a month to Greytown and Blewfields, and once a month to Santa Martha and Carthagena, calling outwards at Jacmel and Kingston (and also once a month, as hereafter explained, at Antigua, if my supplemental tender be accepted), and homewards at Kingston and Port-au-Prince.

I require 540 hours for the voyage from England to Colon, and 564 hours for the voyage from Colon to England, exclusive of 36 hours' stay at Jamaica, outwards, and 60 hours homewards; at the other ports only as long a stay as required by the postmaster.

Eight hours additional to be allowed for the call at Antigua.

For accelerated service, see my supplemental offer.

The port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed to be Queenstown.

I propose as my sureties, in the penalty of 20,000 l., Mr. William Dwining, of Liverpool, and Mr. Philip Henry Holt, of Liverpool; and I refer you to T. B. Horsfall, Esq., M. P., T. B. Smith, Esq., M. P., T. C. Ewart, Esq., M. P., and Sir W. Brown, as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

The contract to be for seven years certain.

I agree to commence the service on the 1st of January 1864; and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, I agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that time until the said service shall be commenced by me; but as only 10 months have been given to prepare for this service, no fines are to be inflicted for excess of time on the voyages begun during the first three months.

I further agree that all fines herein mentioned shall be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures. Moreover, should any one or more of such failures take place, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining the contract.

And I hereby agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked A.

I am, &c.
(Signature) Alfred Holt,
(Address) 1, India Buildings, Liverpool.

The Secretary of the Post Office.

N.B.—All tenders must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. Other things equal, a preference will be given to a tender made upon this printed form, and in exact accordance therewith. Even, however, when this printed form is used, the parties tendering may, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

CONDITIONS.—Referred to as marked A.

1. UNDER the term "Her Majesty's Mails" are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article transmissible by the post, without regard either to the place to which they may be addressed, or that in which they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

2. A premium

2. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, on any line, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

3. A fine of 500 l. is to be paid if the contractor fails to provide a vessel to leave Queenstown on the appointed day, and a fine of the same amount for each day the deficiency continues, provided the failure be not caused by an accident to the vessel en route from Liverpool. If this happens, he is to be allowed 60 hours to provide another vessel to leave Liverpool; and if this be not done, he is to be fined on her account, as if she were the original vessel. These penalties, however, in no one case to exceed 3,000 l. The penalties for time lost to be double the premiums for time saved, but not to exceed amount of subsidy applicable to passage.

4. The arrangements for determining and recording the exact time of arrival and departure of the vessels to be under the exclusive regulation of the Postmaster General, whose decision on all matters relating thereto shall be final.

5. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed period, as a breach of the contract.

10. The vessels are to carry the usual Board of Trade Passenger certificate.

11. The parties tendering to state what abatement they would make in the subsidy if Conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 were omitted, and the Postmaster General, content with specifying the time within which the mails must be conveyed, left the means of accomplishment wholly to the contractors. My offer is based on this condition.

12. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered, from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel, from any port, for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

13. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed, on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or, failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

14. The contractors to provide, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure locks and keys.

15. Should the Postmaster General require it, a room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting this sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General, but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

16. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute, for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with an assistant or servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and assistants and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

17. At each port where the mails are to be delivered or received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever he may deem it necessary, be conveyed to the shore and back, with or without Her Majesty's mails (as he may desire), in a suitable boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail bags, and to be properly manned and equipped.

18. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the mails in the care of the commander of any of the vessels, such commander shall take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. The commander shall also make the usual Post Office Declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such other services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

19. Except such letters as are not required by law to pass through the Post Office, the contractors must not receive, or permit to be received, for conveyance on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

20. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors, shall, at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the the Postmaster General, or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

21. Except where otherwise specified, none of the duties enumerated in the foregoing conditions shall give the contractors any claim to remuneration beyond the general subsidy.

22. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

23. The contractors shall, whenever they or the masters of their respective vessels may be required so to do, in writing, by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the persons to be conveyed and the accommodation to be provided for them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, with their wives and childen, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's Service, not exceeding ten, with their wives and children, as deck passengers; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers or others being required to be conveyed.

24. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in Paragraph 16, to be paid at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

25. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz. :—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the Mail Steam Packet for passage to and landed at on the ."

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz. :—

"I further certify that the first dinner-meal taken on board was on the and the last dinner-meal on the

"Dated this day of (signature) ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated by the master of the packet adding, underneath the passenger's signature—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct."

(signature) "Master of the Packet."

26. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

27. The deck passengers mentioned in the 23d Condition, together with any like persons, other than those specially provided for by the contract, who may be conveyed as deck passengers, must be provided with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather; such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

28. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, on behalf of the Admiralty, without charge, any small packages which may be tendered for conveyance, containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, or from the British naval officer in command of the station, two days' previous notice) receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding ten tons weight at any one time, in any one vessel; and shall convey and deliver such stores at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods. And the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages and stores.

30. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for One Month, without disapproval, unless previous to the lapse of that period it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

31. Subject to deductions for penalties or otherwise, payments will be made quarterly, at the Post Office, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of Certificates, from the proper officers, that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed.

32. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, tion, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or, failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

33. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

34. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

35. In case of the breach of the 34th Condition, or in case of any great or habitual breach of the contract of any other kind, the Postmaster General to have power to terminate the contract without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

36. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

38. Should any dispute arise respecting the interpretation of any part of any contract to be framed on the basis of these conditions, the same shall be settled by arbitration in the usual manner.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender irrespective of other considerations, or even to accept any tender.

40. During the currency of this contract, the Postmaster shall not subsidise any other company which may run steamers from the United Kingdom to any of the ports to which my vessels trade.

41. During the currency of this contract, should Great Britain become engaged in a war in which hostilities are carried on by sea, and should the Postmaster require the continuation of the service, compensation (by arbitration) is to be awarded, to cover the loss caused by extra insurance.

— No. 30. —

Supplementary Offer.

Subject to my offer for the Colon Line being accepted without unnecessary delay, I further offer to convey Her Majesty's mails in steam-vessels, once a month, from Liverpool to San Juan (Porto Rico), St. Thomas, St. Kitts, Nevis, Montserrat, Antigua (waiting there for the mails from England which will be on board the Colon steamer, having left about six days after this steamer), and thence to as many ports between Antigua and Demerara as the Postmaster may require, returning the same route, but coming direct from Antigua to Queenstown.

For the voyage from Antigua to Queenstown, I should require 408 hours. The service between the various islands I would perform at the same proportions of speed.

The subsidy for this service to be 31,080 l. (thirty-one thousand and eighty pounds) per annum. The general conditions would be nearly the same as in my offer for the Colon Line.

Accelerated Service.

If the offer I have made for the Windward Islands Service is accepted, I am prepared to build a fleet of steamers, of about 1,200 tons each, to carry on the Colon Line. The designs for these have been prepared especially for speed, and with them I am willing to contract to perform the service from Queenstown to Colon in 516 hours, and from Colon to Queenstown in 540 hours, exclusive of stoppages. I believe also that I can do it in less than this time, and also save time in the stoppages.

If no other company shall have made the Postmaster a reasonable tender for the conveyance of the Honduras and Mexican mails, and should the Postmaster, except for this, be disposed to entertain my tender, I shall be prepared (so much do I fear the effect on my business of another contract similar to the present one) to consider the conveyance of those mails also. At the same time, not wishing to undertake more than I can do well, I would much prefer to be without them for the present.

Sir, 4 February 1863.

With reference to your supplementary tender for the conveyance of mails between this country and the West Indies, received on the 2d instant, I have to request that you will inform me, as early as possible, for what sum you would be prepared to undertake the conveyance of the Honduras and Mexican mails, in addition to the other services specified in your tender ?

1, India Buildings, Liverpool,
Sir, 6 February 1863.

I have now the honour to reply to your letter of the 4th February.

I am prepared to contract for the Honduras and Mexican services on the following conditions : I will sail a steamer hence to Kingston, Jamaica, calling at Port-au-Prince (and perhaps elsewhere also) once a month, so timing her departure from Liverpool that she shall be ready to sail from Kingston to Belize, on the arrival of the Colon steamer with the mails, and returning to Kingston in time to be made ready to carry on the Mexican and Havannah mails coming by the succeeding Colon steamer from England.

From Mexico she shall return to Queenstown, calling at Havannah only. Time—Havannah to Queenstown, in 21 days 10 hours ; other parts of the route at an equal proportionate rate.

Subsidy.—£.38,544 (say, thirty-eight thousand five hundred and forty-four pounds) per annum.

Conditions somewhat similar to those agreed to in my tender of 31st January.

You will notice, that inasmuch as this steamer will call at Port-au-Prince, the call at Jacmel with the Colon steamer may be dispensed with, and the voyage to Colon so much shortened.

I now take the liberty of making the following remarks. The time between the present date and 1st January 1864 is too short to prepare properly for the service. Most shipbuilders of repute are exceedingly busy at present, and, even were it otherwise, a steamer fresh out of the builder's hands cannot be creditably despatched on a long and important voyage. As you sought tenders for a service commencing on the above-named date, I made arrangements to obtain the use of sufficient vessels to do so ; but as some of these are not equal in speed to the vessels I propose permanently to employ, I felt it necessary, in my own protection, to prohibit the enforcement of penalties during the first quarter, by the end of which time I should be tolerably safe to have my new vessels on the station.

But the Mexican Line, if you contract with me for it also, will necessitate three new vessels, as my experience is, that boats cannot be satisfactorily worked except except on the plan of coming home periodically to England. The building of these will render the amount of preparation proportionately greater.

I do not wish to work this makeshift service at all if it can be avoided, and I only offer it because I would rather do so than be injured as I shall be by a renewal of the present contract; but if you can induce the Royal Mail Company to carry on their service until the end of April 1864, I am prepared to contract to begin mine on a permanent basis on the 1st of May, and will, moreover, forego 5,000 l. out of the first year's subsidy.

Sir, General Post Office, 7 February 1863.

I REQUEST that you will inform me whether, in the event of your tenders for the West India Mail Service being accepted, you would undertake, at a given time, to be named by yourself, to perform the several services in the following number of hours, being those specified in the conditions of tender, and, if so, for what amount of subsidy? — viz.:

From the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Antigua, Hayti, and Jamaica, in 462 hours; from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at the same places, in 482 hours.

Between Antigua and Demerara, in 77 hours.

From Barbadoes to Tobago, in 43 hours; and from Tobago to Barbadoes, in 39 hours.

Between Jamaica and Tampico, in 195 hours.

From Colon to Santa Martha, in 50 hours: and from Santa Martha to Colon, in 48 hours.

Between Colon and Greytown, in 30 hours.

And between Jamaica and Belize, in 83 hours.

Referring to your letter of yesterday's date, specifying the terms on which you would undertake the Mexican and Honduras services, I beg that you will state separately the amount of subsidy demanded for each service.

I have further to request that if, as regards these services, you contemplate any modification of the conditions agreed to in your tenders of the 31st ultimo, you will state explicitly what that modification is, and that you will also specify to what extent you will undertake to shorten the voyage to Colon if the stop at Jacmel be omitted.

Sir, 9 February 1863.

I BEG to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of 7th February.

I am not prepared to bind myself to perform the services in the times specified in the printed tenders for any amount of subsidy whatever, but at the same time I am convinced that the vessels I propose to build (the designs for which are open to your inspection) will not require the number of hours I have stipulated for the passages, and I do not doubt to be able to do with less time than that asked at Kingston.

I divide the amount (38,544 l.) sought for the Mexican and Honduras services, as follows:

I. Mexican, 30,908 l. (Thirty thousand nine hundred and eight).
II. Honduras, 7,636 l. (Seven thousand six hundred and thirty-six).

I am prepared to accept the first by itself, but not the second.

The only modifications of conditions from those offered on 31st January, which I require for the Mexican and Honduras services, are those mentioned below.*

In case the call at Jacmel be abandoned, I will allow the running time to Colon to be reduced three hours.

Mr. F. Hill to Mr. A. Holt.

Sir, General Post Office, 9 March 1863.

In the "supplementary offer" which accompanied your tender for the mail service between the United Kingdom and Colon, you state that you will convey Her Majesty's mails once a month from Liverpool to Porto Rico, St. Thomas, St. Kitts, Nevis, and Montserrat, and to as many ports between Antigua and Demerara as the Postmaster General may require, for the sum of 31,080*l.* per annum.

I am directed to request that you will acquaint me, for the information of the Postmaster General, whether you would be prepared to perform that service once a fortnight instead of once a month, and on what terms?

With respect to the ports to be touched at on the voyage from Antigua to Demerara, it appears to the Postmaster General that the packets could not conveniently call at more ports than are now served by the Windward Island branch packet—viz., Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes, leaving the service to St. Vincent, Carriacou, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago still to be provided for.

His Lordship will be glad to be informed whether you would undertake this latter service, and, if so, what additional subsidy you would require for a service once a month, and what for a service twice a month?

1, India Buildings, Liverpool,
Sir, 11 March 1863.

I have the honour to reply to your letter of 9th March, received yesterday.

To change the Windward Island from a monthly into a fortnightly service increases the proportions of the enterprise so greatly, that it is beyond my power to undertake it with the same date of commencement as the remainder.

If,

If, however, a monthly service will suffice till a year has elapsed, I am prepared to double it at that time, or sooner if I can, for an additional payment of 23,920*l.* per annum, being 55,000*l.* in all.

I beg to decline to make any offer for the branch service to St. Vincent, Carriacou, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago, as such service would require a vessel to be stationed permanently abroad; but I have no objection to the Windward Island boat calling at all or any of these, if the Postmaster General wishes, and will allow the necessary time.

The length of time which has been allowed to pass, since my offer was made, renders it necessary for me to say, that, should my tenders be entertained, I may have to ask for a further postponement of the date of commencement.

General Post Office.

Sir,

In reference to the offers which I had the honour to make for the West India Mail Service, I take the liberty of informing you that, with a view to test by actual experiment whether I should be able to attain the speed I offered, I directed the captain of one of my steamers to come home from Colon on the proposed postal route, that is to say, omitting my usual calls on the Spanish Main.

The vessel has arrived this morning, having passed Queenstown at 9 a.m. yesterday, and the subjoined table shows the hours occupied:—

Departure.	Arrival.	Hours.
Colon - - 19th March, 6 a.m. -	Kingston - 22d March, 4 p.m. -	82
Kingston - 23d „ 4 p.m. -	Port-au-Prince, 25th „ 1 a.m. -	33
Port-au-Prince, 25th „ 1 p.m. -	Queenstown - 10th April, 9 a.m. -	380
	Running Time, Colon to Queenstown - - -	495

The time I offered for the same run was 540 hours; and as the vessels I proposed to build were calculated for a speed to exceed, by one-seventh, that of the vessel whose performances are given above, I think I am not wrong in assuming that the speeds I named in my offer would be attained in actual service.

I send by this post a Kingston Newspaper, dated 23d March.

1.—Tender for Mail Service between the United Kingdom and the West Indies.

2.—Tender for Mail Service between New York and the West Indies.

88, Cannon-street, West, London, E.C.

Sir, 1 November 1862.

I HAVE the honour of submitting the following statement, the modification of the forms of tender for the Home and West Indian, and the New York and West Indian Mail Services, in pursuance of the leave given by the foot-note, and which I am instructed to propose, with a view to greater economy and efficiency.

I take the liberty to observe, that in proposing the ultimate departure from the port of Cork, it will enable us to reduce the course of post four days, at least, on the round voyage, in regard to the dispatch of mails from the United Kingdom to Jamaica, whilst the primary departure from London will be more advantageous for the heavy portion of the mails and for passengers, in analogy with the arrangements for the Indian mails, and for the Cunard Lines to North America.

With regard to the voyage from New York to the West Indies, with the Intercolonial or Gulf Service, the peculiar risks of navigation on the Trunk Line between New York and Jamaica, subject to absolute penalties, preclude, in our estimate, anything like a moderate demand for subsidy

There are also some conditions which we deem inconsistent with a just economy and efficiency in the service:—

1st. The imposition of absolute penalties. It is not too much to say that a regulation which enforces a fixed time, irrespective of weather, amounts almost to presumption; for no vessel, however great her power, can make, against even ordinary gales, at the rate of speed necessary to perform the voyage in the time stipulated; and, however carefully constructed may be a ship's engines, no human prudence can prevent accidents to machinery and other parts, whilst the necessity of driving at full speed, under every circumstance, tends to render such eventualities all the more inevitable.

2dly. The power to reserve, by Art. 11, the impositions of plans for the building of ships occasions uncertainty as to the cost of the service, which must vary with different classes of ships, and the greater or less amount of traffic on the lines. It is quite right that the Post Office should be satisfied that the ships are seaworthy, and equal to the work; but where the contract imposes the obligation of delivering the mail within a certain time, it is only reasonable to suggest that the contractor should provide the vessels according to what he knows to be sufficient, consistently with his estimated profit.

The result of the existing clause might be that the Post Office would furnish plans that would prove inadequate for the purpose, and the contractor would thus be bound to a loss, independent of any default on his part.

3dly. The right reserved to the Post Office Department, by Article 15, to change arbitrarily the itinerary, might have this effect: that, after the contractor, by a large expenditure, and a continuous loss for many months, or even years, shall have brought up his traffic to the paying point, he would, on any such shifting of the service, not only lose his expenditure upon depôts, and other important objects, including advertisements, but break up his traffic, and have to commence anew his period of losses. I take the liberty to remark that, after a deliberate settlement of the bases of the service, there cannot arise, within any short term, an occasion for altering those bases on which the contractor's estimate is framed; and therefore it might be sufficient to connect any change of stations, independently of the consent of the contractor, with a condition that if the contractor shall prove it will occasion to him any loss, full compensation shall be allowed, with an option to relinquish the service upon 12 months' notice, which may be fixed at the period of "reasonable" notice of such alterations.

4thly. Art. 24 requires that the contractors shall receive third-class passengers within certain limits. I am instructed to state that the reduction of the subsidy will will require that this condition be entirely expunged. Our ships would be constructed for the conveyance only of first and second-class passengers; the expense of providing and removing occasional berthing for deck passengers, and the inconvenience occasioned to the other classes by carrying more than two classes would render this article a great obstruction to the principal traffic without any adequate compensation.

The constant intercourse for third-class passengers by other ships between the West Indies and Europe, and inter-colonially, justifies the expectation that any such passengers to be forwarded by official authority, can be otherwise accommodated. For instance, if the contract be granted to the company I represent, it is our intention to employ steam colliers for the periodical supply of fuel to all our stations, and we are prepared to provide on board such vessels third-class berthing of a much more suitable nature than what could be arranged under the condition in question. In fact, the whole of the deck space on board our postal or express steamer, would be but barely sufficient for the comfort and convenience of the first and second-class, and for working the ship.

Another condition, however, may be substituted, namely, that on board all the company' vessels where third-class or deck passengers are taken, the stipulated number reserved by Art. 24, and in conformity with the terms stated therein, shall be conveyed as directed by the competent authorities.

I have further to add that, as a separate contract, we shall omit sending in tenders for the Cape of Good Hope service now being advertised; but we think that line, as well as the lines from the American Isthmus to Australia and New Columbia may be economically amalgamated with the West Indian service. And I have the honour to state hereinafter, as an alternative, the amount of subsidy we would require for this proposed combination.

Provided the line from New York to Jamaica be united with that from the United Kingdom to the same port, each with a monthly departure and intercolonial arrangements, giving a complete fortnightly communication to and from all the Transatlantic ports, and provided the term of contract be extended to not less than 20 years, we are prepared to accept the annual subsidy of with a remuneration in proportion to speed, to be paid out of the postal rates at 1 d. per letter. That is to say:—

(a.) The line from the United Kingdom to Jamaica, once monthly.

(b.) The line from New York to Jamaica, once monthly, with an extension to Halifax, if required.

(c.) The several intercolonial lines, once semi-monthly, that is once a fortnight.

At or before the expiration of the first five years, the lines (a) and (b) shall be run fortnightly, with intercolonial communication weekly; at the expiration of the first 10 years, the lines (a) and (b) shall be run weekly, with weekly intercolonial communications; the company to have the right of laying on intermediate packets to carry mails, passengers, and merchandise, at less speed than that of the express or subsidized liners; but no additional subsidy will be required in any of the foregoing cases.

With a view, however, to remunerating these extra services, and to offer an inducement for the maintenance of the highest speed consistent with safety and regularity, 1 d. per postal rate on letters, and a due proportion of parcels and journals should be reserved to provide for additional compensation rateably with speed.

20 s. per mile for the maximum speed of each class of ships, which is equivalent to the sum allowed by the French Government for its new Indo-China line.

17 s. 6 d. per mile for one knot less.

15 s. per mile for two knots less.

12 s. 6 d. per mile for three knots less, or the minimum of each class, below which no remuneration is to be paid.

The first-class express or subsidized liners to be rated for a maximum of 12 knots, and a minimum of nine knots; the second-class or intermediate packets at a maximum of 10 knots, and a minimum of seven knots; and the third-class, also intermediate packet, at a maximum of eight knots, and a minimum of five knots.

If the proceeds of the fund for the above rates of additional compensation do not realize the amount to be paid, the balance would be payable out of the surplus, in case hereafter this postal compensation should exceed the stipulated rates, and not otherwise.

The alternative combination we propose, is as follows:—

(A) The line from the United Kingdom to Jamaica, with the intercolonial branches as stated above.

(B) The line from New York to Jamaica, with the intercolonial arrangements, but extending the branch to Demerara, further south to Bahia.

(C) The line from the United Kingdom to the Cape, but with an intermediate call at Bahia, which might be made to alternate with the present Brazilian mail, so as to give a fortnightly communication between this country and Brazil; this plan would increase the time allowed by form of tender for delivery at the Cape.

(D) The line from the American isthmus to New Zealand and Australia monthly, for the first two years, and fortnightly for the next three years, then thrice a month, and finally once a week.

(E) The line from the American isthmus to New Columbia, calling at San Francisco, with the same progression of departures.

(F) And finally, at the expiration of five years, a line from New Columbia to Japan and China.

The entire subsidy for this combination would be 250,000 l. Of this sum, influential parties in the Australasian colonies have recently proposed a contribution of 100,000 l. for the Pacific route between Australasia and Europe, the New Columbian, the West Indian, and the Cape colonies might fairly be required to contribute 50,000 l. in proportion to postal duties performed, leaving thus only 100,000 l. to be provided by the mother country.

In these combinations, we make no provision for reduction in regard to the absence of postal agents, for it is evident that the duty of sorting and superintending the mails will be indispensable in every case.

These modifications are open to discussion and alteration, so far as consistent with the financial security of the contract. In the event of either of them being entertained, we shall be prepared to submit an itinerary scheme, with outline specifications of the ships to be employed (which will be classed at Lloyd's for not less than nine years, A 1), and also other particulars for the proper explanation of the plan. These would be obviously unnecessary if the forms of tender are to be maintained without modification.

I am prepared with solvent security to the amount of 50,000 l. for the due performance of the service under either of the foregoing arrangements, and within one week from the notification of your approval of the terms, we shall furnish the contracts of eminent builders, binding them to deliver under Lloyd's inspection, of the required number of ships for the inspection of your surveyor, within the time for commencing the service on the 1st January 1864.

I beg to observe that the requirement of furnishing the names of sureties with the tender, is a departure from the previous course of business, and we venture to submit that it would be impossible for any one but the subsisting companies to solicit the consent of responsible parties, without confiding to them particulars, which it would be manifestly unwise to expose until after the expiration of the time for tendering. But if our proposals are deemed worthy of being entertained, I am instructed to state that we shall be prepared to furnish the names of solvent sureties within any reasonable delay you may be pleased to appoint, having already furnished a guarantee of caution-money of 40,000 l. to a continental government for a similar service, as shown by the copy guarantee annexed.

I have, &c.

Enclosure 1, in No. 39.

Sir, London, 1 November 1862.

WE hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's mails twice in each calendar month, each way, on routes a, b, c, and e, and one in each calendar month, each way, on routes d, f, g, and h, by a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, for the sum of 150,000 l. per annum, subject to the several conditions marked A.

Or, subject to the like conditions, we will convey the mails once only, each way, in each calendar month, on all the routes, for the sum of 125,000 l. per annum; the ports in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed to be London and Cork, as now used for the North American mails.

Provided we be allowed only the reduced time of 360 hours between the port of Cork and the port of Kingston, Jamaica, exempt from absolute penalties, we will perform the whole service twice, each way, in each calendar month, on routes a, b, c, and e, and once in each calendar month on routes d, f, g, and h, for the sum of 130,000 l. per annum: or once only each way, in each calendar month, on all the routes, for the sum of 105,000 l. per annum.

We will agree to an abatement of 15,000 l. in the amount of the subsidy stated in the 1st and 2d paragraphs, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to an abatement of 10,000 l. from the subsidy demanded; and if the contract be made for seven years certain, we will agree to an abatement of 15,000 l. from the subsidy.

We propose as our sureties, in the penalty of 35,000 l., Mr. of , and Mr. of ; and we refer you to as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties. See accompanying letter.

In the event of the tender being accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 15th December 1863, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l., from the day on which the vessels ought to have been ready for survey, for every day during which they shall not be ready for such survey. And we further engage that such vessels shall be complete for sea on the 22d December 1863, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l., from the day on which the vessels ought to have been complete for sea, for every day during which they shall not be complete for sea.

And we hereby agree to commence the said service on the 1st of January 1864; and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we hereby agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that day until the said service shall be commenced by us.

And we further hereby agree that such respective sums of 10 l., 10 l., and 100 l. are to be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained, by reason of all or any one or more of such failures; or, in the event of any one or more of such failures, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining any agreement for such service by us.

And we do hereby agree to execute a contract according to the said conditions, marked A., and for the performance of the said service.

We are, &c.
For self and colleagues,

The Secretary of the Post Office.

N.B.—All tenders to be made upon this printed form, and to be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. No tender will be received, unless it be made precisely according to the preceding printed form; although in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, the parties tendering may suggest for consideration any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

CONDITIONS of the TENDERS to be received for a CONTRACT for the Conveyance of HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES. (Referred to as marked A.)

1. THE service required to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails, from the 1st January 1864, by the following routes, viz.:—

Main Route.

(a.) From the port in the United Kingdom, to be named in the tender, to Jamaica and back, calling, both going and returning, at Falmouth (Antigua) and at Jacmel (Hayti).

Branch Routes.

(b.) From Antigua to Demerara and back, calling, both going and returning, at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

(c.) From Barbadoes to Tobago and back, calling, both going and returning, at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad.

(d.) From Jamaica to Tampico and back, calling, both going and returning, at Havanna and Vera Cruz.

(e.) From Jamaica to Colon and back.

(f.) From Colon to Santa Martha and back, calling, both going and returning, at Carthagena.

(g.) From Colon to Blewfields and back, calling, both going and returning, at Greytown.

(h.) From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras) and back.

2. The parties tendering to state the sum demanded—first, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on routes a, b, c, and e, once in each calendar month on routes d, f, g, and h; and secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the routes.

3. The tenders must provide for the mails being conveyed from the United Kingdom to Jamaica in 410 hours; from Jamaica to the United Kingdom in 430 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours; from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; between Jamaica and Colon in 52 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours; from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Blewfields in 38 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours. The periods here given are in each case exclusive of stoppages, the duration of which will be fixed by the Postmaster General.

4. The parties tendering may also state upon what terms they would perform the several services in a greater or less number of hours.

5. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails" are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article sent by the post, to whatever country or place they may be addressed, or in whatever country or place they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used, or to be used, in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by, or to, or from the Post Office.

6. A premium of 25*l.* will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, whether on a main or a branch route, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

7. A penalty of 500*l.* to be incurred when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time; and also the sum of 500*l.* for every successive day which shall elapse after such appointed time; and a penalty of 50*l.* for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, whether on the main or a branch route, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty, for delay on any one voyage, shall never exceed the portion of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such portion is, in all cases, in proportion to the mileage.

8. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at, or within, the appointed time, as a breach of the contract.

9. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make, on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable, when it is proved, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

10. The contractors must engage to supply, during the continuance of the contract and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service within the time stipulated in the tender.

11. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by him, or by the Lords of the Admiralty.

12. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to bemanned with legally qualified and competent officers, and a sufficient crew of able-seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for, in whole or in part, by the Government.

13. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty, and any defect discovered on such survey to be immediately made good by the contractors. This survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

14. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel from any port for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

15. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed, on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or, failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

16. The contractors to provide at their sole cost, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure lock and key.

17. In the event of the Postmaster General requiring it, a sorting-room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting the sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General; but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must also be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

18. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided, free of expense, for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute, for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with a servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

19. The mails shall be conveyed in the vessels, and be delivered and received at each of the places to which the vessels are to proceed in the performance of the contract; and at each port or place where the mails are to be delivered and received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever and as often as by him deemed practicable or necessary, be conveyed on shore, and also from the shore to the vessel employed in the performance of the contract, together with, or, if necessary for the performance of the duties of such officer, without Her Majesty's mails, in a suitable and seaworthy boat, of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail-bags, and to be provided and properly manned and equipped by the contractors.

20. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the said mails, or any part thereof, in the care of the master or commander of any of the said vessels, the said master or commander shall, without any expense to the public, take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. He shall also make the usual Post Office oath or declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

21. The contractors must not receive, or permit to be received, on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters for conveyance other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails, except any letters not required by law to pass through the Post Office. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

22. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors shall, at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General, or any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

23. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors; or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

24. The contractors shall, when and as often as in writing they or the masters of their respective vessels shall be required so to do by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the person or persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for him or them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majestys's Service, not exceeding ten, and their wives and children, as deck passengers, to be effectually protected from sun, rain, and bad weather; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers respectively and others being required to be conveyed.

25. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 18, to be paid (in full of all charge for mess) at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

26. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz. :—

"I hereby certify that on the . . . . . I embarked at . . . as a . . . passenger on board the mail steam-packet . . . for passage to . . . and landed at . . . on the . . . ."

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz.:—

"I further certify that the first dinner-meal taken on board was on the , and the last dinner-meal on the .
Dated this day of ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated, by the master of the packet adding, underneath the passenger's signature,—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct."

(signed)
Master of the packet."

27. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

28. Whenever the contractors shall convey any soldiers as deck passengers, other than those specially provided for by the contractors, the contractors must provide them with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather, such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

29. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey without charge, any number of small packages containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles, and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, two days' previous notice) receive on board any naval or other stores, not exceeding 10 tons' weight at any one time in any one vessel, and shall convey and deliver the same, at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods, to, from, and between all or any of the ports or places to or from which the mails are to be conveyed, in performance of the contract, when so directed by the Postmaster General or his agents, or by the British naval officer in command of the station; and the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages, articles, and stores.

30. The contract to be terminable on a notice of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

31. The

31. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

32. Payments will be made quarterly, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of the Post Office, of certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed, subject to the amount of penalties and other sums (if any) being thereout deducted.

33. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or, failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

34. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

35. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

36. In case of any great or habitual breach of the contract, the Postmaster General may terminate it without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

37. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share or part of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

38. The contractors to be bound with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 35,000*l.*, for the due fulfilment of the contract; and they must furnish the names of persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of the sureties proposed.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or indeed to accept any tender.

Enclosure 2, in No. 38.

TENDER for STEAM VESSELS for Conveying HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between NEW YORK and the WEST INDIES.

Sir, London, 1 November 1862.

WE hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's mails fornightly, each way, on Routes a, g, and h, and monthly, each way, on Routes b, c, d, e, and f, by a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, for the sum of 175,000*l.* per annum, subject to the several conditions marked A.

Or, subject to the like conditions, we will convey the mails monthly, each way, on all the routes, for the sum of 150,000*l.* per annum.

Provided we be allowed 240 hours between New York and Colon, and 216 hours between Colon and New York, exempt from absolute penalties (observing that in this case we shall agree without additional subsidy to extend at once the route from New York to Halifax), we will perform the whole service fortnightly, each way, on Routes a, g, and h, and monthly on Routes b, c, d, e, and f, for the sum of 130,000*l.* per annum; or monthly, each way, on all the routes, for the sum of 110,000*l.* per annum.

If Halifax, Nova Scotia, be substituted for New York in Route a, we will perform the whole service fortnightly, each way, on Routes a, g, h, and monthly, each way, on Routes b, c, d, e, and f, for the sum of 175,000*l.* per annum; or monthly, each way, on all the routes, for the sum of 150,000*l.* per annum.

We will agree to an abatement of 25,000*l.* in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to an abatement of 10,000*l.* from the subsidy demanded; and if the contract be made for seven years certain, we will agree to an abatement of 15,000*l.* from the subsidy.

We propose as our sureties, in the penalty of 35,000*l.* Mr. of , and Mr. of ; and we refer you to as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties. See accompanying letter.

In the event of the tender being accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 1st December 1863, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10*l.*, from the day on which the vessels ought to have been ready for survey, for every day during which they shall not be ready for such survey. And we further engage that such vessels shall be complete for sea on the 15th December 1863, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10*l.*, from the day on which the vessels ought to have been complete for sea, for every day during which they shall not be complete for sea.

And we hereby agree to commence the said service on the 1st of January 1864, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we hereby agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100*l.* for every day from that day until the said service shall be commenced by us.

And we further hereby agree that such respective sums of 10*l.*, 10*l.*, and 100*l.* are to be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures; or, in the event of any one or more of such failures, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining any agreement for such service by us.

And we do hereby agree to execute a contract according to the said conditions marked A, and for the performance of the said service.

We are, &c.
(signed) For self and colleagues,
R. Fred. Moore,

The Secretary of the Post Office.

N.B.—All tenders to be made upon this printed Form, and to be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between New York and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. No tender will be received unless it be made precisely according to the preceding printed Form, although, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, the parties tendering may suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions or otherwise.

CONDITIONS of the TENDERS to be received for a CONTRACT for the CONVEYANCE of HER MAJESTY'S MAILS between NEW YORK and the WEST INDIES. (Referred to as marked A.)

1. THE service required to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails, from the 1st January 1864, by the following routes; viz.:—

(a) From New York to Colon, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Kingston (Jamaica).

(b) From Jamaica to Tampico, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Havana and Vera Cruz.

(c) From Jamaica to Falmouth (Antigua), and back, calling, both going and returning, at Jacmel (Hayti), Porto Rico, St. Thomas, and St. Kitts.

(d) From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras), and back.

(e) From Colon to Santa Martha, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Carthagena.

(f) From Colon to Blewfields, and back, calling, both going and returning, at Greytown.

(g) From Martinique to Demerara, and back, calling, both going and returning, at St. Lucia, Barbadoes, St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago.

(h) From Martinique to Antigua, and back, calling both going and returning, at Dominica.

2. The parties tendering to state the sum demanded—first, if the service be performed fortnightly on Routes a, g, and h, and monthly on Routes b, c, d, e, and f; and secondly, if the service be performed monthly on all the routes.

The parties tendering further to state the sum demanded in the event of Halifax, Nova Scotia, being substituted for New York, in Route a.

3. The tenders must provide for the mails being conveyed between New York and Colon in 196 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; from Jamaica to Antigua in 103 hours; from Antigua to Jamaica in 103 hours; between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours; from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Blewfields in 38 hours; between Martinique and Demerara in 90 hours; and between Martinique and Antigua in 17 hours. The periods here given are in each case exclusive of stoppages, the duration of which will be fixed by the Postmaster General.

4. The parties tendering may also state upon what terms they would perform the several services in a greater or less number of hours.

5. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails" are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article sent by the post, to whatever country or place they may be addressed, or in whatever country or place they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

6. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage may be less than that allowed under the contract.

7. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time; and also the sum of 500 l. for every successive day which shall elapse after such appointed time; and a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the portion of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such portion is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

8. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed time, as a breach of the contract.

9. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

10. The contractors must engage to supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service, within the time stipulated in the tender.

11. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by him or by the Lords of the Admiralty.

12. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers and a sufficient crew of able-seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for, in whole or in part, by the Government.

13. The vessels are to be subject, at all times, to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty, and any defect discovered on such survey to be immediately made good by the contractors. This survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

14. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel from any port for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

15. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed, on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration, to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

16. The contractors to provide at their sole cost, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure lock and key.

17. In the event of the Postmaster General requiring it, a sorting-room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting the sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General; but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must also be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

18. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided, free of expense, for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute, for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office, to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with a servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

19. The mails shall be conveyed in the vessels, and be delivered and received at each of the places to which the vessels are to proceed in the performance of the contract; and at each port or place where the mails are to be delivered and received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever and as often as by him deemed practicable or necessary, be conveyed on shore, and also from the shore to the vessel employed in the performance of the contract, together with, or, if necessary for the performance of the duties of such officer, without Her Majesty's Mails, in a suitable and seaworthy boat, of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail-bags, and to be provided and properly manned and equipped by the contractors.

20. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the said mails, or any part thereof, in the care of the master or commander of any of the said vessels, the master or commander shall, without any expense to the public, take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. He shall also make the usual Post Office oath or declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

21. The contractors must not receive, or permit to be received on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters for conveyance, other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails, except any letters not required by law to pass through the Post Office. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

22. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractor, shall at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General, or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

23. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable, or which may thereafter become payable to the contractors; or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

24. The contractors shall, when and as often as in writing they or the masters of their respective vessels shall be required so to do by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the person or persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for him or them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, and also their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding 10, and their wives and children, as deck passengers, to be effectually protected from sun, rain, and bad weather; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers respectively, and others being required to be conveyed.

25. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 18, to be paid (in full of all charge for mess) at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

26. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person, in the following form, viz.:—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the mail steam-packet for passage to , and landed at , on the ."

27. The

27. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

28. Whenever the contractors shall convey any soldiers as deck passengers, other than those specially provided for by the contract, the contractors must provide them with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather, such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

29. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey without charge, any number of small packages containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, two days' previous notice), receive on board any naval or other stores not exceeding 10 tons' weight, at any one time, in any one vessel, and shall convey and deliver the same at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods to, from, and between all or any of the ports or places to or from which the mails are to be conveyed, in performance of the contract, when so directed by the Postmaster General, or his agents, or by the British naval officer in command of the station; and the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages, articles and stores.

30. The contract to be terminable on a notice of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

31. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month, without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a resolution of the House.

32. Payments will be made quarterly, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General of the Post Office, of certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed, subject to the amount of penalties and other sums (if any) being thereout deducted.

33. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

34. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

35. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

36. In case of any great or habitual breach of the contract, the Postmaster General may terminate it without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

37. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. III., c. 45, no member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share or part of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

38. The contractors to be bound with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 35,000 l., for the due fulfilment of the contract; and they must furnish the names of persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of the sureties proposed.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or indeed to accept any tender.

TENDERS for HOME and WEST INDIAN, and NEW YORK and WEST INDIAN Mail Services.

88, Cannon-street West, E. C.,
1 November 1862.

Sir,

I FIND that by a clerical error in my supplemental letter of this date, accompanying the tenders signed by me for the Home and West Indian, and for the

New York and West Indian Mail Service, a blank has been left for the subsidy of the first combination.

I beg to inform you that the sum to be inserted is 125,000 l. for that subsidy, to be paid annually.

As this is a matter beyond the scope of the regular tenders, and inasmuch as it is probable that the subject will be submitted to Parliamentary inquiry, I take the liberty of requesting that this correction may be made.

I also annex the copy of the guarantee furnished by us to Messrs. Bolmida Brothers, of Turin, who have become answerable for our caution money (40,000*l.*) to the Italian Government for a similar service, and if you entertain our proposal, we shall furnish solvent sureties for the amount required in this case.

I have, &c.

Gentlemen,

In the event of Messrs. A. Leslie & Co. of this place, in conjunction with Mr. R. Moore, of London, making a contract with the Italian Government to build them certain steam-ships, we hereby guarantee to the extent of 40,000 l. sterling, by way of caution money, that they will properly perform and carry out any contract they may make and sign their names to.

In case the guarantee of the Union Bank of London should be preferred or required, in addition to our own, we undertake to procure it, in due course, to the same effect as this.

Sir,

The Postmaster General having communicated with the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury respecting the result of the advertisements issued by this Department for tenders for conveying Her Majesty's mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies, I am now directed to inform you that their Lordships have decided not to accept any of the tenders sent in, but to cause the service to be advertised afresh under such amended conditions as will admit of parties tendering either for a part or for the whole of the service.

The new conditions of tender will be ready for issue in the course of a few days.

SUPPLEMENTARY TENDER for the Conveyance of MAILS between the UNITED KINGDOM and the WEST INDIES.

88, Cannon street West,
2 February 1863.

Sir,

I HAVE the honour to submit herewith the tenders, in conformity with the printed conditions, issued for this day (No. 1).

However, it is probable that the price therein stated will appear but little at variance with the claims of the established companies, and it is, I believe, incontestible that, under the official conditions, a successful performance of the service cannot be effected at a very moderate rate of subsidy, partly on account of the short term (which is easily explained), and partly in respect of the penalties and other obstructive regulations. As the present form of tender indicates a purpose that reasonable modifications of those conditions should be taken into consideration, I am empowered to make accordingly the following tenders in substitution of those above mentioned (No. 1) :—

1st. Combination. Restricting the service of the lines described in the printed form and the term, to seven years. I offer to perform the line A. alone, or conjointly with the branches B. to G., for the annual subvention of 75,000 l., and the said branches B. to G., connected with the line A., but not separated from it, for the annual subvention of 33,000 l., making, if together, the total yearly sum of 108,000 l., subject, however, to the modification of the conditions marked A. of the Post Office form, suggested in the explanatory details (No. 2) accompanying the tender, without reference to the special stipulations which do not in this case apply.

2d. Combination. An extension of the trunk service for those lines left uncovered, in the present arrangements, for the Atlanto-Pacific correspondence under the British flag, and that desideratum will be attained at an expense to the Imperial exchequer considerably less than must be entailed by the West Indian service alone, and without the benefit of enlarged communication :

1. The Central American Trunk Line.
2. The Mexican Gulf branches to New Granada, Honduras, Cuba, and Mexico, as also the Inter-insular route.
3. From the British North American provinces (east coast), calling at Norfolk (Virginia), at the principal stations of the West Indies, at Demerara, and as far south as Bahia.
4. To New Columbia, and ultimately to China.
5. To Australasia, with nearly simultaneous delivers from New Zealand to Queensland, New South Wales, and the Southern Colonies.

This service commencing monthly, would be progressively expanded to weekly departures, so that to the British Government and Atlantic Colonies the rate of subvention in the outset being only about 2 s. and $3\frac{8}{10}$ d. would be reduced to $6\frac{9}{10}$ d. per nautical mile, and for a final period not exceeding 21 years, wholly cease.

The amount required for this is only 100,000 l. per annum from the Imperial Government and the British Atlantic Colonies, leaving the remaining contributions of the Pacific Colonies to be met accordingly as those colonies would severally arrange for the establishment of their respective lines. Provided, however, the Postmaster General may approve the special stipulations and modifications of the Post Office form (with any mutually satisfactory variation the circumstances may require), set forth in the said Explanatory Details (No. 2).

The subject has required a greater length of observation than is desirable for a simple proposition for mail service under the old system. We have exposed ourselves, perhaps, to a charge of prolixity, which we prefer to leaving imperfectly stated terms on which the service may not only be improved, but rendered independent of subsidies, a point to which economists are directing their earnest attention.

In respect to guarantee, it has been already urged that this requirement deviating from the usual course of such contracts, cannot be met by us till after the tenders have been presented, because the details of tender cannot be divulged beforehand. Nevertheless, sureties will be provided for any amount not exceeding one sum of 40,000 l. in the event of this proposal being entertained for consideration. Security to that amount in the shape of caution-money, has been already provided for other negotiations, as explained in the former statement of the 1st of November last, which was verified by a copy of the bankers' guarantee annexed. If the present offer be accepted, it is intended that a similar credit will be made available for this contract.

It is further proposed, as a condition of the term of contract, to increase that guarantee to 60,000 l. at the expiration of the first three years; to 80,000 l. at the close of the fifth year, and raise it to 100,000 l. within seven years, as stated in section 13 of the Explanatory Details (No. 2), for the purposes therein mentioned. By this arrangement, will be effectually secured the desired extinction of subsidy, of which, under the prevailing system of short terms and of conditions adverse to commercial economy, there appears no immediate prospect. On the other hand, of course if this progression of security be not effectuated, the contract will be liable to be annulled at the discretion of the Postmaster General.

To avoid greater complication of the subject, I abstain at present from enumerating other terms which may be deemed desirable in the public interest, referring in other respects to the said Explanatory Details (No. 2).

I have, &c.

Enclosure 1, in No. 42.

No. 1.—Tender.

TENDER for Steam Vessels for conveying Her Majesty's Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies.

88, Cannon Street West, E.C.,
Sir, London, 2 February 1863.

We hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's mails by steam vessels on the following lines, and on the conditions marked A, for the sum of 185,000 l. per annum, on the whole series of lines in the annexed scheme of "service" mentioned, adopting, however, exclusively the line A, with the omission of the call at Antigua and Hayti, and subject to any desired modification for the despatch of the branch mails, consequent on such omission. The foregoing price is for the fortnightly service on lines A, B, C, with monthly or fortnightly service (at the option of the Postmaster General), on the other lines. For the monthly service on all the lines, the price at which we will perform it is 135,000 l. per annum. The time to be that stated in paragraph 3 of the said scheme of "service," with this exception, that we are prepared to reduce the time on the line A, subject to the omission above proposed, to 384 hours between the United Kingdom and Colon, and to 408 hours between Colon and the United Kingdom; provided, in regard to this exception, we be made exempt from absolute penalties. We also offer to convey the mails fortnightly on the line A alone, for the sum of 120,000 l. per annum, or monthly for the sum of 75,000 l. per annum, adopting either of the alternative routes proposed, at the option of the Postmaster General. These tenders are on the condition that no other line to the West Indies is subsidized, as suggested by paragraph 6 of the said scheme of "service."

The port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed, to be the port of Cork.

We will agree to an abatement of 15,000 l. in the amount of the subsidy first mentioned, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

We will further agree to an abatement of 10,000 l. in the amount of the subsidy, if conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 be omitted.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of 10,000 l. from the subsidy; and if it be made for seven years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of 15,000 l.

The foregoing deductions to be reduced pro ratâ on the service performed monthly.

See supplementary tender.

We propose as our sureties, in the penalty of £.——, Mr. of , and Mr. of , and we refer you to , as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

Should this tender be accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be complete and ready for sea on the 27th December 1863, in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l. for every day's delay beyond that time. And should the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th conditions be retained, we further engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the 22d December 1863; in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty a like sum of 10 l. for every day's delay beyond that time, provided the definite confirmation of the contract be not delayed beyond the 15th March next. If the ratification of the contract be deferred, a corresponding extension of time for survey and starting should be allowed.

We beg to refer to our supplemental tender, under this same date, in respect to the modification of the present terms which we have the honour to propose.

We agree to commence the service on the 1st of January 1864, and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that time until the said service shall be commenced by us.

We further agree that every sum of 10 l. and 100 l. herein mentioned shall be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures. Moreover, should any one or more of such failures take place, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining the contract.

And we hereby agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked A.

We are, &c.

(signed) For self and colleagues,

The Secretary of the Post Office. R. Fred. Moore.

N.B.—All tenders must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. Other things equal, a preference will be given to a tender made upon this printed form and in exact accordance therewith. Even, however, when this printed form is used, the parties tendering may, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

SERVICE.

The service to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails, by steam-vessels, from the 1st January 1864, by the following lines, viz:—

Line A.—From a port in the United Kingdom, to be named in the tender, to Colon (New Granada) and back; calling, both going and returning, at Falmouth (Antigua), Jacmel (Hayti), and Kingston (Jamaica); or the same line, omitting the call both at Antigua and Hayti.

Line B.—From Antigua to Demerara and back; calling, both going and returning, at Gaudaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

Line C.—From Barbadoes to Tobago and back; calling, both going and returning, at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad.

Line D.—From Jamaica to Tampico and back; calling, both going and returning, at Havana and Vera Cruz: or from Antigua to Tampico and back; calling at St. Kitts, St. Thomas, San Juan (Porto Rico), Havana, and Vera Cruz.

Line E.—From Colon to Santa Martha and back; calling, both going and returning, at Carthagena.

Line F.—From Colon to Greytown and back.

Line G.—From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras) and back.

The parties tendering to state the sum demanded—first, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on Lines A, B, and C, and once in each calendar month on Lines D, E, F, and G; and, secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the lines.

The parties tendering must also state the time, in hours, which they will require to perform the different services (exclusive of such stoppages as may be ordered by the Postmaster General), and the sum demanded for the several services. Although it is not compulsory, the parties are invited to state for what sum they would perform the services (exclusive of the above-mentioned stoppages), in the following times:—From the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Antigua, Hayti, and Jamaica, in 462 hours; from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at the same places, in 482 hours; from the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Jamaica only, in 432 hours, and from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at Jamaica only, in 460 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours, and from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; from Antigua to Tampico in 230 hours, and from Tampico to Antigua in 290 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours, and from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Greytown in 30 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours.

The tenders may be for any one or more of the services, or for all the services combined.

Parties tendering for Line A, must state the sum demanded,—first, if the packets call at Antigua and Hayti; and, secondly, if those calls are omitted.

Parties tendering for Lines B and C only must state for what additional sum they would substitute for these two lines an independent service, once in each calendar month, from a port in the United Kingdom (to be specified) to Demerara and back, calling at Gaudaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes, with a branch from Barbadoes to St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago; and for what additional sum they would perform such a service twice in each calendar month.

CONDITIONS.—Referred to as marked A.

1. Under the term "Her Majesty's Mails" are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article transmissible by the post, without regard either to the place to which they may be addressed, or that in which they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

2. A premium of 25*l.* will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, on any line, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

3. A penalty of 500*l.* to be incurred on each occasion when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time, and a further penalty of 100*l.* for every day which shall elapse until the vessel shall proceed to sea, and continue her voyage with the mails; also a penalty of 50*l.* for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, on any line, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the part of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such part is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

4. The arrangements for determining and recording the exact time of arrival and departure of the vessels to be under the exclusive regulation of the Postmaster General, whose decision on all matters relating thereto shall be final.

5. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to peform a voyage at or within the appointed period, as a breach of the contract.

6. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

7. The contractors must supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service, within the time stipulated in the tender.

8. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by the Lords of the Admiralty.

9. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers, and a sufficient crew of able seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for, in whole or in part, by the Government.

10. The vessels are to be subject, at all times, to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty or Post Office, and any defect discovered on such survey must immediately be made good by the contractors; failing which, the vessel to be considered unfit for use, and the contractors to become liable to the penalties named in the 3d condition. The survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

11. The parties tendering to state what abatement they would make in the subsidy if Conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 were omitted, and the Postmaster General, content with specifying the time within which the mails must be conveyed, left the means of accomplishment wholly to the contractors.

12. The

12. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the the departure of any vessel, from any port, for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

13. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed, on giving reasonable notice to the contractors. The additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

14. The contractors to provide, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure locks and keys.

15. Should the Postmaster General require it, a room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting this sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General; but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

16. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with an assistant or servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and assistants and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

17. At each port where the mails are to be delivered or received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever he may deem it necessary, be conveyed to the shore, and back, with or without Her Majesty's mails (as he may desire), in a suitable boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail-bags, and to be properly manned and equipped.

18. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the mails in the care of the commander of any of the vessels, such commander shall take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. The commander shall also make the usual Post Office declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such other services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

19. Except such letters as are not required by law to pass through the Post Office, the contractors must not receive, or permit to be received for conveyance on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any Colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

20. The contractors and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors shall, at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General, or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

21. Except where otherwise specified, none of the duties enumerated in the foregoing conditions shall give the contractors any claim to remuneration beyond the general subsidy.

22. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable, or which may thereafter become payable, to the contractors, or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

23. The contractors shall, whenever they or the masters of their respective vessels may be required so to do, in writing, by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding ten, with their wives and children, as deck passengers; due notice being given (if practicable) to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation of such officers or others being required to be conveyed.

24. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 16, to be paid at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

 25. When

25. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz.:—

"I hereby certify that on the
I embarked at as a passenger

and landed at on the ."

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz.:—

"I further certify that the first dinner-meal taken on board was on the
and the last dinner-meal on the

"Dated this day of (signed) ."

And the correctness of the dates must be corroborated by the master of the packet adding, underneath the passenger's signature,—

"The dates inserted in this certificate are correct."

(signed)

Master of the Packet."

26. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

27. The deck passengers mentioned in the 23d condition, together with any like persons other than those specially provided for by the contract, who may be conveyed as deck passengers, must be provided with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather; such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

28. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, on behalf of the Admiralty, without charge, any small packages which may be tendered for conveyance, containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, or from the British naval officer in command of the station, two days' previous notice) receive on board any naval or other stores, not exceeding ten tons' weight at any one time in any one vessel, and shall convey and deliver such stores at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods. And the said contractors shall, in all cases, be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages and stores.

29. The contract to be terminable on a notice, by either party, of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

30. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

31. Subject to deductions for penalties or otherwise, payments will be made quarterly, at the Post Office, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General, of certificates from the proper officers that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed.

32. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or, failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

33. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

34. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

35. In case of the breach of the 34th condition, or in case of any great or habitual breach of the contract of any other kind, the Postmaster General to have power to terminate the contract without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

36. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

37. For

37. For the due fulfilment of the contract, the contractors must enter into a bond, with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 20,000 l. for Line A.; 7,000 l for Lines B. and C.; 10,000 l. for Line D.; 3,000 l. for Line E.; 3,000 l. for Line F.; 3,000 l. for Line G.; or, 35,000 l. for the whole of the lines—such penalties to be considered and recoverable as liquidated damages.

38. Should any dispute arise respecting the interpretation of any part of any contract to be framed on the basis of these conditions, the same shall be settled by arbitration in the usual manner.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or even to accept any tender.

Enclosure 2, in No. 42.

No. 2.—Explanatory Details.

Supplementary Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies.

Maritime Steam Company, 88, Cannon-street West, E.C.,
London, 2 February 1863.

To the Secretary of the Post Office:

1. In pursuance of the leave reserved by the foot-note (part) of the Form of Tender for the above service, the undersigned has the honour to make the following alternative propositions, by way of supplementary tender:—

First Combination.

2. As a separate proposal for the West Indian lines only to which the accompanying tenders (No. 1) relate, in accordance with the form issued by the Post Office Department, the undersigned is prepared to contract, under guarantee, for the terms respectively stated in the conditions marked A., No. 37, as applicable thereto, for the conveyance of the mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies, at the following reduced prices, provided the several modifications hereinafter suggested (paras. 16 to 29 inclusive), in regard to the said conditions marked A., be adopted by the Postmaster General, and provided no other independent or competing line from the United Kingdom or from any European port to the West Indies be authorised or subsidized by Her Majesty's Government.

3. The trunk line A., from Cork Harbour to Colon, calling at a station near the Mona Passage, to tranship the mails for the Windward Islands and Demerara, if desired, and calling at Jamaica as the principal West Indian station, to be run fortnightly, in 16 days outward to Colon, and 17 days homeward, exclusive of detention in port. Or, allowing a proportionate extension of time for the increased distance, the same line (A) fortnightly, calling at Antigua and Jamaica, with one extra day for the round voyage if the call at Jacmel be required, the contract to allow a discretionary call either way at a port of the Azores for coaling or otherwise. This service, in either form, will be performed alone or in conjunction with the branch lines next after mentioned, during the term of seven years (but not less), for the annual subsidy of 75,000 l.

4. And conjointly with the foregoing (but not apart from it), the branch B. and C. fortnightly, and D. E. F. and G. monthly, subject to such modifications as may be desired in regard to converting one or more of the lines D. E. F. G. into a fortnightly service, or in respect to the more convenient despatch of the branch services, at a rateable decrease or increase of the subvention; and for these branches the annual subsidy, for the term of seven years, to be 33,000 l.

5. Making, with the preceding, a total annual subsidy for the whole of the lines, as defined in the form of tender, of 108,000 l.

Second Combination.

6. The undersigned begs leave also to propose, in substitution of the foregoing, the following system of lines, as the most complete, efficient, and economical adjustment of the postal service, radiating from a central station, in the West Indies, to communicate directly with the mother country, and which can be established on a more moderate rate of subsidy than the limited service of the form of tenders, upon the special stipulations and modified conditions hereinafter set forth. In this case, the division of routes would be as follows:—1st. The trunk line, extending from the United Kingdom to a port of Central America (at present necessarily limited to Colon), having Jamaica as a central depôt (A.) 2d. The

Transatlantic branches (B. C. 1, or C. 2, D. E. and F.) 3d. The Pacific lines (G. H. J. 1, J. 2, J. 3, and K.); and for these the details of stations and time under way, exclusive of authorised delays, are as follows:—

The line A. From London to Colon, calling at Cork Harbour to take up mails (with a discretionary call at a port of the Azores for fuel, or otherwise), to a station at or near the Moria Passage, and thence to Port Royal (Jamaica), and forward to Colon, to be performed in 384 hours outward from Cork Harbour to Colon, and in 408 homewards.

The line B. From Halifax to Bahia, viâ Port Royal, and timing with line C. at Barbadoes, calling at Norfolk (Virginia), Havanna, Port Royal, Bridgetown (Barbadoes), Georgetown (Demerara), and at Pernambuco, to be performed in 624 hours between Halifax and Bahia, on the passage southward, and in 576 hours on the run northward.

The line C. 1. From Jamaica inter-insular route to Trinidad and Venezuela, calling at Jacmel (Hayti), St. Thomas, St. Kitts, Antigua, Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, Barbadoes, Grenada, Tobago, Trinidad, and forward to Laguayra, in 215 hours, on either run.

The line C. 2. Alternative route for inter-insular packets, timing with B. at Barbadoes, with departure from the Mona Station, on arrival of the trunk liners, calling at Porto Rico, St. Thomas, and thence following the rest of the last preceding itinerary to Port de Espagne and Laguayra, the whole in 165 hours on either run, saving about 2,068 miles, or nine days on the round voyage.

The line D. From Jamaica to Tampico, calling at Havanna and Vera Cruz, in 192 hours outwards, and 203 hours homewards.

The line E. From Colon to Carthagena and St. Martha on the one side, and to Greytown on the other (crossing at Colon to time with the trunk line), effecting the passage from St. Martha, calling at Carthagena and Colon, to Greytown in 69 hours, and the return in the same time.

The line F. From Jamaica to Belize, in 72 hours outward, and the return in 84 hours.

The line G. From Panama to Victoria (Vancouver), calling at one Mexican and one Californian port, in 408 hours, and the return in 432 hours.

The line H. From Panama to Wellington (New Zealand), viâ Peard Island, in 576 hours outward, and the same time homeward.

From line J. 1. From Wellington to Sydney, average passage 120 hours.

From line J. 2. From Wellington to Moreton Bay, average passage 158 hours.

From line J. 3. From Wellington to Georgetown (Tasmania), to Melbourne and to Adelaide, average passage in 196 hours.

From line K. From Victoria (Vancouver), calling at Nagasaki, to Shanghai, in 807 hours outward, and 708 hours homeward.

7. The total mileage on the monthly service after-mentioned would be, as computed, 863,304 nautical miles, and the rate of subsidy per nautical mile 6 s. $11\frac{4}{10}$ d.; the semi-monthly service would be 1,726,608 nautical miles, and the rate of subsidy 3 s. $5\frac{7}{10}$ d.; the thrice-a-month service would be 2,589,912 nautical miles, and the rate of subsidy 2 s. $3\frac{8}{10}$ d.; the weekly service would be 3,453,216 nautical miles, and the rate 1 s. $8\frac{6}{10}$ d.; while after 21 years no subsidy would be required.

Special Stipulations.

8. The foregoing scheme of passages is exclusive of the time for stoppages authorised by the Postmaster General. On the inter-insular route the speed will, so far as practicable, be accelerated to combine the meeting or crossing of the several lines, and to suit the convenience of local interests.

9. The service for the first two years is to be performed once a month on all the lines from the day of the first departure of each, and, by judiciously timing the Halifax line, this may be made to give practically, at the outset, a semi-monthly service from Europe to the West Indies, while it provides for the British North American Colonies direct intercourse with the West Indies, the Pacific, and the Brazils, which is a desideratum of political and commercial importance. At or before the expiration of two years, the service is to be doubled, or performed semi-monthly (twice a month). At or before the expiration of five years it is to be performed thrice a month, or every 10 days. At or before the expiration of seven years it is to be performed once every week, for the fixed payment or annual subvention hereinafter mentioned (sec. 11). One of the thrice-a-month departures and two of the weekly departures may, however, be by second-class packets of 10 knots average speed, and the Company to have the privilege of giving extra or intermediate departures by packets of third-class speed of eight knots average.

10. The

10. The first five ships for the Transatlantic Lines to be ready for survey on the 15th November next, and to be ready for sea one week before the dates appointed for their respective departures from their several stations, at Halifax, Jamaica, and Samana Bay. Each of the others to be employed in the same routes to be respectively ready at intervals of one month, so as to be ready for sea at their several stations one week before the dates of their respective departures. The first ship for the Main or Trunk Line (A) to be ready for survey on the 15th December 1863, and ready for sea one week before the time for the departure to be appointed by the Postmaster General. The first ship for each of the Pacific Lines will be ready for survey within eight months from receiving official approbation of the terms of the contract from the Colonial Government respectively, so far as they are concerned, and each of the said Pacific Lines will be commenced within three months from such survey. The succeeding ships for the Trunk and Pacific Lines will be ready for survey at intervals of one month from the preceding survey, and be ready for sea at their proper stations one week at least before the appointed departure; provided, however, that the confirmation of the contract be not deferred beyond the 15th March next. In case of any delay beyond that time in such confirmation, a corresponding extension of time for survey and starting is to be allowed.

11. The annual payment or subvention for the services above mentioned, to commence on and from the first departure of each line, will be as follows:—

On the routes A. B. C. 1 (or C. 2), D. E. and F. the British Government to be responsible for the annual payment of 100,000 l.

On the route G. the New Columbian Government to be responsible, in addition, for the sum of 20,000 l.

On the route H. the New Zealand Government to be responsible, in addition, for the sum of 30,000 l.

On the route J. 1 the New South Wales Government to be responsible, in addition, for the sum of 50,000 l.

On the route J. 2 the Queensland Government to be responsible, in addition, for the sum of 25,000 l.

On the route J. 3 the Government of Victoria (Australia), Tasmania, and South Australia to be severally responsible for a due apportionment, as may be arranged with the Imperial Government, of the additional sum of 75,000 l.;—making the total annual subvention of 300,000 l.

12. The line K. is to be deferred till five years from the acceptance either by the New Columbian or by the Home Government of the responsibility allocated to the line G. The votes already passed by New South Wales and New Zealand will be taken provisionally for the purpose of preparation, as confirmation for the lines J. 1 and J. 2. Of course, the adjustment of payment, within these limits of guarantee, is to be entirely in the discretion of the Imperial and the Colonial Government inter se. As to the equitable apportionment of charge, none of the Pacific lines is to be commenced until the corresponding responsibility for subvention is definitively adopted by the respective colonies; and no mails are to be made up, or included in others, for any of the colonies declining to adopt their several responsibilities above stated.

13. The duration of the contract is to be for 21 years, from the commencement of each line; in addition to which term, the Company will, if required, undertake to perform, without subvention, a continuation of the same service for a further period of 21 years; and as a guarantee of such condition, the Company will engage to give a charge on an adequate fund, or security in the hands of the Bank of England, or Bank of Ireland, for the sum of 100,000 l. (one hundred thousand pounds), to have effect at the expiration of seven years from the commencement of the service.

14. Superadded to the foregoing subvention, a remuneration is to be reserved out of the postal rates, as compensation for the increased duties above mentioned, and as an inducement to maintain the highest rate of speed consistent with safety and regularity, as follows:—

One penny per postal rate on letters, and one halfpenny per rate of parcel and journal rates, to be allowed to the Company, to provide for this additional mileage payment rateably with speed; 20 s. per mile for the maximum speed of each class of ships, which is equivalent to the sum allowed by the French Government for 24 years, with a speed of 9½ knots for its new Indo-China line; 17 s. 6 d. per mile for one knot less; 15 s. per mile for two knots less; 12 s. 6 d. per mile for three knots less, or the minimum of each class of ships, below which no remuneration is to be paid. The first-class or express packets to be rated for a maximum of 12 knots, and a minimum of nine knots; the second-class for a maximum of 10 knots, and a minimum of seven knots; and the third-class (intermediate) packets for a maximum of eight knots, and a minimum of five knots. If the proceeds of the fund do not realize the amount to be paid for these "mileage dues," the balance will be payable out of any surplus, in case thereafter compensation should exceed the stipulated rate, and not otherwise.

15. It is respectfully submitted that the presence of a civil postal agent for sorting and superintending the mails abroad is necessary (with an assistant on some lines), and every provision will be made for that arrangement, including lamps and attendants, to be approved by the Post Office, without extra charge, but no deduction will be made for their withdrawal; their rations in terminal ports, if they remain aboard, to be paid on a scale to be agreed; but all charges while the mail pendant is at the mast-head are included in the compensation hereinbefore mentioned. If Admiralty Agents be placed in charge of mails, with their servants, it will increase the subvention by the sum of 1,000 l. per annum for each ship employed on the several routes where they may be appointed.

MODIFICATIONS of the CONDITIONS referred to in the Form of Tenders, as marked A.

16. There are certain verbal corrections that may be suggested as manifestly subject of discussion. For instance, Article 1: the words, "Stores and other articles used in carrying on the Post Office service" are not, it is presumable, intended to apply to objects not employed in the conveyance of the mails. Under that wording the express packets might be required to carry coals and a variety of cargo, for which compensation is not calculated.

17. Article 2. Although no objection is raised in regard to the amount of penalties, it is suggested for consideration that the premiums should be put on a par with the penalties; 25 l. is not sufficient compensation for reducing time by a day, in a ship running 12 knots an hour, and expending for the purpose considerably more than the amount in fuel alone; and further, that upon the shorter voyages a subdivision of the period of premium should be taken into account.

18. Articles 3, 4, 5, 6. With regard to penalties, this proposal is on the express condition of exemption from absolute penalties. The captains of the ships should be bound by declaration to the public service, and held to use the utmost expedition on the voyage with reference to the time limited, wind, weather, and safety of ship, passengers, and mails, allowing deviation (consistent with the security of the mails) only in favour of saving life, and not for salvage of property. Beyond that, the steamers will be delivered on the following general specification:—For the Trunk and main Pacific (New Zealand) Lines each ship is to be built of best material and workmanship, equal to classification at Lloyd's for at least nine years, with extra strengthening; to have machinery for a trial speed of 15 knots, calculated to make an average, under ordinary circumstances, of 12½ knots an hour; special arrangements for ventilation, pumping, and the prevention of fire; treasure and mail rooms, with sorting-room, and all details to satisfy the established regulations for first-class passenger and mail steamers, as directed by the Postmaster General and Board of Trade, with capacity for fuel at the estimated full consumption on the longest run, and a reserve of 15 per cent. on the maximum consumption for the run. For the Branch Transatlantic and secondary Pacific lines the same conditions are to be observed, save that the trial speed is to be two knots above the average speed required for the respective passages, with capacity for the full consumption of the longest run, with 10 per cent. reserve.

19. All the ships are to be kept in the most perfect repair and seagoing order, and to be held liable periodically to inspection, and to trial of speed on the requisition of the Postmaster General. Then if delay ensue from incidents of severe weather, or of casualty to ship or machinery, it can only be taken as a result inevitable, which no human prudence can evade, and, therefore, clearly subject of discretionary exemption.

20. Articles 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. It is only the Article 8 that was before objected to, and it is needless to repeat the reason. The other three provisions are reasonable in regard to the requirements of the public, and especially for the safety of passengers and mails. The only thing to be desired is to give somewhat of precision to the expression "suitable ships," in order to preclude hereafter vexatious questions. They are manifestly, as described in the foregoing specification, to be defined, Ships, seaworthy, of adequate speed, with capacity for sufficient fuel on an ascertained consumption, and with space set apart for secure and convenient arrangements, to convey the mails—which is, in fact, the object of the contract, and for which alone the rate of payment is calculated.

21. Articles 12, 13. The following variation would meet the case put in the statement of 1st November last, in regard to the arbitrary changes of station; and without this correction, it would be doubtful whether the Company would not be exposed in such eventuality to serious and unindemnified losses: "The additional amount to be paid or deducted by way of reduced or increased subvention, or as compensation for any alteration, to be settled," &c. What if the Postmaster General intercepted the working of an entire branch, as he could do under these clauses of the form? In that case depôts, ships, and servants, permanently provided for that branch, would become a deadweight, as well as a loss of capital and income, to the Company, for which compensation might be denied. As formerly observed, any change of station or route might, and more or less must, inevitably occasion depreciation of property, and additional expenditure in regard to the old and new depôts, and very possibly in regard to ships. When the contractor has, by a large a large outlay and continuous loss, raised the traffic to a profit, the shifting of the service not only entails detriment as to depôts and other matters of importance, including advertisements (a leading item of expense), but breaks up his traffic, and leaves him to commence anew his ordeal of loss. After 20 years' experience, a certain precision of business may be afforded. The contractor is called on to estimate his ways and means for the cost of a pro formâ scheme of service, of which there is an elastic condition, which tells him the basis of his calculations is by no means definitive. It is respectfully submitted that this is not compatible with the principles of commercial accuracy: if the contract is to set aside those principles, a wide margin of price must be taken for the contingency, where economy and regularity must be sacrificed; and it is again urged, that the contractor should be allowed the option, in such event, of being indemnified for loss, of relinquishing the contract after reasonable notice.

22. Articles 14, 15. A watertight compartment will be provided for the mails, as well as sorting-rooms, and every appliance of the service afloat, without charge to the Post Office. But the words "services of crew," in Article 15, is to some extent vague, and might conduce to misunderstanding and serious inconvenience in the work of the ship: it is, therefore, deferentially proposed to substitute—"Proper attendance, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, must be given in the conveyance of the mails, &c."

23. Articles 16, 17, and 18. The only notice applicable to these is in reference to the provision for Civil or Naval Agents, as before stated at Section 15.

24. Article 19. The only exception to this condition to be solicited would be in relation to foreign mails shipped, under conditions of reciprocal facilities, aboard these steamers from vessels under a foreign flag working in coalition, or shipped in a foreign port to be delivered in a foreign port, reserving the penny mileage dues to the ship, and in no respect interfering with Her Majesty's Mail Service, orthetransit rates or regulations in the British Dominions. It is clearly in the public interests to have mutual facilities of correspondence through such combinations. These foreign mails would, in fact, be so much merchandise apart from the British mails, which the ship is paid for carrying, but not exclusively, at the reduced price here computed.

25. Articles 20, 21, 22. No objection.

26. Articles 23 to 27. The reconsideration of these articles as to the conveyance of third-class passengers seems desirable. The ships to be employed are not destined for deck passengers, no more than are express trains for Parliamentary traffic; and they will have no waste space that may be converted to that purpose. The expense of providing occasional deck berthing and the inconvenience to other passengers would make this provision a great impediment to business—the decks, as designed, being only sufficient for first and second-class passengers and ship's works. Ample means of conveyance may be obtained otherwise to suit third-class passengers; whilst the colliers of the Company, intended to ply periodically with accommodation for that class, will afford better berthing for seamen, rank-and-file, and their families than deck covering. The practical effect would be that 10 men with their families (seldom averaging in number less than three or four), with occasional interlopers, might require the closing-in and berthing of the whole fore-deck, to the great discomfort of regular passengers, and to the obstruction of the crew in their duty, without arguing that it might legally affect the ship's register. In a word, the charges of a steamer built for extraordinary speed will not, compatibly with moderate subsidy, admit of third-class or deck passengers. If such are of necessity to be forwarded in the express steamers for public service, they ought to be sent as second-class travellers. It is proposed to substitute for the language of the form in this particular, that "Aboard vessels of the Company carrying deck or third-class passengers, the stipulated number of seamen, mariners, and soldiers with their families, in the character of third-class passengers, shall be conveyed as required, and that, in accordance with the Merchant Shipping Act as to non-effective measurement for deck covering, approved protection for any such deck passengers be provided."

27. Articles 24, 25, 26, will require some revision as to the time of payment for officers' families, the limit of time before sailing for engaging official berths, quantity of luggage, restriction in the number of individuals under the title of "families" to have precedence of other passengers, exception as to persons in declining health, or affected by disease which might subject the ship to quarantine, and other matters. These may be stated in detail, by regulations to be approved by the Postmaster General.

28. Article 28. The foregoing remuneration being exclusively for postal service, it is submitted that no gratuitous conveyance of Admiralty parcels should be stipulated. There can be no objection to fixing a reduced scale of charge for the duty—say, as a maximum, half what is now paid on parcels in first-class steamers. But it is well known that private purposes are mostly served by this privilege (like the abuse of abolished franking); and it ought, therefore, to be discontinued, especially as it interferes with the necessary control aboard in regard to other parcels, and with respect to smuggling by the crew.

29. Articles 29 and 30 to 39. The first of these would not be applicable to the present proposal, but the remaining clauses, from 30 to 39 inclusive, would naturally, with some verbal improvements perhaps, be appropriate to any contract to give effect to the foregoing modifications.

30. In conclusion, the undersigned ventures to repeat that these supplemental tenders have been framed with a view to the greatest economy in respect to subsidy, the utmost accommodation and efficiency, as well as the progressive expansion of postal service, to arrive at the ulterior extinction of State contribution.

The adoption of the most westerly port for final departure and landfall is now justified by the continued success of the Cunard steamers, both on arrival and departure : for the West Indian passage, it is confidently asserted, still greater advantage will accrue; and as it is now ascertained that a gain of hours is of consequence, even on long distances, the terms of this offer may deserve a preference. The entire system proposed extends the benefit of our maritime port where recognised deficiency exists; while further reduction of time is possible, it shortens (notwithstanding the margin necessary for contract) the voyage and course of post on all the lines, and notably on the main West India route, four days, even on the time of the form of tender; it affords to Australasia and New Columbia the most favourable channels of correspondence; and at the same time it connects the British North American Colonies with the West Indies, the Brazils, and the Pacific, objects of paramount benefit to their trade. The modified conditions have been substituted for those of the form, in order to render the basis of contract fair and mutually beneficial. If the present be entertained, every explanation will be afforded, so that every objectionable particular may be varied to an acceptable arrangement. It is unnecessary for this proposition to further complicate it by stating conditions which, it is thought, may considerably reduce the subsidy after the first 10 years; this, however, is reserved, should the subject be opened for discussion. The opposition, particularly of the French Transatlantic Company—which has the large remuneration during 20 years of 372,000 l. per annum for the New York and West Indian Lines, with an unvarying mileage (and an advance of no less than 744,000 l.)—and other competition in course of preparation, make it indispensable, not only that every favour in regard to form and security of business should be accorded to the contractors for the British mails in the same direction, but that exceptional inducements should be allowed, for the purpose of bringing the price of service to a limit so moderate as that which, on comparison with the demands of our competitors, the undersigned hopes these tenders may appear to present.

Mr. F. Hill to Mr. R. F. Moore.

Sir, General Post Office, 1st May 1863.

The Postmaster General having communicated with the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury respecting the result of the advertisements issued by this Department for tenders for conveying Her Majesty's Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies, I am now directed to inform you, that his Lordship does not accept the tender which you made on behalf of the Maritime Steam Company (Limited).

I am, &c.

R. F. Moore, Esq. (signed) F. Hill.

— No. 44. —

TENDER for Steam Vessels for Conveying Her Majesty's Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies.

Sir,

We hereby offer to convey Her Majesty's Mails by steam-vessels on the following lines, and on the conditions marked A, for the sum of 216,000 l. per annum, being a reduction of 10 per cent. on the present subsidy in money; and we further offer to make a reduction of 5 per cent. on the time now occupied in serving the present lines, which lines we propose to adhere to, with the exception of the port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked or landed. All vessels to be constructed on Taylerson's patent diagonal principle, by which they are rendered stronger, safer, and speedier, as set forth in the prospectus accompanying this tender.

With respect to the other necessary particulars required in the tender, we will will furnish satisfactory answers and undeniable sureties, if this application is entertained.

The port in the United Kingdom at which the mails are to be embarked and landed, to be

We will agree to an abatement of £. in the amount of the subsidy, on condition that the penalties for delay, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, that the delay has arisen from causes beyond our control.

We will further agree to an abatement of £. in the amount of the subsidy, if Conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 be omitted.

If the contract be made for five years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of £ from the subsidy; and if it be made for seven years certain, we will agree to a yearly abatement of £.

We propose, as our sureties, in the penalty of £. Mr. of , and Mr. of ; and we refer you to as persons of whom inquiry can be made as to the responsibility of such sureties.

Should this tender be accepted, we engage that the vessels shall be complete and ready for sea on the , in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 10 l. for every day's delay beyond that time. And, should the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th conditions be retained, we further engage that the vessels shall be ready for survey on the , in failure of which we agree to pay to Her Majesty a like sum of 10 l. for every day's delay beyond that time.

We agree to commence the service on the 1st of January 1864; and in the event of such service not being commenced on such day, or on the first day thereafter which the Postmaster General may fix as the day of sailing, we agree to pay to Her Majesty the sum of 100 l. for every day from that time until the said service shall be commenced by us.

We further agree, that every sum of 10 l. and 100 l. herein mentioned shall be considered not as penalties, but as liquidated damages, and payable whether any damage shall or shall not be sustained by reason of all or any one or more of such failures. Moreover, should any one or more of such failures take place, the Postmaster General shall have the option of determining the contract.

And we hereby agree to execute a contract for the performance of the said service, according to the said conditions marked A.

We are, &c.
For the Imperial Steam Navigation Company (Limited),

(signature) C. R. Thompson,

The Secretary of the Post Office. (address) 24, Lawrence Pountney-lane, London, E.C.

2d February 1863.

N.B.—All tenders must be addressed to the Secretary of the Post Office, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails between the United Kingdom and the West Indies" in the left-hand corner of the envelope. Other things equal, a preference will be given to a tender made upon this printed form and in exact accordance therewith. Even, however, when this printed form is used, the parties tendering may, in a separate letter, to be forwarded with the tender, suggest, for consideration, any alteration in the conditions, or otherwise.

SERVICE.

THE service to be performed is the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails by steam-vessels, from the 1st January 1864, by the following lines, viz.:—

Line A.—From a port in the United Kingdom, to be named in the tender, to Colon (New Granada) and back; calling, both going and returning, at Falmouth (Antigua), Jacmel (Hayti), and Kingston (Jamaica): or the same line, omitting the call both at Antigua and Hayti.

Line B.—From Antigua to Demerara and back; calling, both going and returning, at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes.

Line C.—From Barbadoes to Tobago and back; calling, both going and returning, at St. Vincent, Grenada, and Trinidad.

Line D.—From Jamaica to Tampico and back; calling, both going and returning, at Havanna and Vera Cruz; or from Antigua to Tampico and back; calling at St. Kitts, St. Thomas, San Juan (Porto Rico), Havanna, and Vera Cruz.

Line E.—From Colon to Santa Martha and back; calling, both going and returning, at Carthagena.

Line F.—From Colon to Greytown and back.

Line G.—From Jamaica to Belize (Honduras) and back.

The parties tendering to state the sum demanded—first, if the service be performed twice in each calendar month on Lines A, B, and C, and once in each calendar month on Lines D, E, F, and G.; and, secondly, if the service be performed once only in each calendar month on all the lines.

The parties tendering must also state the time, in hours, which they will require to perform the different services (exclusive of such stoppages as may be ordered by the Postmaster General), and the sum demanded for the several services. Although it is not compulsory, the parties are invited to state for what sum they would perform the services (exclusive of the above-mentioned stoppages) in the following times:—From the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Antigua, Hayti, and Jamaica, in 462 hours; from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at the same places, in 482 hours; from the United Kingdom to Colon, calling at Jamaica only, in 432 hours, and from Colon to the United Kingdom, calling at Jamaica only, in 460 hours; between Antigua and Demerara in 77 hours; from Barbadoes to Tobago in 43 hours, and from Tobago to Barbadoes in 39 hours; between Jamaica and Tampico in 195 hours; from Antigua to Tampico in 230 hours, and from Tampico to Antigua in 290 hours; from Colon to Santa Martha in 50 hours, and from Santa Martha to Colon in 48 hours; between Colon and Greytown in 30 hours; and between Jamaica and Belize in 83 hours.

The tenders may be for any one or more of the services, or for all the services combined.

Parties tendering for Line A must state the sum demanded—first, if the packets call at Antigua and Hayti; and, secondly, if those calls are omitted.

Parties tendering for Lines B and C only must state for what additional sum they would substitute for these two lines an independent service, once in each calendar month, from a port in the United Kingdom (to be specified) to Demerara and back, calling at Guadaloupe, Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbadoes, with a branch from Barbadoes to St. Vincent, Grenada, Trinidad, and Tobago; and for what additicnal sum they would perform such a service twice in each calendar month.

CONDITIONS referred to as marked A.

1. UNDER the term "Her Majesty's Mails" are comprehended all boxes, bags, or packets of letters, newspapers, books, or printed papers, and every other article transmissible by the post, without regard either to the place to which they may be addressed, or that in which they may have originated; and also all empty bags, empty boxes, and other stores and articles used or to be used in carrying on the Post Office service, which shall be sent by or to or from the Post Office.

2. A premium of 25 l. will be given for every complete period of 12 hours which the time occupied in any voyage, on any line, may be less than that allowed under the contract.

3. A penalty of 500 l. to be incurred on each occasion when the contractors fail in providing a vessel, in accordance with their contract, ready to put to sea at the appointed time, and a further penalty of 100 l. for every day which shall elapse until the vessel shall proceed to sea, and continue her voyage with the mails; also a penalty of 50 l. for every complete period of 12 hours consumed on any voyage, on any line, from whatever cause arising, beyond the number of hours allowed; but so that the total amount of the last-named penalty for delay on any one voyage shall never exceed the part of the subsidy applicable to such voyage, on the assumption that such part is in all cases in proportion to the mileage.

4. The arrangements for determining and recording the exact time of arrival and departure of the vessels to be under the exclusive regulation of the Postmaster General, whose decision on all matters relating thereto shall be final.

5. The payment by the contractors of any penalties shall in no way prejudice the right of the Postmaster General to treat the failure to provide a proper vessel at the appointed time, or to perform a voyage at or within the appointed period, as a breach of the contract.

6. The parties tendering may state what abatement in the amount of the subsidy they would make on condition that the penalties for delay on the voyage, instead of being absolute, shall not be payable when it is proved, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, that the delay has arisen from causes beyond the control of the contractors.

7. The contractors must supply, during the continuance of the contract, and to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a sufficient number of steam-vessels of adequate power, power, and in all respects suited for the performance of the service, within the time stipulated in the tender.

8. The Postmaster General to have power to require that the vessels to be used for the purposes of the contract shall be built on plans previously approved of by the Lords of the Admiralty.

9. The vessels to be always supplied with all necessary and proper machinery, engines, apparel, furniture, stores, tackle, boats, fuel, oil, tallow, provisions, anchors, cables, fire-pumps, and other proper means for extinguishing fire, lightning conductors, charts, chronometers, proper nautical instruments, and whatsoever else may be necessary for equipping the said vessels, and rendering them constantly efficient for the service to be performed; and to be manned with legally qualified and competent officers, and a sufficient crew of able seamen and other men. A medical officer, to be approved of by the Postmaster General, to be provided on board each packet, and who shall give medical attendance, medicines, and medicaments gratis to all persons conveyed under the contract, or whose passage-money may be paid for, in whole or in part, by the Government.

10. The vessels are to be subject at all times to survey by officers in the employment of the Admiralty or Post Office, and any defect discovered on such survey must immediately be made good by the contractors; failing which, the vessel to be considered unfit for use, and the contractors to become liable to the penalties named in the 3d condition. The survey to extend not only to the vessels themselves, but also to the officers, engineers, crew, machinery, and everything which the contractors are bound to provide.

11. The parties tendering to state what abatement they would make in the subsidy if Conditions 7, 8, 9, and 10 were omitted, and the Postmaster General, content with specifying the time within which the mails must be conveyed, left the means of accomplishment wholly to the contractors.

12. The days and hours of departure and arrival at each port are to be fixed by the Postmaster General, and may be altered from time to time by him, on giving a notice to the contractors of three months. The Postmaster General also to have power to delay the departure of any vessel, from any port, for a period not exceeding 24 hours.

13. The Postmaster General to be at liberty otherwise to modify the service to be performed on giving reasonable notice to the contractors; the additional amount to be paid or deducted for any alteration to be settled by agreement, or failing that, by arbitration in the usual manner.

14. The contractors to provide, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, a separate and convenient place of deposit for the mails on board each vessel, with secure locks and keys.

15. Should the Postmaster General require it, a room for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails to be also provided, to the satisfaction of the Postmaster General, on board each vessel. The actual cost of erecting this sorting-room, and of providing the necessary furniture, lamps, &c., will be defrayed by the Postmaster General; but the furniture and lamps must be cleansed and kept in repair, and oil for the lamps must be supplied, at the cost of the contractors. The services of the crew must be given in the conveyance of the mails between the mail-room and the sorting-room.

16. Proper accommodation and mess to be provided for an officer of the Royal Navy in charge of the mails, and also, if required, for his servant. The Postmaster General to have power to substitute, for a naval officer and his servant, a civil officer of the Post Office to take charge of the mails, and to be employed in sorting them, together with an assistant or servant. These officers, whether naval or civil, to be allowed to remain on board whilst the packet stays at all the ports to or from which the mails are conveyed. The naval or civil officers in charge of the mails to be victualled and otherwise treated as chief-cabin passengers, and assistants and servants as fore-cabin passengers.

17. At each port where the mails are to be delivered or received, the officer having charge of them shall, whenever he may deem it necessary, be conveyed to the shore and back, with or without Her Majesty's mails (as he may desire), in a suitable boat of not less than four oars, to be furnished with effectual covering for the mail-bags, and to be properly manned and equipped.

18. Should the Postmaster General deem it expedient to place the mails in the care of the commander of any of the vessels, such commander shall take charge of them, and be responsible for their due receipt and delivery. The commander shall also make the usual Post Office declaration, and furnish such journal, returns, and information, and perform such other services, as the Postmaster General or his officers may require.

19. Except such letters as are not required by law to pass through the Post Office, the contractors must not receive, or permit to be received, for conveyance on board any of the vessels employed under the contract, any letters other than those contained in Her Majesty's mails. No mails must be conveyed on behalf of any colony or foreign country without permission of Her Majesty's Postmaster General; and the whole postage of every mail shall, under all circumstances, be at his disposal.

 20. The

20. The contractors, and all commanding and other officers of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract, and all agents, seamen, and servants of the contractors, shall, at all times during the continuance of the contract, punctually attend to the orders of the Postmaster General, or of any of his officers or agents, as to the mode, time, and place of embarking and disembarking mails.

21. Except where othrwise specified, none of the duties enumerated in the foregoing conditions shall give the contractors any claim to remuneration beyond the general subsidy.

22. Every sum of money forfeited by the contractors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages, and shall be deducted by the Postmaster General out of any monies then payable, or which may thereafter become payable, to the contractors; or, at the discretion of the Postmaster General, the payment thereof may be enforced, with full costs of suit.

23. The contractors shall, whenever they or the masters of their respective vessels may be required so to do, in writing, by the Postmaster General, or by any officer or agent acting under his authority (such writing to specify the rank or description of the persons to be conveyed, and the accommodation to be provided for them), receive on board each of the vessels to be employed in the performance of the contract (in addition to the officers authorised to have the charge of the mails), any naval, military, and civil officers in the service of Her Majesty, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as chief-cabin passengers, and any non-commissioned or warrant officers, not exceeding four, with their wives and children, as fore-cabin passengers, and any number of seamen, marines, or soldiers in Her Majesty's service, not exceeding 10, with their wives and children, as deck passengers; due notice being given (if practicable), to the agent of the contractors at the port of embarkation, of such officers or others being required to be conveyed.

24. The passage-money for all passengers to be conveyed on the requisition of the Postmaster General, except the officers named in paragraph 16, to be paid at the rates charged for ordinary passengers of a similar description.

25. When a passage has been ordered for any person at the expense of the Government, the payment will be made only on the production of the order for the passage, and a certificate from the person in the following form, viz.:—

"I hereby certify that on the I embarked at as a passenger on board the mail steam-packet for passage to and landed at on the "

To this certificate the following addition is to be made in every case of a male cabin passenger, viz.:—

"Master of the Packet."

26. The passage-money for the wives and families of officers will be paid to the contractors by the officers themselves.

27. The deck passengers mentioned in the 23d condition, together with any like persons, other than those specially provided for by the contract, who may be conveyed as deck passengers, must be provided with adequate protection from rain, sun, and bad weather; such protection to include sufficient shelter on deck.

28. The contractors shall receive on board each of the vessels employed in the performance of the contract, and convey, on behalf of the Admiralty, without charge, any small packages which may be tendered for conveyance, containing astronomical instruments, charts, wearing apparel, medicines, or other articles; and shall also (on receiving from the Postmaster General, or his officers or agents, or from the British naval officer in command of the station, two days' previous notice), receive on board any naval or other stores, not exceeding 10 tons weight at any one time in any one vessel; and shall convey and deliver such stores at the lowest rate of freight charged by the contractors for private goods. And the said contractors shall in all cases be strictly responsible for the due custody and safe delivery of the packages and stores.

29. The contract to be terminable on a notice, by either party, of two years; but the contractors to state what abatement they would make from the subsidy if the contract were made certain for five years, and what abatement if it were made certain for seven years.

30. The

30. The contract will not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month without disapproval, unless, previous to the lapse of that period, it has been approved of by a Resolution of the House.

31. Subject to deductions for penalties or otherwise, payments will be made quarterly, at the Post Office, out of monies to be provided by Parliament, on the production by the contractors, from time to time, to the Receiver and Accountant General, of certificates, from the proper officers, that the contract has been strictly and punctually performed.

32. The Government shall at any time during the continuance of the contract, in case of great public emergency, have power to purchase all or any of the vessels at a valuation, or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service; the valuation or rate of hire to be agreed on by the Admiralty and the contractors, or, failing such agreement, by arbitration in the usual manner.

33. In case of any such purchase or hire, the contractors shall be at liberty either to terminate the contract, or, if they can provide other vessels in proper time, to continue it; or, with the consent of the Postmaster-General, and on such terms as may be agreed upon, they may continue to perform part only of the contract.

34. The contractors must not assign, underlet, or dispose of the contract, or any part thereof, without the consent in writing of the Postmaster General.

35. In case of the breach of the 34th condition, or in case of any great or habitual breach of the contract of any other kind, the Postmaster General to have power to terminate the contract without previous notice, and this without giving the contractors any claim to compensation.

36. In pursuance of the provisions of the Act 22 Geo. 3, c. 45, no Member of the House of Commons can be admitted to any share of the contract, or to any benefit to arise therefrom.

37. For the due fulfilment of the contract, the contractors must enter into a bond, with two responsible sureties, to be named in their tenders, in the penalty of 20,000 l. for Line A; 7,000 l. for Lines B and C; 10,000 l. for Line D; 3,000 l. for Line E; 3,000 l. for Line F; 3,000 l. for Line G; or 35,000 l. for the whole of the lines—such penalties to be considered and recoverable as liquidated damages.

38. Should any dispute arise respecting the interpretation of any part of any contract to be framed on the basis of these conditions, the same shall be settled by arbitration in the usual manner.

39. The Postmaster General does not engage to accept the lowest tender, irrespective of other considerations, or even to accept any tender.

vessels at and from the several places specified in the Tables hereunto annexed and of the periods of all delays which shall take place on any voyage shall be under the exclusive regulation of the Postmaster-General whose decision upon all questions relating to those matters shall be final And it is hereby agreed that if the Company shall fail to perform any of the services herein-before specified and to deliver the mails at the termination thereof in the respective times herein-before in that behalf respectively mentioned then and in each and every of such cases and so often as the same shall happen the Company shall forfeit and pay to Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 50*l.* for every complete period of 12 hours consumed in the performance of any service herein-before covenanted to be performed beyond the period herein-before allowed for the performance of such service Provided always that the full amount of such sums payable on any one voyage shall never exceed the portion of the sum of 172914*l.* herein-after agreed to be paid by the Postmaster-General as applicable to such voyage such portion being in all cases in proportion to the mileage of the voyage in respect of which such penalty may have been incurred and provided further that the payment of any such sum shall not be enforced against the Company if it be shown by them to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that the delay has arisen from causes over which they had not and could not have had any control.

Penalty for delay on voyage.

6. And the Postmaster-General doth hereby covenant to pay to the Company a premium of 25*l.* for every complete period of 12 hours by which the time consumed in the performance of any service by the last preceding clause covenanted to be performed shall be less than the period therein allowed for such service.

The Postmaster-General to pay to the Company a premium of 25*l.* for performing any service in a less number of hours.

7. That if at any time or times the Postmaster-General shall desire to alter the particular days times or hours of departure from and arrival at any of the ports or places to or from which Her Majesty's mails are to be conveyed under this Agreement he shall be at liberty so to do on giving three calendar months' previous notice in writing of such his desire to the Company provided such alterations do not necessitate an increase of speed.

The Postmaster-General may at any time alter the days times or hours of departure and arrival on giving to the Company three calendar months previous notice.

8. That if at any time or times the Postmaster-General shall desire otherwise to modify the services hereby agreed to be performed (as for example to increase or decrease the frequency of the conveyance of mails between any of the ports or places to or from which such mails are to be conveyed under this Agreement or to extend the conveyance of such mails to any other ports or places not specified in this Agreement or to discontinue the conveyance of such mails to any port or place specified in this Agreement) he shall be at liberty so to do on giving reasonable notice to the Company and on paying to them for such increased or extended services such further consideration and in the event of the services hereby agreed to be performed being reduced on his paying to them such reduced consideration as may in either of such cases be mutually agreed upon between the Company and the Postmaster-General or failing such mutual agreement by arbitration in the manner herein-after provided.

The services as altered under the two preceding clauses to be deemed for the time being those to be performed under this Agreement.

9. That the particular days times and hours of departure from and arrival at any of such ports or places or other services (if any) which may be appointed by any such alteration under the two preceding clauses shall for the time being be deemed to be the days times and hours of departure and arrival of mails and other services under this Agreement and shall be observed and kept by the Company accordingly.

Penalties for not providing efficient vessels and failing to put to sea at the appointed time.

10. That if the Company fail to provide an efficient vessel at any of the several ports or places at which such vessel ought to be provided in accordance with the terms of this Agreement ready to put to sea on and at the appointed day and hour then and so often as the same shall happen the Company shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 500*l.* and also the further sum of 100*l.* for every successive 24 hours which shall elapse until such vessel actually proceeds to sea on her voyage in the performance of this Agreement.

An officer in the navy to remain on board the vessels and to take charge of mails.

11. That the Company shall receive and allow to remain on board each of the vessels while employed in the performance of this Agreement and also while remaining at each or either of the ports or places and whether such vessel shall be with or without mails on board an officer in Her Majesty's navy to be appointed by the Postmaster-General to take charge of the said mails and also an assistant or servant of the said officer (if required) and that every such officer shall be recognized and considered by the Company their officers agents and seamen as the agent of the Postmaster-General in charge of mails and as having full authority in all cases to require a due and strict performance of this Agreement on the part of the Company their officers servants and agents and to determine (so far as relates to the levying of penalties) every question whenever arising relative to proceeding to sea or putting into harbour or the necessity of stopping to assist any vessel in distress or to save human life and that the decision of such officer as aforesaid shall in every such case be final and binding on the Company unless the Postmaster-General on appeal by the Company thinks proper to decide otherwise Provided however that the words "to determine every question" shall not confer upon such officer the power of control over the commander of the vessel conveying the said mails.

The Postmaster-General may substitute a civil officer in the place of a naval officer.

12. That if the Postmaster-General at any time or times think fit he shall be at liberty to substitute for such naval officer and his assistant or servant a civil officer in the service of the Postmaster General to have charge of the said mails and thereupon any such last-mentioned officer and his assistant (if required) shall be received and be allowed to remain on board each of the said vessels as herein-before provided with respect to any such naval officer and his assistant or servant but when any civil officer in the service of the Post Office shall be in charge of the said mails his duties shall be confined to the Post Office business.

A first-class cabin with bed and bedding to be provided for such naval or civil officer.

The officer to be victualled by the Company as a chief-cabin passenger and the assistant or servant as a fore-cabin passenger.

13. That a suitable first-class cabin with appropriate bed bedding and furniture shall at the cost of the Company be provided and appropriated by them for the exclusive use and accommodation of every such naval or civil officer and that every of the said officers shall be victualled by the Company as a chief-cabin passenger without any charge either for his passage or victualling and that should any of such officers require an assistant or servant such assistant or servant shall also be provided with a proper and suitable berth and be duly victualled by and at the cost of the Company as a fore-cabin passenger without any charge being made for the same.

The Company to provide suitable accommodation for sorting and making up the mails and for their safe deposit and if required to erect a sorting room.

14. That the Company shall provide on board each of the vessels to be employed under this Agreement all necessary and suitable accommodation to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General for the purpose of sorting and making up the mails thereby conveyed and for their convenient and secure deposit under lock and key and (on being required by the Postmaster-General so to do) will erect on each of such vessels a separate and convenient room for such purpose the actual cost of erecting such sorting room and of providing all such furniture lamps and other conveniences as may be necessary or convenient for the purpose of sorting and making up such mails being paid for by the Postmaster-General but such furniture lamps and other conveniences being cleansed and kept in repair and the oil for the lamps supplied by the servants and at the cost of the Company.

To convey the officer in charge of the mails on shore.

15. That at each port or place where the said mails are to be delivered and received the officer having charge of mails shall whenever and as often as by him shall be deemed practicable or necessary and either with or without his assistant or servant be conveyed on shore and also from the shore to the vessel employed for the time being in the performance of this Agreement together with or (if such officer shall consider it necessary for the purposes of this Agreement so to do) without mails in a suitable and seaworthy boat of not less than four oars to be furnished with effectual covering for the mails and properly provided manned and equipped by the Company and that the directions of such officer shall in all cases be obeyed as to the mode time and place of receiving and delivering such mails.

The Postmaster-General may entrust the master or commander of the vessels with the custody of the mails.

16. That if the Postmaster-General during the continuance of this Agreement thinks fit to entrust the charge and custody of the mails or any part thereof to the master or commander of the vessels to be employed for the time being in the performance of this Agreement and in all cases where the officer or other person appointed to have charge of the mails shall be absent the master or commander of such vessel shall without any charge (other than that herein provided to be paid to the Company) take due care of and the Company shall be responsible for the receipt safe custody and delivery of the said mails and each of such masters or commanders shall make the usual oath or declaration or declarations required or which may hereafter be required by the Postmaster-General in such and similar cases and furnish such journals returns and information to and perform such services as the Postmaster-General or his agents may require and every such master or commander or officer duly authorized by him having the charge of mails shall himself immediately on the arrival at any of the said ports or places of any such vessels deliver all mails for such port or place into the hands of the Postmaster or other person at such port or place as the Postmaster-General shall authorize to receive the same receiving in like manner all the return or other mails to be forwarded in due course and that the crew of each of the said vessels respectively shall assist in conveying the mails between the mail room and the sorting room to be erected (if required) in each of the said vessels as herein-before mentioned.

The master or commander to deliver the mails to the postmaster of the port or place where they are to be delivered and the crew to assist in conveying mails between mail room and sorting room.

The Company not to receive on board any letters for conveyance other than those in charge of the naval officer, &c.

17. That the Company shall not nor shall any of the masters of any of the vessels employed or to be employed under this Agreement receive or permit to be received on board any of the vessels employed under this Agreement any letters for conveyance other than those duly in charge of the said naval officer or other person authorized to have charge of the said mails or which are or may be privileged by law nor any mails for conveyance on behalf of any colony or foreign country without the consent of the Postmaster-General and in case of any such default respectively the Company shall be liable to be proceeded against for breach of this Agreement.

Power for the Postmaster-General or his officers to survey the vessels, &c.

18. That the Postmaster-General or the said Commissioners shall have full power whenever and as often as he or they may deem it requisite to survey by any of his or their officers or agents all or any of the vessels employed and to be employed in the performance of this Agreement and the hulls thereof and the engines machinery furniture tackle apparel stores equipment and the officers engineers and crew of every such vessel and any defect or deficiency that may be discovered on any such survey shall be forthwith repaired or supplied by the Company and that for the purposes aforesaid the said vessels shall (if necessary) be opened in their hulls whenever the said officers may require and if any of such vessels or any part thereof or any engines machinery furniture tackle apparel boats stores or equipments shall on any such survey be declared by any of such officers or agents unseaworthy or not adapted to the service hereby agreed to be performed every vessel which shall be disapproved of or in which such deficiency or defect shall appear shall be deemed inefficient for any service hereby agreed to be performed and shall not be again employed in the conveyance of mails until such defect or deficiency has been repaired or supplied to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General.

The Company, &c. to attend to the orders of the Postmaster-General or his officers as to delivering or receiving the mails.

19. That the Company and all commanding and other officers of the vessels employed in the performance of this Agreement and all agents seamen and servants of the Company shall at all times punctually attend to the orders and directions of the Postmaster-General his officers or agents as to the mode time and place of landing delivering and receiving mails.

32. That such new vessels as the Company may require and intend to use in the performance of the services hereby agreed to be by them performed shall be ready for survey on the 1st day of June 1864 in default of which the Company shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 10*l.* and also the further sum of 10*l.* for every successive period of 24 hours which shall elapse after the said first day of June 1864 until such vessels and each and every of them shall be ready for survey.

The sums payable by the Company to be considered as stipulated damages.

33. That all and every the sums of money hereby stipulated to be paid by the Company unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages whether any damage or loss have or have not been sustained and shall and may be retained by the Postmaster-General out of any monies payable or which may thereafter become payable to the Company or the payment may be enforced as a debt due to Her Majesty with full costs of suit at the discretion of the Postmaster-General provided however that the payment by the Company of any sums of money (by way of penalties) shall not in any manner prejudice the right of the Postmaster-General to treat the failure (if any) on the part of the Company to provide a proper vessel or to perform any voyage at or within the times in the said Tables respectively mentioned as a breach of this Agreement.

Contract not to be assigned.

34. That the Company shall not assign underlet or dispose of this Agreement or any part thereof without the consent of the Postmaster-General signified in writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary or one of the Assistant Secretaries of the Post Office and that in case of the same or any part thereof being assigned underlet or otherwise disposed of or of any great or habitual breach of this Agreement or any covenant matter or thing herein contained on the part of the Company their officers agents or servants and whether there be or be not any penalty or sum of money

The Postmaster-General may determine this payable by the Company for any breach it shall be lawful for the Postmaster-General if he shall think fit (and notwithstanding there may or may not have been any former breach of this contract) by writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary or one of the Assistant Secretaries of the Post Office to determine this Agreement without any previous notice to the Company or their agents nor shall the Company be entitled to any compensation in respect of such determination and such determination shall not deprive the Postmaster-General for the time being of any right or remedy to which he would otherwise be entitled by reason of such breach or of any prior breach of this contract.

If when the Agreement terminates any vessel shall have started with the mails the voyage to be continued as if the Agreement had remained in force.

35. That if on the determination of this Agreement any vessel or vessels shall have started or shall start with the mails in conformity with this Agreement such voyage or voyages shall be continued and performed and the mails be delivered and received during the same as if this Agreement had remained in force with regard to any such vessels and services and with respect to such vessels and services as last aforesaid this Agreement shall be considered as having terminated when such vessels shall have reached their port or place of destination and such services shall have been performed and the said Company shall be paid at the average nautical rate per mile for such portion or portions of any voyage or voyages as may be incomplete on the determination of this Agreement Provided always that in respect of the services to be rendered by the Company under the existing contract dated the 25th day of February 1858 for the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails and not fully performed on the 31st day of December 1863 the Company shall not be entitled to be paid for those services nor for any services to be rendered and performed by the said Company after the said 31st day of December 1863 under the said last-mentioned contract anything in the said contract contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

As to the service of notices.

36. That all notices or directions which the Postmaster-General his officers agents or others are hereby authorized to give to the Company their officers servants or agents other than any notice of termination of this Contract may at the option of the Postmaster-General his officers agents or others either be delivered to the master of any of the said vessels or other officer or agent of the Company in the charge or management of any vessel employed in the performance of this Agreement or left for the Company at their office or house of business in London or any other place and any notices or directions so given or left shall be binding on the Company Provided always that any notice of termination of this Contract shall be served on the Company their officers servants or agents at their office or last known office in London.

Commissioners of the Admiralty may purchase or charter vessels of Company at rates to be agreed upon but in case of difference as to such rates or damages consequent upon such purchase or hiring same to be settled by arbitration.

37. That the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty for the time being shall at any time during the continuance of this Agreement in case of great public emergency have power to purchase all or any of the said vessels at a valuation or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service at a rate of hire to be mutually fixed and agreed on by the said Commissioners and the Company but if any difference should at any time or times arise as to the amount of valuation or hire so to be paid or as to the amount of damages consequent upon such purchase or hiring such difference shall be referred to two arbitrators one to be chosen by the said Commissioners and the other by the Company or by an umpire to be chosen by such arbitrators before they proceed with the reference to them and that the said Commissioners in the case of hiring any such vessel shall return the same to the Company in the same state and condition as she was in at the time of any such hiring reasonable wear and tear excepted and if any difference should arise upon that point the same shall be settled in the same manner as the amount for the hiring is to be settled in case of difference.

If vessels purchased or hired services to be performed by other similar vessels of Company if they can be obtained but if not Company may determine Agreement.

38. That in case of such purchase or hire the services hereby agreed to be performed shall be performed by other vessels of the Company of a similar description to the vessel or vessels purchased or hired if they can in due and proper time furnish them such other vessels as to construction machinery equipment officers and crew to be subject to the like approval as other vessels employed under this Agreement but in case the Company be unable or unwilling to furnish such other vessels it shall be lawful for them to determine this Agreement from the date of such purchase or hire.

And if the Company perform only part of the service the annual amount to be paid to Company to be settled by arbitration in case of difference.

39. That in the event of the Company being allowed by the Postmaster-General to continue to perform only a portion of the service there shall be paid to them such annual sum of money as shall be agreed upon by the Postmaster-General and the Company and in case of their differing as to the amount such difference shall be settled by two arbitrators or an umpire to be chosen respectively as provided by the 28th clause of this Agreement.

Any submission to arbitration to be made a rule of court.

40. That any submission to arbitration in pursuance of this Agreement shall be made a rule of any of Her Majesty's courts of record pursuant to the statute in that case made and provided on the application of either party.

No member of the House of Commons to participate in Contract.

41. That in pursuance of the provisions contained in the Act of Parliament passed in the 22nd year of the reign of King George the 3rd intituled "An Act for restraining "any person concerned in any Contract Commission or "Agreement made for the Public Service from being elected "or sitting and voting as a Member of the House of Commons" no member of the House of Commons shall be admitted to any share or part of this Agreement or to any benefit to arise therefrom contrary to the true intent and meaning of the said Act.

This Agreement not to be binding until it has lain on the table of the House of Commons for one month or been previously approved.

42. That this Agreement shall not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month without disapproval unless it be previously approved by a resolution of the said House of Commons.

In witness whereof the said Edward John Lord Stanley of Alderley Her Majesty's Postmaster-General hath hereunto set his hand and seal and the said Royal Mail Steam Packet Company have caused their common seal to be hereunto affixed the day and year first above written.

THE TABLES BEFORE REFERRED TO.

Observations.

The periods fixed for departing from the several termini as stated in the Tables and remarks must be rigidly adhered to and if on the return voyages the steamers should fail to accomplish the speed estimated the time so lost must be retrieved if possible by curtailing subsequent stoppages.

To compensate in some measure for the irregularities occasioned by the short month of February the vessels which are to meet at St. Thomas the outward ship of the 2d March will in each year leave the respective termini one day earlier than specified in the Tables.

This remark will apply also to the vessel on No. 4. route.

Although no alterations can be made in the routes without permission of Her Majesty's Government (except in urgent cases of accident to any of the ships) still the Company's superintendents abroad are authorized to change the vessels when they deem it necessary.

The dates of arrivals and departures should be calculated from the 2d or 17th of the month as the case may be although the mails in some instances where Sunday intervenes may not be despatched from Southampton until the day following.

This rule will show when the vessels are to be considered due at the respective ports visited and when they are to proceed again on their voyages.

The Tables are in each case calculated on the basis of thirty days to the month.

Remarks on Table for Atlantic Route.

The steamer performing this route will leave Southampton on the 2d and 17th of each month and on arrival at St. Thomas will transfer the mails &c. to the several vessels appointed to receive them and will then coal and complete for service on one of the branches or for returning to England with the homeward mails as may be determined. As the time the steamer is due at St. Thomas is during the night she may remain outside the harbour until daylight.

This steamer will leave St. Thomas on the return voyage at 8 a.m. on the 28th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton or as much before that time as possible if all mails &c. from the steamers on the branch routes and from St. Thomas have been received on board and she be in all respects ready for sea.

In the event of either of the steamers on the branch routes not reaching St. Thomas within the estimated time the homeward Atlantic steamer is to await the arrival of the missing vessel one clear day after the appointed hour for departure on the homeward voyage or even two clear days if necessary when the regular interval between the period at which the homeward steamer is due at Southampton and the date for departure thence of the next outward steamer happens to be more than three days otherwise she is to start for England as above stated.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 1.

This No. 1. steamer proceeding to Colon is to be despatched from St. Thomas and intermediate ports as soon as all mails &c. are on board and she can be got ready for sea without waiting for the time specified in the Table and she will leave Colon on the return voyage with the first mails of the month at 6 a.m. on the 35th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton but with the second mails of the month at 6 a.m. on the 22d day of each month If however the homeward mails &c. be embarked in time and she be in all other respects ready she may on either occasion start for Jamaica the previous evening.

Where the time specified for arrival at a port is after dark the steamer may remain outside until the morning.

On returning to St. Thomas (which this steamer must be careful to do by the time appointed) she will deliver to the proper vessels the home and inter-colonial mails &c. and prepare as expeditiously as possible to resume the service on this route as before.

After arriving at Colon this steamer will perform the service indicated in Table No. 5.

This No. 2. steamer having received at St. Thomas from the outward homeward and inter-colonial vessels all mails &c. for places enumerated in the Table will leave that place as soon as she is in every respect ready without waiting for the time mentioned in the Table for her departure and will proceed to deliver them as therein laid down taking care to leave Tampico on the return voyage at 8 a.m. on the 27th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton.

Under special circumstances however this steamer may be detained at Tampico until 4 p.m. of that day but in such cases the stay at Vera Cruz must be curtailed in proportion so that the ship may leave the latter place precisely at the hour specified in the Table.

On returning to St. Thomas this steamer will deliver the homeward and inter-colonial mails &c. to the vessels appointed to receive them and prepare as expeditiously as possible to resume the service.

This steamer is not to be detained at Havana on the outward voyage beyond the time necessary to complete coaling &c. and if on the homeward voyage the ship be in all respects ready she is to leave Havana on the afternoon previous to the stated time for sailing in which case the time for arrival at St. Thomas will be 12 hours earlier than that stated in the Table.

Although noon of the 27th of the month is the time appointed for the departure of this steamer from Vera Cruz on the outward voyage she is nevertheless to leave that port as much earlier as circumstances will allow in order that the stop at Tampico may be as long as possible.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 3.

The No. 3 steamer having received at St. Thomas from the outward homeward and inter-colonial vessels all mails &c. for places enumerated in Tables 3 and 4 will proceed at the hour appointed in the Table or as much earlier on the date specified as circumstances will admit to deliver them according to Table No. 3 transferring at Barbadoes to the No. 4 steamer the mails &c. for the route on which that vessel is employed.

The stay at the different islands on the outward route is not to exceed the time specified in the Table and if the delivery and transfer of mails &c. can be effected in a shorter period the steamer is to proceed as soon as the same is accomplished.

The steamer will leave Demerara on the return voyage at 8 A.M. on the 22d day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton. She will exchange mails again with the No. 4 steamer at Barbadoes and proceed through the islands to St. Thomas where having delivered the homeward and inter-colonial mails she will prepare as expeditiously as possible to resume the service as before.

In case the No. 4 steamer should not reach Barbadoes within the estimated time the No. 3 steamer will endeavour to meet her by approaching St. Vincent and if necessary will sight the anchorage at that island but will make no stop there unless the No. 4 steamer should be seen in which case she will stay long enough only to receive the mails &c. destined for places on her route.

Should circumstances at any time occur to occasion the withdrawal of either the No. 3 or No. 4 steamers the remaining steamer must perform the two routes combined namely by proceeding from St. Thomas to Barbadoes according to Table No. 3 from Barbadoes to Tobago as indicated by Table No. 4 and thence to Demerara and vice versâ abridging stoppages at all places so as to ensure the ship's return to St. Thomas by the appointed time.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 4.

On the arrival at Barbadoes of the No. 3. ship this No. 4. steamer will receive all mails &c. for places enumerated in the Table and proceed to deliver them accordingly leaving Barbadoes at the hour appointed in the Table or as much earlier on the date specified as circumstances will admit.

The stay at the different islands on the outward route is not to exceed the time specified in the Table and if the delivery and transfer of mails &c. can be effected in a shorter period the steamer is to proceed as soon as the same is accomplished.

On the return voyage this vessel will leave Tobago precisely at 4 p.m. on the 21st day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton.

Returning to Barbadoes she will deliver to the No. 3. steamer going to St. Thomas the homeward and other mails for places in that direction and having received any mails for Table No. 4. will hold herself in readiness to resume the service as before.

When necessary this steamer will be governed by the remarks on Table No. 3. so far as they may apply to her.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 5.

This service will be performed by the steamer on No. 1 route which having delivered at Colon all mails &c. for that port and received from the shore all mails &c. for the eastern or western section of the branch route as the case may be will at the time appointed in the Table or as much earlier as she may be in all respects ready leave Colon and proceed to deliver the mails &c. according to the Table.

On the return voyage this steamer having embarked all mails &c. for England &c. will leave Santa Martha for Carthagena and Colon at 5 P.M. on the 28th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton or Greytown at 4 P.M. on the 16th of each month.

On returning to Colon this vessel will deliver all mails &c. for that port and prepare to receive all mails &c. for No. 1 route and to leave Colon as provided in remarks on Table No. 1.

The steamer on this route may lie in Gorgon Bay instead of off Greytown provided she be at that port in sufficient time to admit of her leaving for Colon at the time specified in the Table.

decision upon all questions relating to those matters shall be final And it is hereby agreed that if the Company shall fail to perform any of the services herein-before specified and to deliver the mails at the termination thereof in the respective times herein-before in that behalf respectively mentioned then and in each and every of such cases and so often as the same shall happen the Company shall forfeit and pay to Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 50*l.* for every complete period of 12 hours consumed in the performance of any service herein-before covenanted to be performed beyond the period herein-before allowed for the performance of such service Provided always that the full amount of such sums payable on any one voyage shall never exceed the portion of the sum of 172914*l.* herein-after agreed to be paid by the Postmaster-General as applicable to such voyage such portion being in all cases in proportion to the mileage of the voyage in respect of which such penalty may have been incurred and provided further that the payment of any such sum shall not be enforced against the Company if it be shown by them to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General that the delay has arisen from causes over which they had not and could not have had any control.

Penalty for delay on the voyage.

6. And the Postmaster-General doth hereby covenant to pay to the Company a premium of 25*l.* for every complete period of 12 hours by which the time consumed in the performance of any service by the last preceding clause covenanted to be performed shall be less than the period therein allowed for such service.

The Postmaster-General to pay to the Company a premium of 25*l.* for performing any service in a less number of hours.

7. That if at any time or times the Postmaster-General shall desire to alter the particular days times or hours of departure from and arrival at any of the ports or places to or from which Her Majesty's mails are to be conveyed under this Agreement he shall be at liberty so to do on giving three calendar months' previous notice in writing of such his desire to the Company provided such alterations do not necessitate an increase of speed.

The Postmaster-General may at any time alter the days times or hours of departure and arrival on giving to the Company three calendar months previous notice.

8. That if at any time or times the Postmaster-General shall desire otherwise to modify the services hereby agreed to be performed (as for example to increase or decrease the frequency of the conveyance of mails between any of the ports or places to or from which such mails are to be conveyed under this Agreement or to extend the conveyance of such mails to any other ports or places not specified in this Agreement or to discontinue the conveyance of such mails to any port or place specified in this Agreement) he shall be at liberty so to do on giving reasonable notice to the Company and on paying to them for such increased or extended services such further consideration and in the event of the services hereby agreed to be performed being reduced on his paying to them such reduced consideration as may in either of such cases be mutually agreed upon between the Company and the Postmaster-General or failing such mutual agreement by arbitration in the manner herein-after provided.

The Postmaster-General may at any time otherwise modify the services on reasonable notice to the Company and on certain considerations.

The services as altered under the two preceding clauses to be deemed for the time being those to be performed under this Agreement.

9. That the particular days times and hours of departure from and arrival at any of such ports or places or other services (if any) which may be appointed by any such alteration under the two preceding clauses shall for the time being be deemed to be the days times and hours of departure and arrival of mails and other services under this Agreement and shall be observed and kept by the Company accordingly.

Penalties for not providing efficient vessels and failing to put to sea at the appointed time.

10. That if the Company fail to provide an efficient vessel at any of the several ports or places at which such vessel ought to be provided in accordance with the terms of this Agreement ready to put to sea on and at the appointed day and hour then and so often as the same shall happen the Company shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 500*l.* and also the further sum of 100*l.* for every successive 24 hours which shall elapse until such vessel actually proceeds to sea on her voyage in the performance of this Agreement. And it is hereby declared that in the event of the loss of or damage to any vessel belonging to the said Company the said Company shall be at liberty to substitute any suitable vessel that can be hired for the purpose.

An officer in the navy to remain on board the vessels and to take charge of mails.

11. That the Company shall receive and allow to remain on board each of the vessels while employed in the performance of this Agreement and also while remaining at each or either of the ports or places and whether such vessel shall be with or without mails on board an officer in Her Majesty's navy to be appointed by the Postmaster-General to take charge of the said mails and also an assistant or servant of the said officer (if required) and that every such officer shall be recognized and considered by the Company their officers agents and seamen as the agent of the Postmaster-General in charge of mails and as having full authority in all cases to require a due and strict performance of this Agreement on the part of the Company their officers servants and agents and to determine (so far as relates to the levying of penalties) every question whenever arising relative to proceeding to sea or putting into harbour or the necessity of stopping to assist any vessel in distress or to save human life and that the decision of such officer as aforesaid shall in every such case be final and binding on the Company unless the Postmaster-General on appeal by the Company thinks proper to decide otherwise Provided however that the words "to determine every question" shall not confer upon such officer the power of control over the commander of the vessel conveying the said mails.

The Postmaster-General may substitute a civil officer in the place of a naval officer.

12. That if the Postmaster-General at any time or times think fit he shall be at liberty to substitute for such naval officer and his assistant or servant a civil officer in the service of the Postmaster General to have charge of the said mails and thereupon any such last-mentioned officer and his assistant (if required) shall be received and be allowed to remain on board each of the said vessels as herein-before provided with respect to any such naval officer and his assistant or servant but when any civil officer in the service of the Post Office shall be in charge of the said mails his duties shall be confined to the Post Office business.

And in consideration of the due and faithful performance by the Company of all the services hereby agreed to be by them performed the Postmaster-General doth hereby covenant that there shall be paid to the Company (out of such aids or supplies as may be from time to time provided and appropriated by Parliament for that purpose) so long as they perform the whole of the said services in the manner and with such vessels as herein respectively provided a sum after the rate of 172914*l.* per annum in equal quarterly payments on the 1st day of April the 1st day of July the 1st day of October and the 1st day of January and with a proportionate part thereof should this Agreement be determined on any other day than one of those herein-before mentioned which said rateable sum shall be received by the Company as full compensation for all costs and expenses which they may incur or be put unto by reason of all and singular the services hereby contracted to be performed subject however to the abatement of any sums of money in respect of forfeitures which the Company may have incurred or to the addition of any sums in respect of premiums (as the case may be) as herein provided and which payments shall be made on the production by the Company from time to time to the Receiver and Accountant-General for the time being of the General Post Office of certificates from the proper officers of the Postmaster-General that the terms and conditions of this Agreement have been punctually performed or so soon thereafter as the accounts sent in for the then last quarter can be checked and examined Provided always that save as in this Contract otherwise expressly stipulated none of the services or duties to be performed by the Company shall entitle them to any remuneration beyond or other than the rateable sums herein-before agreed to be paid to them by the Postmaster-General.

And it is hereby further agreed and declared between and by the said parties to these presents

Disputes to be referred to arbitration.

27. That if at any time during the continuance of this Agreement or after the determination thereof any dispute shall arise between the parties hereto or their successors respectively concerning any breach or alleged breach by or on the part of the Company of this Agreement or the sufficiency of any such breach to justify the Postmaster-General in putting an end to the same or concerning the amount of consideration to be paid to or allowed by the Company as the case may be for such altered services as herein-before in that behalf mentioned or concerning any of the covenants matters or things herein contained or in anywise relating thereto and notwithstanding the power herein contained to determine this Agreement and any execution or attempted execution of such power such dispute shall be referred to two arbitrators one to be chosen from time to time by the Postmaster-General and the other by the Company and if such arbitrators should at any time or times not agree in the matter or question referred to them then such question in difference shall be referred by them to an umpire to be chosen by such arbitrators before they proceed with the reference to them and the joint and concurrent award of the said arbitrators or the separate award of the said umpire when the said arbitrators cannot agree shall be binding and conclusive upon both parties.

The postage of all mails to belong to Her Majesty.

28. That the whole postage of all mails conveyed in the vessels employed under this Agreement whether carried from or out of Her Majesty's dominions or otherwise shall belong to Her Majesty and shall be at the disposal of the Postmaster-General.

Commencement and duration of Agreement.

29. That this Agreement shall commence on the 1st day of January 1864 and shall continue in force for six years and then determine if the Postmaster-General shall by writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary or one of the Assistant Secretaries of the Post Office for the time being have given to the Company or the Company have given to the Postmaster-General 24 calendar months previous notice in writing that this Agreement shall so determine but if neither the Postmaster-General nor the Company shall have given any such notice this Agreement shall continue in force even after the said term of six years until the expiration of a 24 calendar months' notice in writing as aforesaid given at any time after the expiration of the first five years from the 31st day of December 1863 by either of the parties hereto to the other of them.

Penalty for delay in commencement of services.

30. That in case the Company shall fail to commence the performance of the services herein agreed to be by them performed on the 1st day of January 1864 then and in such case the Company shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 100*l.* and also the further sum of 100*l.* for every successive period of 24 hours which shall elapse after the 1st day of January 1864 until the actual and bonâ fide commencement of the performance by the Company of the services herein agreed to be by them performed.

Penalties in case of old vessels not being ready for survey at the appointed time.

31. That all vessels now in the possession of the Company and intended by them to be used in the performance of the services hereby agreed to be by them performed shall except as to such as may then be abroad on actual service be ready for survey on the 15th day of December 1863 in default of which the Company shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 10*l.* and also the further sum of 10*l.* for every successive period of 24 hours which shall elapse after the 15th day of December 1863 until such vessels and each and every of them shall be ready for survey.

Penalties in case of new vessels not being ready for survey at the appointed time.

32. That such new vessels as the Company may require to use in the performance of the services hereby agreed to be by them performed shall be ready for survey on the 1st day of June 1864 in default of which the Company shall forfeit and pay unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors the sum of 10*l.* and also the further sum of 10*l.* for every successive period of 24 hours which shall elapse after the said first day of June 1864 until such vessels and each and every of them shall be ready for survey.

The sums payable by the Company to be considered as stipulated damages.

33. That all and every the sums of money hereby stipulated to be paid by the Company unto Her Majesty Her heirs and successors shall be considered as stipulated or ascertained damages whether any damage or loss have or have not been sustained and shall and may be retained by the Postmaster-General out of any monies payable or which may thereafter become payable to the Company or the payment may be enforced as a debt due to Her Majesty with full costs of suit at the discretion of the Postmaster-General provided however that the payment by the Company of any sums of money (by way of penalties) shall not in any manner prejudice the right of the Postmaster-General to treat the failure (if any) on the part of the Company to provide a proper vessel or to perform any voyage at or within the times in the said Tables respectively mentioned as a breach of this Agreement.

Contract not to be assigned.

34. That the Company shall not assign underlet or dispose of this Agreement or any part thereof without the consent of the Postmaster-General signified in writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary or any of the Assistant Secretaries of the Post Office and that in case of the same or any part thereof being assigned underlet or otherwise disposed of or of any great or habitual breach of this Agreement or any covenant matter or thing herein contained on the part of the Company their officers agents or servants and whether there be or be not any penalty or sum of money payable by the Company for any breach it shall be lawful for the Postmaster-General if he shall think fit (and notwithstanding there may or may not have been any former breach of this contract) by writing under his hand or under the hand of the Secretary or one of the Assistant Secretaries of the Post Office to determine this Agreement without any previous notice to the Company or their agents nor shall the Company be entitled to any compensation in respect of such determination and such determination shall not deprive the Postmaster-General for the time being of any right or remedy to which he would otherwise be entitled by reason of such breach or any prior breach of this contract.

The Postmaster-General may determine this Agreement without any previous notice in case of any breach by the Company.

35. That if on the determination of this Agreement any vessel or vessels shall have started or shall start with the mails in conformity with this Agreement such voyage or voyages shall be continued and performed and the mails be delivered and received during the same as if this Agreement had remained in force with regard to any such vessels and services and with respect to such vessels and services as last aforesaid this Agreement shall be considered as having terminated when such vessels shall have reached their port or place of destination and such services shall have been performed and the said Company shall be paid at the average rate per nautical mile for such portion or portions of any voyage or voyages as may be incomplete on the determination of this Agreement Provided always that in respect of the services to be rendered by the Company under the existing contract dated the 25th day of February 1858 for the conveyance of Her Majesty's mails and not fully performed on the 31st day of December 1863 the Company shall not be entitled to be paid for those services nor for any services to be rendered and performed by the said Company after the said 31st day of December 1863 under the said last-mentioned contract anything in the said contract contained to the contrary notwithstanding except for the difference in the amount of mileage performed under the said last-mentioned Contract after the termination of the year 1863 as compared with the mileage required to be performed under this Agreement.

If when the Agreement terminates any vessel shall have started with the mails the voyage to be continued as if the Agreement had remained in force.

36. That all notices or directions which the Postmaster-General his officers agents or others are hereby authorized to give to the Company their officers servants or agents other than any notice of termination of this Contract may at the option of the Postmaster-General his officers agents or others either be delivered to the master of any of the said vessels or other officer or agent of the Company in the charge or management of any vessel employed in the performance of this Agreement or left for the Company at their office or house of business in London or any other place and any notices or directions so given or left shall be binding on the Company Provided always that any notice of termination of this Contract shall be served on the Company their officers servants or agents at their office or last known office in London.

As to the service of notices.

Commissioners of the Admiralty may purchase or charter vessels of Company at rates to be agreed upon but in case of difference as to such rates or damages consequent upon such purchase or hiring same to be settled by arbitration.

37. That the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty for the time being shall at any time during the continuance of this Agreement in case of great public emergency have power to purchase all or any of the said vessels at a valuation or to charter the same exclusively for Her Majesty's service at a rate of hire to be mutually fixed and agreed on by the said Commissioners and the Company but if any difference should at any time or times arise as to the amount of valuation or hire so to be paid or as to the amount of damages consequent upon such purchase or hiring such difference shall be referred to two arbitrators one to be chosen by the said Commissioners and the other by the Company or by an umpire to be chosen by such arbitrators before they proceed with the reference to them and that the said Commissioners in the case of hiring any such vessel shall return the same to the Company in the same state and condition as she was in at the time of any such hiring reasonable wear and tear excepted and if any difference should arise upon that point the same shall be settled in the same manner as the amount for the hiring is to be settled in case of difference.

If vessels purchased or hired services to be performed by other similar vessels of Company if they can be obtained but if not Company may determine Agreement.

38. That in case of such purchase or hire the services hereby agreed to be performed shall be performed by other vessels if the Company can in due and proper time furnish them such other vessels as to construction machinery equipment officers and crew to be subject to the like approval as other vessels employed under this Agreement but in case the Company be unable to furnish such other vessels it shall be lawful for them to determine this Agreement from the date of such purchase or hire and on such determination the Company shall be paid for such portion or portions of any voyage or voyages as may be incomplete at the rate stipulated for in the 35th clause of this Contract with reference to the portion or portions of any voyage or voyages therein mentioned.

And if the Company perform only part of the service the annual amount to be paid to Company to be settled by arbitration in case of difference.

39. That in the event of the Company being allowed by the Postmaster-General to continue to perform only a portion of the service there shall be paid to them such annual sum of money as shall be agreed upon by the Postmaster-General and the Company and in case of their differing as to the amount such difference shall be settled by two arbitrators or an umpire to be chosen respectively as provided by the 28th clause of this Agreement.

Any submission to arbitration to be made rule of court.

40. That any submission to arbitration in pursuance of this Agreement shall be made a rule of any of Her Majesty's courts of record pursuant to the statute in that case made and provided on the application of either party.

No member of the House of Commons to participate in Contract.

41. That in pursuance of the provisions contained in the Act of Parliament passed in the 22nd year of the reign of King George the 3rd intituled "An Act for restraining "any person concerned in any Contract Commission or "Agreement made for the Public Service from being elected "or sitting and voting as a Member of the House of Commons" no member of the House of Commons shall be admitted to any share or part of this Agreement or to any benefit to arise therefrom contrary to the true intent and meaning of the said Act.

This Agreement not to be binding until it has lain on the table of the House of Commons for one month or been previously approved.

42. That this Agreement shall not be binding until it has lain upon the table of the House of Commons for one month without disapproval unless it be previously approved by a resolution of the said House of Commons.

THE TABLES BEFORE REFERRED TO.

Observations.

The periods fixed for departing from the several termini as stated in the Tables and remarks must be rigidly adhered to and if on the return voyages the steamers should fail to accomplish the speed estimated the time so lost must be retrieved if possible by curtailing subsequent stoppages.

To compensate in some measure for the irregularities occasioned by the short month of February the vessels which are to meet at St. Thomas the outward ship of the 2d March will in each year leave the respective termini one day earlier than specified in the Tables.

This remark will apply also to the vessel on No. 4. route.

Although no alterations can be made in the routes without permission of Her Majesty's Government (except in urgent cases of accident to any of the ships) still the Company's superintendents abroad are authorized to change the vessels when they deem it necessary.

The dates of arrivals and departures should be calculated from the 2d or 17th of the month as the case may be although the mails in some instances where Sunday intervenes may not be despatched from Southampton until the day following.

This rule will show when the vessels are to be considered due at the respective ports visited and when they are to proceed again on their voyages.

The Tables are in each case calculated on the basis of thirty days to the month.

Remarks on Table for Atlantic Route.

The steamer performing this route will leave Southampton on the 2d and 17th of each month and on arrival at St. Thomas will transfer the mails &c. to the several vessels appointed to receive them and will then coal and complete for service on one of the branches or for returning to England with the homeward mails as may be determined. As the time the steamer is due at St. Thomas is during the night she may remain outside the harbour until daylight.

This steamer will leave St. Thomas on the return voyage at 8 a.m. on the 28th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton or as much before that time as possible if all mails &c. from the steamers on the branch routes and from St. Thomas have been received on board and she be in all respects ready for sea.

In the event of either of the steamers on the branch routes not reaching St. Thomas within the estimated time the homeward Atlantic steamer is to await the arrival of the missing vessel one clear day after the appointed hour for departure on the homeward voyage or even two clear days if necessary when the regular interval between the period at which the homeward steamer is due at Southampton and the date for departure thence of the next outward steamer happens to be more than three days otherwise she is to start for England as above stated.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 1.

This No. 1. steamer proceeding to Colon is to be despatched from St. Thomas and intermediate ports as soon as all mails &c. are on board and she can be got ready for sea without waiting for the time specified in the Table and she will leave Colon on the return voyage with the first mails of the month at 6 a.m. on the 35th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton but with the second mails of the month at 6 a.m. on the 22d day of each month If however the homeward mails &c. be embarked in time and she be in all other respects ready she may on either occasion start for Jamaica the previous evening.

Where the time specified for arrival at a port is after dark the steamer may remain outside until the morning.

On returning to St. Thomas (which this steamer must be careful to do by the time appointed) she will deliver to the proper vessels the home and inter-colonial mails &c. and prepare as expeditiously as possible to resume the service on this route as before.

After arriving at Colon this steamer will perform the service indicated in Table No. 5.

This No. 2. steamer having received at St. Thomas from the outward homeward and inter-colonial vessels all mails &c. for places enumerated in the Table will leave that place as soon as she is in every respect ready without waiting for the time mentioned in the Table for her departure and will proceed to deliver them as therein laid down taking care to leave Tampico on the return voyage at 8 a.m. on the 27th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton.

Under special circumstances however this steamer may be detained at Tampico until 4 p.m. of that day but in such cases the stay at Vera Cruz must be curtailed in proportion so that the ship may leave the latter place precisely at the hour specified in the Table.

On returning to St. Thomas this steamer will deliver the homeward and inter-colonial mails &c. to the vessels appointed to receive them and prepare as expeditiously as possible to resume the service.

This steamer is not to be detained at Havana on the outward voyage beyond the time necessary to complete coaling &c. and if on the homeward voyage the ship be in all respects ready she is to leave Havana on the afternoon previous to the stated time for sailing in which case the time for arrival at St. Thomas will be 12 hours earlier than that stated in the Table.

Although noon of the 27th of the month is the time appointed for the departure of this steamer from Vera Cruz on the outward voyage she is nevertheless to leave that port as much earlier as circumstances will allow in order that the stop at Tampico may be as long as possible.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 3.

The No. 3. steamer having received at St. Thomas from the outward homeward and inter-colonial vessels all mails &c. for places enumerated in Tables 3. and 4. will proceed at the hour appointed in the Table or as much earlier on the date specified as circumstances will admit to deliver them according to Table No. 3. transferring at Barbadoes to the No. 4. steamer the mails &c. for the route on which that vessel is employed.

The stay at the different islands on the outward route is not to exceed the time specified in the Table and if the delivery and transfer of mails &c. can be effected in a shorter period the steamer is to proceed as soon as the same is accomplished.

This steamer will leave Demerara on the return voyage at 8 A.M. on the 22d day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton. She will exchange mails again with the No. 4. steamer at Barbadoes and proceed through the islands to St. Thomas where having delivered the homeward and inter-colonial mails she will prepare as expeditiously as possible to resume the service as before.

In case the No. 4. steamer should not reach Barbadoes within the estimated time the No. 3. steamer will endeavour to meet her by approaching St. Vincent and if necessary will sight the anchorage at that island but will make no stop there unless the No. 4. steamer should be seen in which case she will stay long enough only to receive the mails &c. destined for places on her route.

Should circumstances at any time occur to occasion the withdrawal of either the No. 3. or No. 4. steamers the remaining steamer must perform the two routes combined namely by proceeding from St. Thomas to Barbadoes according to Table No. 3. from Barbadoes to Tobago as indicated by Table No. 4. and thence to Demerara and vice versâ abridging stoppages at all places so as to ensure the ship's return to St. Thomas by the appointed time.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 4.

On the arrival at Barbadoes of the No. 3. ship this No. 4. steamer will receive all mails &c. for places enumerated in the Table and proceed to deliver them accordingly leaving Barbadoes at the hour appointed in the Table or as much earlier on the date specified as circumstances will admit.

The stay at the different islands on the outward route is not to exceed the time specified in the Table and if the delivery and transfer of mails &c. can be effected in a shorter period the steamer is to proceed as soon as the same is accomplished.

On the return voyage this vessel will leave Tobago precisely at 4 p.m. on the 21st day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton.

Returning to Barbadoes she will deliver to the No. 3. steamer going to St. Thomas the homeward and other mails for places in that direction and having received any mails for Table No. 4. will hold herself in readiness to resume the service as before.

When necessary this steamer will be governed by the remarks on Table No. 3. so far as they may apply to her.

REMARKS ON TABLE No. 5.

This service will be performed by the steamer on No. 1 route which having delivered at Colon all mails &c. for that port and received from the shore all mails &c. for the eastern or western section of the branch route as the case may be will at the time appointed in the Table or as much earlier as she may be in all respects ready leave Colon and proceed to deliver the mails &c. according to the Table.

On the return voyage this steamer having embarked all mails &c. for England &c. will leave Santa Martha for Carthagena and Colon at 5 P.M. on the 28th day after the outward mails were despatched from Southampton or Greytown at 4 P.M. on the 16th of each month.

On returning to Colon this vessel will deliver all mails &c. for that port and prepare to receive all mails &c. for No. 1 route and to leave Colon as provided in remarks on Table No. 1.

The steamer on this route may lie in Gorgon Bay instead of off Greytown provided she be at that port in sufficient time to admit of her leaving for Colon at the time specified in the Table.

2 July 1863. Glass, Elliot, & Co.

COPY of LEASE, dated 1st November 1861.

THIS INDENTURE, made the first day of November 1861, between Sir William Dunbar, Baronet, and Edward Hugessen Knatchbull Hugessen, Esquire, (two of the Commissioners for exercising the office of Lord Treasurer of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland,) of the one part, and Richard Atwood Glass, George Elliot, and Charles Edwards, all of Cannon-street, in the City of London, and Morden Wharf, East Greenwich, in the county of Kent, Telegraph Cable Manufacturers, and carrying on the said business in partnership, under the style of "Glass, Elliot & Co." of the other part: Parties.

Whereas by an indenture bearing date the 8th day of November 1860, and made between the said Richard Atwood Glass, George Elliot, and Charles Edwards of the first part, and Sir William Dunbar, Baronet, and John Bagwell, Esq., (two of the Commissioners for exercising the office of Lord High Treasurer of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland) of the second part, the said parties thereto of the first part covenanted with the said parties thereto of the second part that they the said parties thereto of the first part, their executors or administrators, would at and for the price therein-mentioned make and complete and lay down a submarine telegraph cable between Rangoon and Singapore, touching at Penang and such other intermediate stations as should be pointed out for the purpose by the engineer appointed by the Government to accompany the expedition for laying the said cable, such cable to consist of such materials, and to be manufactured and laid down in such manner and by such means within such times and subject and conformably in all respects to the terms or conditions applicable to the manufacture and laying down thereof respectively contained in the specification annexed to the said indenture: Recital.

And whereas by the 10th clause of the said specification it was provided that the contractor should lay the cable and maintain each section and deliver them over at the end of 30 consecutive days in good working order, and to the satisfaction of the engineer appointed by the Government to accompany the expedition in respect of insulation, and by the 11th clause of the said specification it was provided that the contractor should connect the shore ends of the cable with the land stations and instruments:

And whereas by an indenture bearing date the 9th day of May 1861, endorsed on the first hereinbefore recited indenture, and made between the said Richard Atwood Glass, George Elliot, and Charles Edward, of the first part, and the said Sir William Dunbar, Baronet, and John Bagwell, Esq., (two of the Commissioners for exercising the office of Lord High Treasurer of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland) of the second part, it was agreed and declared between and by the said parties thereto of the first part on their own behalf, and the said parties thereto of the second part, for and on behalf of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, that, subject to the new stipulations therein expressly contained, all the stipulations contained in the first hereinbefore recited indenture, and in the specification and tender thereto annexed, should be deemed to be part of the indenture now in recital, with only such variations as were absolutely necessary to make the same applicable to, and not inconsistent with the said indenture now in recital, and that the said cable should be laid down between Malta and Alexandria, instead of between Rangoon and Singapore, in such line as should be indicated by the engineer appointed by Her Majesty's Government to accompany the expedition, and that shore ends should be landed at such and so many places as should be directed by the said engineer:

And whereas the said parties hereto of the second part are proceeding to complete the manufacture of the said cable, and the laying down thereof between Malta and Alexandria, and shore ends of the said cable are, or will be landed at Tripoli and Bengazi, as well as at Malta and Alexandria, and the said cable is or will be divided into three sections, the first section extending from Malta to Tripoli, the second section from Tripoli to Bengazi, and the third section from Bengazi to Alexandria:

And whereas the said parties hereto of the second part, have agreed with Her Majesty's Government for a lease of the said submarine telegraph cable, and of the land stations connected therewith, for the term, and under and subject to the covenants, conditions, provisos, and agreements hereinafter expressed and contained:

Operative part.

Now this indenture witnesseth, and it is hereby agreed and declared between and by the said parties hereto of the first part, for and on behalf of Her Majesty's Government, and the said parties hereto of the second part, for and on their own behalf, and they the said parties hereto of the second part, and every two of them do hereby for themselves, their heirs, executors, and administrators jointly, and each of them doth hereby for himself, his heirs, executors, and administrators separately covenant with the said parties hereto of the first part, their executors and administrators, in manner following (that is to say):

Station houses, &c.

1. The Government shall, at their own expense, provide and erect proper station houses and offices at the stations at Malta, Tripoli, Bengazi, and Alexandria, and the lessees shall be entitled to the use of the office furniture already provided, keeping and restoring the same in good condition and repair.

Delivery of line to lessees.

2. The Government shall, when, and so soon as the said cable shall be certified by the engineer appointed by the Government to accompany the expedition for laying the cable, to have been laid and maintained in good working order, in accordance with Clause 10 of the said specification annexed to the first hereinbefore recited indenture (from which time this lease shall commence) give possession of the said cable, and of the land lines connecting the same with the stations, and of the stations and offices to the said parties hereto of the second part, their executors and administrators (hereinafter called the lessees) who shall hold the same from thenceforth until the first day of January 1867, subject, nevertheless, to the provisions and conditions hereinafter contained for the sooner determination of this lease, in the events hereinafter in that behalf mentioned, and the lessees shall on the expiration, or sooner determination of this lease, deliver over the said cable, land lines, stations and offices, to such person or persons as shall be in that behalf named by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, as to the said cable in good working order, and as to the said land lines, stations, and offices in good repair and condition, except as hereinafter provided.

Cable to be restored in good working order.

Instruments provided by Government to be used by lessees.

3. All electrical instruments and other apparatus which shall have been provided by the Government for the working of the said cable shall, on the commencement of this lease, be given into the possession of the lessees, who shall by themselves or their agents, sign proper receipts for the same, with proper lists and schedules of such instruments and apparatus, and such instruments and apparatus shall be retained by the lessees during the continuance of this lease, and shall be delivered over by the lessees to such person or persons as shall be in that behalf named by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in good working order, repair, and condition, on the expiration or sooner determination of this lease.

Connexion with other lines.

4. The lessees shall permit such telegraph lines as the Government shall think fit to be brought into connexion with the said stations.

Further instruments to be supplied by lessees.

5. The lessees shall provide, at their own expense, all other instruments and apparatus which shall be required at the stations for sending and receiving messages by the said cable, and also for sending and receiving messages by any telegraphic lines which may be brought into connexion with the said stations; all such instruments and apparatus shall be of the best construction and on the most approved principles.

6. The

6. The lessees shall provide, and during the continuance of this lease maintain, at the several stations a sufficient and properly qualified staff of officers, clerks, electricians, workmen and servants, for the proper protecting, working, and keeping in repair and working order the said line, and the instruments and apparatus used in connexion therewith, and for receiving and transmitting messages from and by the lines in connexion with the said stations, and shall and will, during the continuance of this lease, properly work the said line or such sections or section, parts or part thereof, as shall for the time being be in working order and capable of transmitting messages; and also the lines in connexion with the said stations, so far as shall be necessary for transmitting messages received by the said cable, or for receiving messages to be sent by the said cable, and shall cause each section of the cable to be tested daily from each end for insulation in the most approved method to be arranged between the Government and the lessees, or, in case of difference by the arbitrators; and the said lessees shall cause proper journals to be kept at each station, in which journals shall be duly entered the particulars and results of all such tests, and the particulars of the battery power and instruments used in working the line, and all such other particulars as shall be necessary, in order to give to the lessees or the Government full and exact information as to the condition and mode of working the said line and instruments; and the lessees shall and will regularly forward to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury copies of all such journals, and also of all reports received by the said lessees regarding the state and condition and also the working of the said line. Working and testing the line. Reports to Government.

7. The shore ends of the cable, so far as the same can be repaired from the land or by the use of small boats, and the land lines connecting the shore ends of the cable with the stations, and the poles, straining poles, insulators, lighting conductors, and other appliances used for the said land lines shall be kept in repair during the continuance of this lease by and at the expense of the lessees, and the said stations and poles shall be painted with two coats of oil paint at the end of the third year of this lease, by and at the expense of the lessees. Repair of shore ends, land lines, &c.

8. In case any submerged part of the cable shall be injured so as to cease to transmit messages, the same shall forthwith be raised and effectually repaired, and if necessary replaced by new cable in all respects as good as the original cable when first laid down, and to be certified as such by some person to be named in that behalf by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury by the lessees, provided that, unless in the opinion of the arbitrators the injury shall have been caused by or through the default of the lessees in the manufacture, laying, working, raising, or repairing the cable, the lessees shall be at liberty either before or after they shall have endeavoured to repair the cable on giving six weeks' notice to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and paying to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury the sum of 20,000*l.* by way of forfeit, to determine this lease instead of making such repairs, and thereupon the same shall at the expiration of such six weeks be determined as if it had expired by effluxion of time, save that the lessees shall be relieved from all obligation to deliver up the cable in good working order so far as regards the parts so injured, and save that the Government may at any time or times before the expiration of such six weeks take possession of any of the said stations. Repair of submerged portion.

9. In case at any time during the continuance of this lease it shall be necessary to take up any part of the cable which cannot be taken up by the use of small boats for the purpose of repairing the same, the same shall be taken up and repaired or replaced by the lessees, and the expenses borne and paid in manner following, viz.:—(a.) If any Government vessel suitable for the purpose shall be then at Malta, and shall not be required for other purposes (of which the Government shall be the sole judge), the Government shall, or, if any other Government vessel suitable for the purpose can be furnished, the Government may, if they so think fit, lend such vessel to the lessees for the purposes aforesaid, providing such vessel with officers and crew, and defraying all such expenses as shall be required for or incurred in and about the navigation of the said vessel other than the expense of coals and fuel, which shall be at the joint expense of the Government and the lessees, but all necessary fittings to adapt such vessel for the purpose of raising and replacing the said cable shall be placed in such vessel, and shall be afterwards removed, and the said vessel restored to her original state and condition by and at the expense of the lessees, and all machinery, apparatus, and instruments which shall be necessary for the purpose of raising, repairing, and laying the said cable, and the engineers, electricians, and cablemen who shall be necessary shall be provided, maintained and paid by and at the expense of the lessees. Expense of ships for repairing submerged portion.

(b.) If no such vessel shall be furnished by the Government, the lessees shall provide a suitable vessel, and shall provide officers and crew for the same, the hire of which vessel, and the hire and maintenance of the captain and crew, and all such other expenses as shall be required for or incurred in and about the navigation of the said vessel, and also the insurance of the said vessel, shall be at the joint expense of the Government and lessees, but all other matters or things shall be provided and done, and all expenses borne in the same manner as if such vessel had been a Government vessel, and lent to the lessees for the purposes aforesaid.

10. In case it shall appear or shall be decided by the arbitrators that all the faults in the cable on account of which it shall have been necessary to raise the cable were occasioned by or through the default of the lessees, either in the manufacture and laying down, or in the working or repairing the said cable or otherwise, the expenses incurred by the lessees (but not Expense of repairing faults caused through the default of the lessees or otherwise.

not including any of the expenses to be borne by the Government under the provisions hereinbefore contained) in and about raising and repairing the said cable, shall be borne and paid by the lessees, and they shall have no right to require the repayment to them of the same or any part thereof, but in case it shall appear or be decided by the arbitrators that none of the faults on account of which it shall be necessary to raise the cable were occasioned by or through the default of the lessees in the manufacture or laying down, or in the working or repairing of the cable or otherwise, the expenses incurred by them in and about raising, repairing, and replacing the said cable, shall be repaid to the said lessees by and out of the reserve fund hereinafter mentioned, and so far as the said reserve fund for the time being shall be insufficient for the purpose out of the future accumulations thereof, and so far as such reserve fund and accumulations shall be insufficient, shall be borne and paid by the lessees, and in case it shall appear or shall be decided by the arbitrators that some only of the faults in the cable on account of which it shall have been necessary to raise the cable were occasioned by or through the default of the lessees either in the manufacture or laying down or in the working or repairing the said cable or otherwise, and that the others of the said faults were not so occasioned, then the expenses incurred by the lessees as aforesaid in and about raising and repairing the said cable shall be apportioned as the arbitrators shall consider just and equitable, and such part of the said expenses as shall be decided by the arbitrators to have been incurred, owing to the default of the lessees as aforesaid, shall be borne and paid by the lessees, and they shall have no right to require repayment to them of the same or any part thereof, and such part of the said expenses as shall be decided by the arbitrators have been incurred otherwise than by such default as aforesaid, shall be repaid to the lessees by and out of the reserve fund and accumulations hereinbefore mentioned, and so far as the said reserve fund and the future accumulations thereof shall prove insufficient, shall be borne and paid by the lessees, and so from time to time when and so often as it shall be necessary to raise any part of the said cable.

Records of tests and repairs.

11. The lessees shall cause proper journals and records to be kept of the testing cable for the discovery of faults, and the nature and position thereof, and of all proceedings in and about raising, repairing, replacing, and laying down the cable, and shall cause all new cable to be properly tested, and records of such tests to be kept, and shall also permit all such new cable to be tested previously to the same being laid down by any person acting on behalf of the Government, and shall give all proper facilities for that purpose by loan of instruments and otherwise, and shall cause all faulty portions of the said cable which shall be discovered and raised to be cut out and properly marked and labelled, and each such portion shall be accompanied by a certificate referring thereto, signed by the principal engineer or officer directing the proceedings describing the nature and position of the fault, and stating what in his opinion is the cause of such fault, with the grounds of such opinion, and all such portions, together with such certificates, shall be forthwith sent by the lessees to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, or to such person as they shall direct.

Definition of injuries through default of lessees.

12. Provided always, that for the purposes of this lease injuries arising from the absence of proper protection against lightning and from the use of electrical currents of improper strength, or the negligent or wilful acts or omissions of any person in the employment or under the control of the lessees, shall be deemed and taken to be injuries arising by and through the default of the lessees.

Charge for messages through entire line.

13. The lessees shall be entitled to charge for all ordinary messages received by them at either extreme station and sent by the said cable and delivered at or within one mile of the other extreme station, or transmitted thence by any telegraphic line in connexion with such extreme station, the sum of 30*s*., for any message in the English or French language not exceeding (inclusive of the names and addresses of the persons from and to whom such message is sent) 20 words, and the half of such charge for every 10 or fraction of 10 additional words.

Charge for messages through part of line.

14. For all messages which shall be sent through any portion of the line less than the whole such rates shall be charged as shall be agreed between the Government and the lessees, or in case of difference, as shall be fixed by the arbitrators.

Charges for messages in cipher and in foreign languages.

15. For all messages sent in cipher, the lessees shall be entitled to charge at the rate of one word for every five ciphers, and for all messages sent in other languages the lessees shall be entitled to make such charge as shall be proper, having regard to the aforesaid rates of charge for messages in the English and French languages, and to the practice of telegraph companies in the United Kingdom with regard to messages in foreign languages.

Government messages.

16. The messages of the British and Ottoman Governments and of other Governments if so required by the British Government, shall have precedence over and be despatched before all other messages, with such precedence between Governments and messages as the British Government shall from time to time direct, and all other messages shall be despatched in the order in which they are received at the stations, and the messages of the British and Ottoman Governments and of any such other Government as the British Government shall from time to time direct may be sent in cipher, and no other messages shall be sent in cipher or in any language except English or French without the express permission of the British Government. The rates charged for all messages shall be at the rates aforesaid, and no reduction reduction be made in the charges made for any messages without the express permission of the Government.

17. Provided always, that in the event of the gross receipts for messages in any year of this lease, reckoned as hereinafter mentioned, amounting after deducting 10 per cent. to be reserved as hereinafter provided, to the sum of 25,000 l., the rates from and after such event and thenceforth during the continuance of this lease charged for messages o the British Government, shall not exceed five-sixths of the rates for the time being charged for other messages, and in the event of such gross receipts in any year of this lease reckoned as hereinafter provided amounting after deducting 10 per cent. to be reserved as hereinafter provided to the sum of 40,000 l., the rates from and after such last-mentioned event, and thenceforth during the continuance of this lease, charged for messages to the British Government shall not exceed two-thirds of the rates for the time being charged for other messages. Reduction of charges for Government messages in certain events.

18. The sums payable by the British Government for messages shall be paid quarterly, or at the option of the Government shall be deducted from the proportion of the receipts coming to the Government as hereinafter provided, or in case the sums so payable for messages shall exceed the proportion of receipts so coming, the difference only shall be paid by the Government. Mode of payment for Government messages.

19. Ten per cent. of the gross receipts for messages from the commencement of this lease shall be set aside, and shall at such intervals as the Government shall require, not being less than one calendar month, be invested in Consols in the joint names of four persons, two to be nominated by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and two to be nominated by the lessees, and in case of the death of any nominee shall be transferred by the survivors into the joint names of themselves and the persons to be nominated by the party whose nominee shall have died, and the monies so invested and the interest and accumulations thereof shall form a fund to be called "the Reserve Fund," and which persons shall dispose of the same according to the joint written direction of two of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury for the time being, and of the lessees, their executors or administrators. Reserve fund.

20. The remaining 90 per cent. of the gross receipts for messages in each year of this lease reckoned as hereinafter mentioned shall be divided between and belong to the parties hereto of the first part on behalf of the Government and the lessees in the proportions following, viz.: Division of profits.

21. Such 90 per cent. of the gross receipts for messages in such year, but to an amount not exceeding 25,000 l., shall belong as to one-third to the parties hereto of the first part, their executors and administrators, and as two-thirds to the lessees.

22. The excess, if any, of such 90 per cent. of the gross receipts for messages in such year, over 25,000 l., but to an amount not exceeding 30,000 l. shall belong as to two-thirds to the said parties hereto of the first part, their executors and administrators, and as to one-third to the lessees.

23. The excess, if any, of such 90 per cent, of the gross receipts for messages in such year over 55,000 l. shall belong as to three-fourths to the parties hereto of the first part, their executors and administrators, and as to one-fourth to the lessees.

24. For the purpose of the said proviso hereinbefore contained for the reduction of the rates to be charged for messages of the British Government and for the purpose of the division hereinbefore provided for of the said 90 per cent. of the gross receipts for messages, the years of this lease shall be reckoned as follows, viz., the first year shall commence at the commencement of the lease, and shall end at midnight on the 31st December 1862, or at the sooner determination of this lease, and each succeeding year of this lease shall commence at midnight of the 31st December of one year, and at midnight on the 31st December of the year next following, or at the sooner determination of this lease. Years, how to be reckoned.

25. Accounts showing the gross receipts for messages and the charges for Government messages shall be furnished by the lessees to the Government at such intervals, not being less than one calendar month, as the Government shall require, and payment shall be made to the Government of the proportion of the gross receipts to which the Government shall be entitled at such intervals, not being less than one calendar month, as the Government shall require. Accounts and payments to Government.

26. The lessees shall carry on the business of the said telegraph in England at their office in Cannon-street aforesaid, or at such office in London or Westminster as shall be approved by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and shall and will keep at such office all letters, reports, accounts, books of account, vouchers, and other documents received by the lessees from the several stations, and copies of all instructions, letters, and documents sent by them to the persons in their employment at the several stations in a convenient and accessible manner, and properly arranged and indexed, and the same and the indexes thereto shall at all times be open to the inspection of such person or persons as shall be approved for that purpose by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and the person or persons so appointed shall be at liberty at all times to take such copies, extracts, abstracts, or notes thereof as he or they shall think fit. Books, vouchers, &c. to be kept in an office in London.

Reserve fund, how to be divided.

27. At the expiration or sooner determination of the said lease, the Reserve Fund, and the accumulations thereof, or so much thereof as shall remain after the payment thereout of such sums as shall be payable under the provisions hereinbefore contained, shall be applied and divided in manner following (that is to say); in case the same shall not exceed the sum of 10,000 l., the whole thereof shall belong to the Government, but in case the same shall exceed the sum of 10,000 l., the sum of 10,000 l. and one moiety of the excess thereof over 10,000 l. shall belong to the Government, and the other moiety of the excess shall belong to the lessees.

Government may take possession of line.

28. The Government shall have power at any time and from time to time whenever, in the opinion of one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, it shall be expedient for the public service so to do, to take possession of the said line and stations, and of the instruments, apparatus, books, and records of the lessees, and to retain such possession, and make such use thereof during such time as shall be thought expedient, and again to deliver over possession thereof to the lessees, making such compensation to the lessees for loss of profits, injuries to the telegraph, and otherwise as shall be awarded by the arbitrators.

Power to lessees to determine the lease in certain events of war.

29. In the event of war being declared between Her Majesty and the Government of any other country, by reason of which war the gross receipts of the said line for any period of six months shall be less than the gross receipts of the said line for the period of three months immediately preceding such period of six months, the lessees may, at the end of such period of six months (if such war be then continuing), or at any time within three months thereafter, give three months' notice of their desire to terminate this lease, and in such case the lease shall accordingly terminate at the expiration of the said notice, as if the same had then terminated by effluxion of time.

Government to have access to line, &c.

30. The lessees shall at all times give full and free access to the said line, stations, works, apparatus, and instruments to any person or persons in that behalf appointed or authorised by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and shall give full facility to any such person or persons to be present at and witness all repairs of the said line, and shall permit any such person to view and inspect all instruments and modes of working of the said lessees, their engineers, electricians, clerks, and workmen; and also from time to time, and at all reasonable times, to test the said cable and the insulation and conducting power thereof; and the lessees will not, without the permission of Her Majesty's Treasury, in working the line, send any current through the second and third sections of the said cable, and the lessees will not use any instruments, or any mode of working the said line which shall be injurious to, or which shall be objected to by the Government engineer as being injurious to the said cable: provided that, if any difference shall thereupon arise, the same shall be decided by arbitration in manner hereinafter provided, and the lessees will at all times produce and show to any persons in that behalf appointed by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, all books, books of account, accounts, vouchers, letters, reports, and other documents, and the records and duplicates of all messages which have been sent by the said lessees, and will permit copies, abstracts, and notes or extracts of and from all such books and documents to be made, and will furnish such copies, extracts or abstracts thereof or therefrom as shall be required, on being paid a reasonable sum for the expense of making and copying the same.

Default of lessees in working or maintaining line.

31. If at any time or times during the continuance of this lease the said cable, through the default of the lessees, shall not be efficiently worked, the lessees shall pay to the parties hereto of the first part, their executors or administrators, such sum or sums by way of damages as the loss occasioned to the Government by such default shall amount to the amount of such compensation to be settled by arbitration.

Power of re-entry.

32. In case the lessees shall commit any breach of the covenants, conditions and agreements in these presents contained, and on the part of the lessees to be observed and performed, or in case the said lessees shall assign over or sublet this contract and lease, without the consent of the Government in that behalf first had and obtained, or in case the lessees or any of them shall become bankrupt or insolvent, or compound with their or his creditors, or in case any of the goods and chattels of the lessees employed in and about the working of the said line, shall at any time be taken in execution, it shall be lawful for the Government, by notice under the hands of two of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury for the time being, served on the lessees at their office in London or Westminster, to put an end to the present lease on the same terms as if the same had then expired by effluxion of time, but nevertheless without prejudice to the right of the Government to resort to their remedies against the said lessees or their sureties, in respect of any breaches by the lessees of this contract.

Arbitration.

33. If any doubt, difference, or dispute shall arise between the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and the said parties hereto of the second part, their executors or administrators, touching the construction or meaning, or effect of these presents or anything herein contained, or touching the working, maintaining, repairing, raising, or replacing the said cable or any part thereof, or touching any other matter or thing relating thereto, or to this lease, and wheresoever in this lease it is stated or implied that any matter or question shall be settled by arbitration, then and in every such case, such doubt, difference or dispute, matter or question, shall from time to time, and within one calendar month, or as soon as conveniently may be from the occurrence of such doubt, difference, dispute, or question question, be referred to the arbitration of Mr. John Hawkshaw, of Great George-street in the City of Westminster, civil engineer; and George Parker Bidder, of the same place, civil engineer, and of a third person to be named by them, whose determination, or the determination of any two of them in writing, shall be binding on all parties, but in case of the death of the said John Hawkshaw, or of his refusing or becoming incapable to act, then a fit and indifferent person to be nominated in writing under the hands of two of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury for the time being, shall be substituted in his place; and in case of the death of the said George Parker Bidder, or his refusing or becoming incapable to act as aforesaid, then a fit and indifferent person to be nominated by the parties hereto of the second part, their executors or administrators, shall be substituted in his place.

Expenses of arbitration.

34. The expenses of arbitration, including the compensation to be made to the arbitrators for their trouble and fees, and compensation to be made to any accountant's counsel, electricians, or other persons who may be called in, shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators, or any two of them, who shall direct, by whom and to whom, and in what manner the same shall be paid.

Notices, &c.

35. Any appointment, notice, consent, or direction in writing, requisite or expedient for the purpose of any such reference or arbitration, by or on behalf of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, may be expressed by their solicitor for the time being.

Reference to arbitration to be made a rule of Court.

36. Any reference to arbitration under or by virtue of these presents may be made a rule of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Westminster, according to the statutes in that case made and provided, if such courts shall so please, and either party shall be at liberty to apply to any of the said courts, for that purpose, and to instruct counsel to consent thereto for the other party.

Saving.

37. Provided always, and it is hereby agreed and declared, that these presents shall not, nor shall anything herein contained, abrogate, annul, alter, or vary the said hereinbefore recited indentures, or anything therein respectively contained.

In witness, &c.

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 9 June 1863;—for,

COPY "of the AGREEMENT or CONTRACT made by the President of the Board of Works with Sir Edwin Landseer, for the casting of FOUR LIONS to be placed at the Base of the NELSON COLUMN; and of any subsequent CORRESPONDENCE relating thereto."

Sir, Office of Works, &c., 30 July 1858.

HER MAJESTY'S Government having submitted to Parliament an estimate of the cost of completing the stylobate, &c., of the Nelson Column in Trafalgar-square, the House of Commons has voted the sum of 6,000 l. for four colossal Couchant Lions to be executed and placed on the radial pedestals which are prepared to receive them.

Her Majesty's Government are desirous, in disposing of the funds entrusted to them for this service, to secure the greatest talent which can be met with, and to acquire for the country works of art which will be fully worthy of one of the most important sites in London.

With this view, I am directed by the First Commissioner of Her Majesty's Works, &c., to request that you will be good enough to state if you are willing to give the Government the benefit of your services in this matter, by undertaking the entire execution of such designs as you may think best adapted to the purpose.

I have only to add that, in the event of your acceding to the wishes of the Government, the various questions which may now occur to you as to the size, material, &c., of the Lions, may afterwards be easily decided upon.

I am, &c.
(signed) George Russell,
Assistant Secretary.

Sir Edwin Landseer, R.A.

Sir, St. John's Wood, 31 July 1858.

IN reply to your communication from Her Majesty's Government, just received, I beg you to assure the First Commissioner of Her Majesty's Works, &c., that I feel greatly honoured by the commission Her Majesty's Government propose to trust me with, which I accept with a high sense of flattering distinction, and hope my health may enable me to do justice to the subject, which I undertake with pride and pleasure, and trust I may not disappoint Her Majesty's Government or the public in the execution of this important work, viz., the four colossal Couchant Lions for the completion of the Nelson Monument in Trafalgar-square.

I have, &c.
(signed) E. Landseer.

2d Class, 20 s. a week, rising by Annual Increments of 1 s. a week to 25 s. a week.

The Scale of Wages for Letter Carriers who have entered the Service since the 14th June 1861 is 20 s. a Week, rising by Annual Increments of 1 s. a week to 25 s. a week.

Rank.	Number receiving each Rate.	Length of Service in Years.	Rate of Weekly Wages. £. s. d.	Additional Allowance for Special Duty, or Compensation for Fees, &c. Abolished. £. s. d.	Total Amount received Weekly. £. s. d.	Hours employed Daily.	Observations.
1st Class -	1	43	1 7 –	- -	1 7 –	The estimated average attendance of the letter-carriers (including short periods when not actually employed) is rather more than 7¾ hours daily.	The letter-carriers are eligible for promotion to the class of stampers, messengers, and sorters, and afterwards to that of inspectors of letter-carriers—the latter class being 42 in number, with salaries ranging from 110 l. to 300 l. per annum; they are allowed a fortnight's holiday annually, without deduction from their pay; and are, after 10 years' service, entitled to superannuation allowance when unfit for duty. In addition to their wages, they are allowed to receive Christmas gratuities from the public (estimated to amount, on the whole year, to nearly 3 s. per man per week), and are provided with two suits of uniform clothing annually. 150, selected from 1st or 2d class, according to competency, receive 2 s. a week extra for acting as chargetakers. With the exception of about 275, attached to the outlying portions of the suburban districts, they are provided, when ill, with medical attendance and medicines free of charge.

NUMBER of MEN who have been selected from the SORTERS, LETTER CARRIERS, and MESSENGERS during the Years 1857, 1858, 1859, 1860, 1861, and 1862, to perform Clerks' Duties, and who are now performing Duties which were performed in and during the Years 1851, 1852, 1853, 1854, 1855, and 1856, by Clerks.

Sorters	219
(Many of these are employed during a small portion only of their time in duties formerly performed by clerks.)
Letter Carriers	Nil.
Messengers	Nil.

The principal duties transferred from the clerks to the sorters, in accordance with the recommendations of the Treasury Committee of 1854, are those connected with the general sorting and despatching of letters. The arrangements of the Office have for the most part been so modified as to render these duties of a less responsible and difficult character than they were formerly; and by the same revision which transferred those duties, a superior class of sorters was created.

W. Bokenham.

Circulation Department, 15 June 1863.

1 15 –	–	sorter -	1 16 –	–	–	1 17 –	–	–	1 18 –	–	–	1 18 –	–	–	29	The Letter Carriers are eligible for promotion to the class of stampers, messengers, and sorters, and afterwards to that of inspectors of letter carriers, the latter class being 42 in number, with salaries ranging from 110*l.* to 300*l.* per annum. They are allowed a fortnight's holiday annually, without deduction from their pay, and are, after 10 years' service, entitled to superannuation allowance, when unfit for duty. In addition to their wages they are allowed to receive Christmas gratuities from the public (estimated to amount on the whole year to nearly 3*s.* per man per week), and are provided with two suits of uniform clothing annually. 150, selected from 1st or 2d class, according to competency, receive 2*s.* a week extra for acting as chargetakers. With the exception of about 275 attached to the outlying portions of the suburban districts, they are provided during illness with medical attendance and medicines free of charge.

Note.—The view which this statement affords of the consumption of Imported Commodities in Ireland is, to some extent, defective, inasmuch as the coasting regulations by which the cross-channel trade has been governed since the year 1825, prevent the keeping of any record of goods imported duty-free from Great Britain, either in the case of British productions or of foreign Merchandise upon which duty has already been paid in a British port. Of the articles included in the present Account, those for which the comparison with the years prior to 1825 is most affected by this circumstance are refined sugar, Flax Seed, Cotton Wool, Cotton Yarn, Woollen Yarn, Raw and Thrown Silk, and Iron unwrought.

COPY of TREASURY MINUTE, dated 12 February 1863.

MY Lords have under consideration the following reports and accounts, transmitted by the Commissioners of Audit, under the provisions of the Act 24 & 25 Vict. c. 93, viz.:

Customs—Account, 1861–2	-	Auditors' Report,	dated 11 February 1863.
Inland Revenue	ditto	ditto	10 February 1863.
Post Office	ditto	ditto	7 February 1863.
Non-effective services of the three departments	ditto	ditto	11 February 1863.

The Commissioners of Audit have reported that the charges against the Vote for Customs' Effective Services, with certain exceptions referred to amounting in the aggregate aggregate to 1,582 l. 17 s. 3 d., are correct, and that the gross expenditure chargeable against the Vote is 731,625 l. 18 s. 1 d., instead of 733,208 l. 15 s. 4 d., leaving a surplus to be surrendered to the Exchequer of 18,374 l. 1 s. 11 d., instead of 16,791 l. 4 s. 8 d.

(v. p. 1.) My Lords have caused a corrected abstract of the accounts to be prepared for the information of the House of Commons, and they will accordingly direct the larger sum, (18,374 l. 1 s. 11 d.) to be surrendered as a saving in aid of Ways and Means for the year 1863-4.

The Commissioners of Audit have also reported that a sum of 1,065 l. should be deducted from the account of expenditure charged against the Vote for the Effective Services of the Inland Revenue, reducing the expenditure from 1,295,267 l. 17 s. 1 d. to 1,294,202 l. 17 s. 1 d. My Lords have caused the necessary alterations to be made in the (v. p. 2.) corrected abstract of the accounts before referred to, and they will cause the surplus of 145,797 l. 2 s. 11 d., to be surrendered as a saving in aid of Ways and Means for the year 1863-4.

Similar corrections have been made in the abstract of the account of the expenditure of the Post Office, in accordance with the Report of the Commissioners, by which a surplus (v. p. 2.) of 8,263 l. 13 s. 9 d., is to be surrendered as a saving in aid of Ways and Means. My Lords concur with the Commissioners of Audit in considering that the extra receipts should be paid to the Exchequer, and that the unexpended balance in the hands of the Commissioners of Public Works on account of the Post Office, cannot, under the Act 9 & 10 Vict. c. 92, s. 3, and the Act 24 & 25 Vict. c. 93, s. 2, be treated as final expenditure.

The Commissioners of Audit refer to the principle upon which the account of the expenditure for the packet service has been prepared, and they express their doubts whether part of the expenditure of 945,543 l., has been charged in the account in conformity with the literal interpretation of the Vote, which granted a certain amount for the sums which should come in course of payment during the year.

The estimate for this service was prepared by the Admiralty up to the 31st March 1860, and the expenditure of the Vote was accounted for in the accounts of the receipt and expenditure of the Navy to the same date. When the transfer of the service was made from the Naval to the Post Office Department, no change was made either in the terms of the grant, or in the contracts under which the payments were made, nor did any change take place in the date of the Exchequer credit for the service, or in the date when the instrument upon which payment was made was cashed at the Bank. There does not seem therefore, to be any valid reason for a change in the principle upon which the charge against the Vote has been uniformly raised. The difficulty pointed out by the Commissioners of Audit has been caused by a difference in the form of the order for payment. The practice of the Admiralty was to pay the contractors by bills at seven days after date; these bills were issued to the claimants on the 31st March, and were charged in the naval account, according to the established and recognised practice of the Admiralty, as expenditure belonging to the year ending on that day; the date when the bills matured, and were cashed at the Bank did not affect the period of charge against the grant.

In the Post Office Department, a different mode of payment has been adopted. Instead of paying by bills at date, the department has paid the contractors by cheques payable on demand at the Bank; and these cheques have been issued on the day on which the navy bills, under the Admiralty practice, would have become payable at the Bank. Under both modes of payment the contractors have obtained cash at the Bank on the same day.

As great inconvenience to the public service would arise if the portion of the Vote for the packet service which is required to make the regular quarterly payments due to contractors on the 31st March, were surrendered (which would be necessary if the payments in question were thrown forward as a charge upon the following year), my Lords are of opinion, that the Postmaster General should either adopt the mode of payment which was pursued by the Admiralty before the transfer of the service to his department, or should cause cheques payable on demand to be issued to the contractors on the 31st March, so that the expenditure may be passed to the account of the year to which it properly belongs, and they request that he will take the necessary steps accordingly.

My Lords will direct the corrected amount of the saving on the grant for superannua-

(v. p. 3.) tions of the Revenue Departments reported by the Commissioners of Audit, viz., 17,563 l. 2 s. 11 d., to be surrendered in aid of Ways and Means for the ensuing financial year.

Transmit copy of this Minute to the Commissioners of Customs, the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and the Postmaster General for their information and guidance, and request that they will make corrections in their accounts in accordance with the directions contained in this Minute.

Transmit copy to the Commissioners of Audit, and request that in future years they will endeavour to transmit the accounts and their reports thereon to this Board at an earlier date, that my Lords may have more time for considering them than they have had on the present occasion.

Let a copy of this Minute be laid before the House of Commons with the accounts and reports which form the subject of it.

F. Peel.

We, the Commissioners for Auditing the Public Accounts, do hereby certify that the foregoing account has been examined by officers under our directions, and that subject to the observations contained in our Report No. 70, dated the 11th February 1863, accompanying this Account, the above is a correct statement of the expenditure of the sums granted by Parliament for the service of the Customs of the year 1861–2.

Dated at the Audit Office, Somerset House, this 11th day of February 1863.

Audit Office, Somerset House, London, W. C.,
11 February 1863.

My Lords,

We beg leave to transmit the accompanying account of the application of the sums granted by Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 103, s. 19, for the expenses of the collection of the Customs duties for the year ended 31st March 1862, rendered to us by the Comptroller General of Customs, under the several heads of estimate, in pursuance of the Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 93.

The account exhibits the expenditure under two Votes, viz., for the effective and the non-effective services respectively.

1st. Effective Services.

On this branch we have to remark that the accountant has included in his statement of expenditure the whole of the sums advanced to certain officers of the establishment, but of these advances there remained in their hands on the 31st March 1862, unexpended balances amounting to 1,567 l. 17 s. 3 d. The statement also includes an over-payment of 15 l. on account of a salary. The account, therefore, shows a larger amount of expenditure than is properly chargeable to the Vote for 1861-2, by 1,582 l. 17 s. 3 d.

We have to observe, that the details of the Estimate presented to Parliament amount to 753,103 l.; but that the sum which Parliament was asked to grant, and which was subsequently voted, amounts to 750,000 l.; while no alteration was made in the items of which the detailed estimate was composed. The accountant has, therefore, exhibited the expenditure, first, as compared in detail, with the details of the original estimate, and secondly, as whole, with the reduced Estimate and Vote.

It will be seen by the statement which we enclose, in what respects we differ from the accountant as to the classification of the sums chargeable to the Vote for the year; and also as to the amount of the balance which will have to be surrendered to the Exchequer, and which, as we conceive, is 18,374 l. 1 s. 11 d.

2d. Non-Effective Services.

On this division of the account we have only to observe that there remain questions for adjustment on the audit of the cash account, and that the comparison of the payments with the Vote will be the subject of a separate report on the non-effective services of the Customs, Inland Revenue and Post Office conjointly, the non-effective services of the three departments having been provided for in one and the same grant.

We have, &c.

We, the Commissioners for Auditing the Public Accounts, do hereby certify that the foregoing account has been examined by officers under our directions, and that, subject to the observations contained in our report, No. 67, dated the 10th February 1863, accompanying this account, the above is a correct statement of the expenditure of the sums granted by Parliament for the charges of collection of the Inland Revenue Service of the year 1861–62.

My Lords,

We beg leave to transmit herewith the copies of two accounts of the application of the sums granted by Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 103, s. 19, for the expenses of the collection of the Inland Revenue for the year ended the 31st March 1862.

These accounts, one for the Effective, and the other for the Non-effective services, have been rendered to us, under the several heads of the Estimates, pursuant to the Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 93.

The results of our examination of these accounts are as follow; viz.—

Effective Services.

The accountant has included in his statement of the expenditure, sums amounting to 1,065 l., advanced by way of imprest to certain officers of the establishment, the vouchers in respect of which had not been transmitted to us prior to the 30th June, the latest date fixed by Parliament for rendering the account.

This occasions the only difference between the accountant and ourselves which affects the balance of the account.

We have to advert to the circumstance that, while the details of the Estimate as originally made, have remained unaltered, the total has been reduced from 1,456,485 l. to 1,440,000 l., and a Vote taken for the smaller amount.

The only course, therefore, open to us, has been to compare the details of the expenditure with those of the original Estimate, and the total of the expenditure with the amount of the reduced Estimate and Vote.

The results of the twofold comparison will appear from the enclosed statement, in which are shown the only points of difference between the accountant and ourselves, as well as the causes of such differences.

It will be seen from this statement that the sum remaining to be surrendered to the Exchequer is, as we conceive, 145,797 l. 2 s. 10½ d.

We have only further to notice that some questions still remain for adjustment on the audit of the cash account of the expenses of management.

Non-effective Services.

As regards the comparison of the expenditure with the Estimates, we have no observation to make on this account.

The comparison of the expenditure with the Vote, will form the subject of a separate report, on the Customs, Inland Revenue, and Post Office conjointly, inasmuch as the non-effective services of the three departments were provided for by one and the same grant.

We, the Commissioners for auditing the Public Accounts, do hereby certify that the foregoing Account has been examined by officers under our directions; and that, subject to the observations contained in our Report, No. 63, dated 7th February 1863, accompanying this Account, the above is a correct statement of the expenditure of the sums granted by Parliament for the Post Office Service of the year 1861-62.

Dated at the Audit Office, Somerset House, this 7th day of February 1863.

Audit Office, Somerset House,
7 February 1863.

My Lords,

We beg leave to transmit the accompanying account of the sums voted for the Post Office service of 1861-2, and of the amounts expended in that year, forwarded to us, by the Postmaster General, in pursuance of the Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 93.

The expenditure is exhibited under the three branches of the service for which the grants were made, viz. :—

The general service of the Post Office;
The Packet Service; and The Non-effective Services;

the expenditure, in respect of each branch, being classed under the heads of the Estimates of the year, as provided by the 1st section of the above-mentioned Act.

GENERAL SERVICE.

The sums appropriated for the general service of the Post Office were,—

	£.	s.	d.
1st. By Act of 24 & 25 Vict., c. 103, s. 19, the amount of the Estimate	2,050,000	–	–
2d. A Supplementary Vote, granted to cover the excess of expenditure over the original Vote, by Act of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 71, s. 16	28,934	4	7 which is accordingly the amount stated, in the accompanying account, to have been expended.

It may be proper here to observe that the detailed Estimate was for 2,161,133 l., from which a sum of 111,133 l. was deducted, on the face of the Estimate. But, as no alteration was made in the details, we have had no alternative but to compare the details of the expenditure with those of the Estimate as originally prepared, adding however a comparison between the general amount of the Estimate, as presented to Parliament, and the total amount expended.

With this view, we think it desirable, in the first instance, to observe upon certain differences between the accountant and ourselves, as to the expenditure properly chargeable to the Votes under the Sub-Estimates A, D, G, H, and to point out the nature and causes of those differences. We then propose to compare the amounts charged by the accountant against the Votes: 1st, with the amounts which we find, on the detailed examination of the Post Office accounts, to have been expended; 2dly, with the amounts of the detailed Estimates, under each of their several heads; and 3dly, with the amounts of the Votes.

Sub-Estimate A.

Chief Offices in London, Dublin, and Edinburgh.

The amount stated to have been expended	524,512	11	11½
The amount found on examination to have been expended	525,013	7	2½
Spent in excess of the Accountant's statement £.	500	15	3

The difference is occasioned by the following receipts, derived from other sources than the Votes, having been applied in aid of the Votes, viz. :

Rents	524	–	–
Sales of old clothing	2	–	–
£.	526	–	–
Tolls recovered	5	10	–
£.	531	10	–
From which is to be deducted the amount of pensions improperly charged to this Vote	30	14	9
				500 15 3

The amount of tolls recovered, 5 l. 10 s., is an item belonging to the head "Conveyance of mails," and should have been carried to the credit of Sub-Estimate G. (see below.)

Sub-Estimate D.

Provincial Establishments in Ireland.

The amount stated to have been expended	50,096	18	11
The amount found, on examination, to have been expended	50,111	18	11
Spent in excess of the accountant's statement £.	15	–	–

This sum of 15 l. is the amount of rents applied in aid of the Vote, as in the foregoing case.

Sub-Estimate G.

Conveyance of Mails.

Amount stated to have been expended	853,906	19	3½
Amount found upon examination to have been expended	853,958	18	5½
Spent in excess of the accountant's statement £.	51	19	2

This excess is occasioned by the following receipts, derived from other sources than the Votes, having been applied in aid of the Votes, as in the preceding cases, viz.:

Rents	21	5	–
Sales of old boxes	31	12	2
Sale of old time-pieces	4	7	–
Fine on a contractor	–	5	–
£.	57	9	2
Deduct,—Tolls recovered, which should have been credited to this head of service, instead of that of Sub-Estimate A., as above observed	5	10	–
				51 19 2

Sub-Estimate H.

Buildings.

	£.	s.	d.
Amount stated to have been expended	65,460	7	5
Amount found on examination to have been expended	56,628	19	3
Spent less than stated by accountant £.	8,831	8	2
This difference arises as follows:
Balance of advances to the Board of Works, remaining unexpended, in their hands, on 31st March 1862	9,426	–	2
Deduct,—Rents applied in aid of the Vote, as in the preceding cases	594	12	–
				8,831 8 2

The several sums of 526 l., 15 l., 57 l. 9 s. 2 d., and 594 l. 12 s., adverted to under the foregoing heads, should, we apprehend, have been paid into the Exchequer as extra receipts.

The following Statement (in which we have deemed it most convenient to embrace the whole account, including the items, in which we agree with the accountant, as well as those in which we differ from him), exhibits the state of the account with reference to the foregoing observations, and also as compared with the details of the Estimate, as originally prepared.—

Excess on Net Estimate	£. 20,670 10s. 10d.		£. 20,670 10s. 10d.

We now proceed to show the result of our examination, as compared with the amount of the Net Estimate, as presented to Parliament and with the Votes, as follows, viz.:

	£.	s.	d.
Amount expended as per account of the Postmaster General	2,078,934	4	7
Amount granted by Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 103, s. 19	2,050,000	–	–
Excess of Expenditure over the Vote £.	28,934	4	7

This excess was provided for by a supplementary grant, of the same amount, under the 25 & 26 Vict. c. 71, s. 16.

The two grants having thus provided for the Expenditure, as stated by the Postmaster-General, viz.	2,078,934	4	7
But the payments having been found, on examination, to amount, as shown in the foregoing statement, to only	2,070,670	10	10
There remains a surplus to be surrendered to the Exchequer of £.	8,263	13	9

As respects the balance of the grant for this branch of the service, on the preceding year ended 31st March 1861, an account has been transmitted to us from the Post Office, showing the Net Amount remaining unissued at that date to have been	151,420	16	8¾
In this Account the whole of the advances made to the Board of Works, on account of Post Office Buildings during the year 1860-1, is treated as expenditure; but it appears, by the Accounts of that Board, that, on the 31st March 1861, there remained an unexpended balance in their hands, of	7,434	17	8
The unexpended balance of the Vote for 1860-1, which remained to be surrendered on the 31st March 1861, would therefore appear to have been £.	158,855	14	4¾

PACKET SERVICE.

Amount stated to have been expended - - - - - -	945,543	-	-
Amount found, on examination, to have been expended - - -	940,048	11	1
Difference - - - £.	5,494	8	11

This difference has arisen, as appears by an explanation transmitted to us by the Receiver and Accountant General of the Post Office from the circumstance that the account has been rendered on the principle of charging to the Votes the sum expended on account of the year 1861–2, instead of those which came in course of payment within that year; thus—

	£.	s.	d.
Payments on account of 1861–2 included in the Postmaster General's account, but excluded by us, as not having been made within the year (stated to have been made in 1862-3) - - - - - -	274,913	18	11
Deduct, payments made within the year, but excluded from the account of the Postmaster General, as having been made on account of the year 1860–1	269,419	10	-
				5,494	8	11
The payments for the Packet Service, made in the year 1861-2 amounted, as above shown, to - - - - - - - -				940,048	11	1
And the sum granted by Act of 24 & 25 Vict. c. 103 having been -				919,956	-	-
The difference on this grant was - - - - - -				20,092	11	1
Which was met by a supplementary grant, under the Act of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 71, of - - - - - - - - - - - -				25,587	-	-
Thus leaving a surplus, to be surrendered to the Exchequer, of £.				5,494	8	11

Respecting the balance of the grant, for this branch of the service, on 31 March 1861, we have to notice that there remained in the hands of the Postmaster General, at that date, a sum of 297,454 l. 18 s. 6 d., as appears by his account for 1860-1.

NON-EFFECTIVE SERVICES.

Sub-Estimate A.—"Superannuation Allowances."

	£.	s.	d.
Amount stated to have been expended - - - - - -	47,871	14	3
Add, erroneously charged under other heads of service, viz.—
Effective Services (Sub-Estimate A) as already stated under that head - - - - - - - - - - - -	30	14	9
And under the head of Compensation Allowances (see below) -	8	1	10
£.	47,910	10	10

Sub-Estimate B.—Compensation Allowances.

Amount stated to have been expended - - - - - -	4,532	7	11
Deduct—The above-mentioned Superannuation Allowance, charged under this head - - - - - - -	8	1	10
£.	4,524	6	1

SUB-ESTIMATES.	Amount of Estimate.	Amount of Expenditure.	EXPENDITURE. More than Estimate.	EXPENDITURE. Less than Estimate.
	£. s. d.	£. s. d.	£. s. d.	£. s. d.
A. Superannuation Allowances - - -	53,641 15 1	47,910 10 10	- - -	5,731 4 3
B. Compensation Allowances - - -	3,358 4 11	4,524 6 1	1,166 1 2	—
	57,000 - -	52,434 16 11	1,166 1 2	5,731 4 3
	£. 4,565. 3 s. 1 d.		£. 4,565. 3 s. 1 d.

The Expenditure thus appears to have been less than the Estimate by the sum of 4,565 l. 3 s. 1 d.

The comparision of the expenditure with the Vote for Non-Effective services will be the subject of a separate report on the Non-Effective services of the Customs, the Inland Revenue and the Post Office, which were provided for in one and the same grant.

We have only to add that there remain some questions for final adjustment upon the audit of the detailed cash account.

We, the Commissioners for Auditing the Public Accounts, do hereby certify that the foregoing Account has been examined by officers under our directions, and that, subject to the observations contained in our Report, No. 67, dated the 10th February 1863, accompanying this account, the above is a correct statement of the expenditure of the sums granted by Parliament for the non-effective services of the Inland Revenue of the year 1861-2.

Dated at the Audit Office, Somerset House, this 10th day of February 1863.

11 February 1863.

My Lords,

With reference to our reports, Nos. 63, 67 and 70, dated February the 7th, 10th, and 11th respectively, on the appropriation accounts of the Customs, the Inland Revenue, and the Post Office, in which we observed that, inasmuch as the non-effective services of the three departments for 1861-2, were provided for by one and the same grant, we were unable to transmit therewith separate statements of the expenditure as compared with the Vote; we now beg leave to enclose a statement for the three departments conjointly.

It will be seen that the only instance in which we differ from the accountants, arises from the sum of 30 l. 14 s. 9 d., having been charged in the Post Office account to effective services, instead of non-effective services, as stated in our report of the 7th February.

The amount of saving to be surrendered to the Exchequer, as shown by the accompanying statement, is therefore, we conceive, 17,563 l. 2 s. 11 ½ d., instead of 17,593 l. 17 s. 8 ½ d., as shown upon the accounts.

We have, &c.

ROYAL FORESTS AND WOODLANDS.

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 23 March 1863;—for,

A STATEMENT "giving the following Particulars with reference to each of the FORESTS and WOODLANDS mentioned in ACCOUNT III. 'Royal Forests and Woodlands,' pages 6 and 7 of ABSTRACT ACCOUNTS of the COMMISSIONERS of HER MAJESTY'S WOODS, FORESTS, and LAND REVENUES, Parliamentary Paper, No. 48, Session 1863, viz.:—Name; Acreage (Measured or Estimated); Description of Land; Nature of the Rights of the Crown; the Number (so far as can be ascertained) of any other Persons besides the Crown having Rights in any of the Royal Forests, and the General Nature of such Rights; the Extent and Description of Woods and Plantations; the Dates when, and the Authority under which, the same respectively were Planted; with a Summary showing the Total Extent and Nature of the Woods and Plantations in all the Royal Forests and Woodlands, distinguishing such as were Planted before, from such as have been Planted since the Year 1800, and with any Observations necessary to explain such Statement."

(Mr. Hunt.)

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
24 April 1863.

A STATEMENT giving the following Particulars with reference to each of the Forests and Woodlands mentioned Her Majesty's Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues, Parliamentary Paper, No. 48, Session 1863, viz.: Name; can be ascertained) of any other Persons besides the Crown having Rights in any of the Royal Forests, and the Authority under which the same respectively were Planted; with a Summary showing the Total Extent and before, from such as have been Planted since the Year 1800, and with any Observations necessary to explain

NAME OF FORESTS OR WOODLANDS.	Acreage (Measured or Estimated).	Description of Land.	Nature of the Rights of the Crown.
NEW FOREST - - -	- - About 63,000 acres in which the Crown has the right to the soil. In addition to the 63,000 acres in which the Crown has the right of soil, there are about 26,000 acres of land which is the property of private persons. The Crown has no right to inclose or to plant such land, or to keep deer thereon; both the soil and the timber are the property of private landowners.	- - Nearly one-half of the land in which the Crown has the right of soil, is sand, peat, and gravel, of very poor quality; the remainder of such land consists of clay, gravel, and loam, of a better description.	- - The right to the soil and timber in and upon about 63,000 acres, and the right of inclosing parts of such land not exceeding 16,000 acres at any one time, which were conferred by the Acts 9 & 10 Will. 3, c. 36, 48 Geo. 3, c. 76, and 14 & 15 Vict. c. 76; under the provisions of those Acts, whenever the trees in any parts of the inclosures are so far grown up as to be free from injury by cattle, such parts may be thrown open from time to time, and an equal quantity of the open Forest may be inclosed and planted. By the latter Act the Crown's right of keeping deer in the whole of the New Forest was extinguished, but the other forestal rights still continue.
	A. R. P. 2,103 0 0	Clay, loam and gravel - - - Of the freehold lands of the Crown, not under plantation, 668 A. 3 R. 9 P. is let to tenants, other parts are used as nurseries for young trees, and other Forest purposes, and the residue is attached to the Queen's House, and to Lodges within the Forest.	Freehold - - - - - -
DEAN FOREST - - -	- - About 19,000 acres in which the Crown has the right to the soil. In addition to the 19,000 acres in which the Crown has the right of soil, there are 3,278 acres, the property of private persons, over parts of which the Crown possesses forestal rights, but the Crown is not entitled to the timber, or to inclose or plant such land.	- - As regards about two-thirds of the land, the soil is loam and clay; the remainder rocky and sandy.	- - The right to the soil and timber, with power under the provisions of the Act 20 Chas. 2, c. 3, and the Act 48 Geo. 3, c. 72, to inclose not exceeding 11,000 acres at any one time for the growth of timber. Under the terms of the first-mentioned Act, whenever the trees in any parts of the inclosures (not being less than 500 acres) are so far grown up as to be free from injury by cattle, such part may be thrown open, and an equal quantity of open Forest may be inclosed and planted. The Crown's rights as regards the minerals and substrata are regulated by the Acts 1 & 2 Vict. c. 43; 24 & 25 Vict. c. 40.

in Account III. "Royal Forests and Woodlands," pages 6 and 7 of Abstract Accounts of the Commissioners of Acreage (measured or estimated); Description of Land; Nature of the Rights of the Crown; the Number (so far as General Nature of such Rights; the Extent and Description of Woods and Plantations; the Dates when, and the Nature of the Woods and Plantations in all the Royal Forests and Woodlands, distinguishing such as were Planted such Statement.

The Number (so far as can be ascertained) of any other Persons besides the Crown having Rights.	The General Nature of such Rights.	The Extent and Description of Woods and Plantations. A. R. P.		The Dates when, and Authority under which, the same respectively were Planted.
- - Under the provisions of the Act 14 & 15 Vict. c. 76, 16 Vict. c. 19, and 17 & 18 Vict. c. 49, Commissioners were appointed to ascertain the rights of common in the New Forest, and those Commissioners have by their award found that there are 863 properties or tenements having such rights.	- - The rights so ascertained are to some one or more of the following rights of common: Common of pasture. Common of mast. Common of turbary. Common of estovers. The right to dig marl and to cut heath or furze. All these rights are to be exercised in the manner and places, and subject to the restrictions mentioned in the Commissioners' award.	522 0 21	Oak and beech	1700	- - These plantations were made under the directions of the Acts of Parliament 9 & 10 Will. 3, c. 36, 48 Geo. 3, c. 76, and 14 & 15 Vict. c. 76; the first-mentioned Act recited, that forasmuch as the woods and timber, not only in the New Forest but in this kingdom in general, had of late years been much wasted and impaired, and the said Forest, that might be of much use and conveniency for supply of His Majesty's Royal Navy, was in danger of being destroyed if some speedy course were not taken to restore and preserve the growth of timber there; and section 1 provides that the inclosures to be made under the authority of that Act shall be "called, made, and kept a nursery for wood and timber only;" and section 4 provides that such inclosures "shall not be ploughed or sowed with any corn, or fed with any cattle, or be at any time or times kept for any underwood, but in such manner only as shall be fit for the raising and preserving of timber for the use of the Navy." In like manner, section 4 of the Act 14 & 15 Vict. c. 76, provides that the inclosures to be made under that Act "shall be made and reputed a nursery or nurseries for timber or trees only."

- - The Act of Parliament, 20 Chas. 2, c. 3, which recited that forasmuch as the wood and timber which had theretofore been of very great quantity and value within the Forest of Dean, was become totally destroyed (except as therein mentioned), whereby there was an apparent scarcity of timber there, as in all other parts of the kingdom, so that some course was necessary to be speedily taken to restore and preserve the growth of timber for the future supply of the Royal Navy, and the maintenance of shipping for the trade of the nation. And by section 2 the Act declared that the inclosures to be made "shall be made and reputed a nursery for wood and timber only." And the Act 48 Geo. 3, c. 72.

Note.—Parts of this quantity, although planted, are of sufficient age to be free from injury by cattle, and have therefore been thrown open, and the quantity of land inclosed under the provisions of the Acts 20 Chas. 2, c. 3, and 48 Geo. 3, c. 72, is within the limit (11,000 acres) fixed by those Acts, as being the quantity which may be inclosed at any one time.

NAME OF FORESTS OR WOODLANDS.	Acreage (Measured or Estimated).	Description of Land.	Nature of the Rights of the Crown.
	A. R. P.
HIGHMEADOW WOODS -	3,359 3 34	- - About one-half is a light soil of fair quality, the remainder rocky and precipitous.	- - Freehold. This property was purchased under the provisions of the Act 57 Geo. 3, c. 97, which recited that from the quantity of thriving oak timber growing on the estate, and the facility of conveying the timber growing thereon, when cut, to the Government Dockyards by water-carriage, and from the contiguity of the estate to Dean Forest, it was expedient to effect the purchase.
	Note.—In addition to the above-mentioned 3,359 A. 3 R. 34 P. of woodlands, there are also belonging to the Crown 41 A. 1 R. 36 P. let to various tenants in small holdings.
ALICE HOLT - - - -	2,039 3 13	- - Principally clay, but in some small portions the soil is gravel.	Freehold - - - - -
WOOLMER - - - -	2,808 2 7	Poor sand, with peaty surface -	Freehold - - - - -
BERE - - - - -	1,456 3 35	- - A loamy clay, with the exception of a gravelly subsoil in some small portions.	Freehold - - - - -
PARKHURST - - - -	1,160 1 26	- - The greater part a very stiff cold clay soil, with gravel on the hills.	Freehold - - - - -

The Number (so far as can be ascertained) of any other Persons besides the Crown having Rights.	The General Nature of such Rights.	The Extent and Description of Woods and Plantations.	The Dates when, and Authority under which, the same respectively were Planted.
		A. R. P.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	727 3 15 Oak and fir -	- - Woods standing at the time of the purchase by the Crown, of which about 80 acres have been planted from time to time, as decayed and defective trees have been thinned out.
		74 1 7 - ditto - -	1825.
		964 0 1 - ditto - -	- - Woods standing at time of purchase; 65 acres replanted.
		179 2 27 - ditto - -	1825 to 1830.
		100 0 35 - ditto - -	- - Woods standing at time of purchase; 30 acres replanted.
		447 2 28 - ditto - -	1825 to 1830.
		266 0 24 - ditto - -	- - Woods standing at time of purchase; 80 acres replanted.
		310 0 38 - ditto - -	1825 to 1830, and 1853 to 1855.
		254 3 10 - ditto - -	- - Woods standing at time of purchase, with a few small patches of young plantations.
		35 0 9 - ditto - -	Woods standing at time of purchase.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	- - Planted with oak, except as to about 100 acres of land, which is planted with larch and ash.	- - The planting commenced in 1812, and was finished in 1836. It took place under the directions of the Act 52 Geo. 3, c. 72, which recited, that from the great and increasing difficulty of procuring a supply of timber from foreign countries, and from the estates of private individuals in the United Kingdom, it had become necessary to adopt measures for securing a more adequate supply of timber in the kingdom, and that if the King was empowered to inclose certain parts of the forest, and such parts were appropriated for the growth and preservation of wood and timber, the same would be of great benefit to the King and the public in general; and the Act directed that the inclosure to be made by the Crown under its authority should be made and reputed a nursery or nurseries for wood and timber only.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	- - 1,235 A. 2 R. 15 P. planted with Scotch fir, larch, and pine, and small portions with oak; the remainder, viz., 1,572 A. 3 R. 32 P. being unfit for growth of timber.	- - The planting commenced in 1813, and finished in 1836. Under the directions of the Act 52 Geo. 3, c. 71, which contained similar recitals and provisions to those above extracted from the Act relating to Alice Holt Woods.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	All planted with oak - -	- - The planting commenced about the year 1812, under the authority of the Act 50 Geo. 3, c. 218 (1810). That Act recited that from the contiguity of Bere Forest to Portsmouth Dockyard, if the Forest were disafforested, and if the demesnes of the Crown and the allotment to the Crown to be made under that Act were set apart for the growth and preservation of wood and timber, the same would be of great benefit and advantage to the King and to the public in general; and section 34 directed that such lands should be made and kept "as nurseries for wood and timber only, and for no other use, intent, or purpose whatsoever."
- - None - - -	- - None - -	- - Planted with oak, larch, beech, chestnut, Scotch fir, and stone pine.	- - The planting commenced about 1814, under the authority of the Act 52 Geo. 3, c. 171 (1812), which contained recitals similar to those in the above-mentioned Acts relating to Alice Holt and Bere Forests; and section 39 provided that all such parts of the allotments to the Crown as should not be required for Parkhurst Barracks should be set apart as nurseries for wood and timber.

	A. R. P.
DELAMERE - - - - -	4,022 3 18	- - With the exception of mosses, and about 300 acres on the north side of the Crown Estate, which is a good loam on a marl subsoil, the general soil of the Crown allotments is very poor sand.	Freehold - - - - -
SALCEY - - - - - -	1,277 2 17	- - A good loamy soil on rather a stiff clay mixed with sand veins.	Freehold - - - - -
HAZLEBOROUGH WOOD -	489 0 18	- - A good loam on a clay subsoil, with the exception of a small portion on the west side of the wood, which is sandy.	Freehold - - - -
CHOPWELL WOODS - -	896 0 0	- - Mostly a sandy clay with stiff clay subsoil; a few spots of gravel and a small extent of moss.	Freehold - - - - -
EPPING - - - - - -	- - About 7,000 acres. The Crown's forestal rights, over about 4,000 acres of which have been sold.	Clays, sands, and gravels - -	- - The Crown is not the owner of any land in Epping Forest. The land and the timber standing upon it are the property of private land-owners. The Crown is entitled to forestal rights only.

The Number (so far as can be ascertained) of any other Persons besides the Crown having Rights.	The General Nature of such Rights.	The Extent and Description of Woods and Plantations.	The Dates when, and Authority under which, the same respectively were Planted.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	About 2,622 acres - - -	- - All planted since 1817, under the directions of the Act 52 Geo. 3, c. 136 (1812), which contained a similar recital to that in the Act relating to Alice Holt Forest, and section 33 provided that the Crown allotment should "for ever be made and kept as nurseries for wood and timber only, and for no other use, intent, or purpose whatsoever." By the Act 19 Vict. c. 13, this direction was repealed, and the general powers of leasing and sale conferred on the Commissioners of Woods by the Act 10 Geo. 4, c. 50 were extended to this allotment, of which about 1,400 acres have been since cleared and let as farms.
		Castlehill, 614 acres oak, with a few larch.
		Linmere, 1,044 acres oak and larch, except about 1-7th which is moss, and planted with Scotch fir.
		Longridge, 273 acres oak and larch.
		Plovers Moss, 169 acres Scotch fir.
		Forest House, 84 acres Scotch fir.
		Primrose Hill, 438 acres oak and larch.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	All planted with oak - -	- - Planted between 1832 and 1846 under the authority of the Acts 6 Geo. 4, c. 132, which directed the Commissioners for disafforesting Salcey Forest, to set out as the Crown allotment such parts of the Crown Forest as (subject as therein mentioned) be best suited for the growth and cultivation of timber.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	All planted with oak - -	- - Planted between 1830 and 1835 under the authority of the Act 5 Geo. 4, c. 99 (1824), which recited, that the soil of Hazleborough Walk was particularly well suited to the growth and cultivation of timber, but from the nature of property and rights the same could not be as fully improved as it might otherwise be, and that it would be of great benefit to the King and to the public if such Walk were disafforested, and if a portion were allotted to the Crown for the growth and preservation of timber; and section 30 directed the Commissioners under that Act, in making the Crown allotment, to consider the suitability of the land for the growth and cultivation of timber.
- - None - - -	- - None - -	-- All planted, chiefly with larch; some Scotch pine on the gravelly soil, and some alder and birch on a small extent of marshy ground.	- - 1853 to 1859; under the authority of the Lords of the Treasury and the Commissioners of Woods, &c.
-- The land not being the property of the Crown, these particulars cannot be given.	- - For the reason before stated, this information cannot be given.	- - The Crown is not the owner of any woods or plantations in Epping Forest.	- - - None.

Note.—It is to be observed, that the 39,687 A. 1 R. 22 P. of woods and plantations planted since 1800 consist almost entirely of oak, and form about four-fifth parts of the total extent of land under the growth of timber and other trees in the Royal Forests and Woodlands above-mentioned. That the oak plantations were made under the directions of different Acts of Parliament, which, in most cases, expressly declared the object to be, the providing a supply of oak timber for the Navy. That as an oak tree does not arrive at maturity in less than about 100 years from the time of planting, and as the greater part of the plantations in question have not been made for half that length of time, a considerable period must yet elapse before the trees are in a state to be felled as oak timber. The value of the crop is, however, increasing from year to year, and on reference to the Appendix (R.) to the Report (Parliamentary Paper, 513, September 1849) of the Select Committee of the House of Commons, which sat in the years 1848-9, as to the Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues of the Crown, it will be seen that the value of the enclosed plantations made since 1808 was estimated in 1849 at 1,087,777 l., and that the value of the same plantations when at maturity was estimated at upwards of 10,000,000 l.

SAVINGS BANKS.

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 9 February 1863;—for,

RETURN "in continuation of Parliamentary Paper, No. 135, of Session 1862, of Accounts relating to Savings Banks, for the Year ending the 20th day of November 1862."

RETURN in continuation of Parliamentary Paper, No. 135, of Session 1862, giving, under the Head No. 1, the altered Form of Classification of Depositors' Balances, as rendered by the Banks to the National Debt Commissioners for 1851; and, under Head No. 5, showing, in addition to the detailed Statements there given, the aggregate Amount of Stocks and Securities Sold and Purchased by the Commissioners on account of Savings Banks for the Year ending on the 20th day of November 1862.

(No. 1.)—ACCOUNTS of the Number of Individual Depositors, and of Charitable Institutions and Friendly Societies depositing their Funds in Savings Banks, and of the Sums Deposited, divided into Classes, as rendered by the Banks to the National Debt Commissioners on the 20th day of November 1862:

(No. 2.)—Of the Amount of Principal Money Received from, and of Interest Credited to, and of Principal and Interest Money Paid to the Trustees of Savings Banks (distinguishing Great Britain and Ireland), by the National Debt Commissioners, upon the 20th day of November 1862; of the Amount of Money, Principal and Interest, due to the Trustees by the Commissioners, on the 20th day of November 1862; of the Securities held by the Commissioners on the 20th day of November 1862; and of the Value of those Securities at the Prices of that day (stating such Prices), to provide the Amount due by the Commissioners to the Trustees on that day for Principal and Interest:

(No. 3.)—Of the Aggregate Amount of Interest Paid and Credited to the Trustees of Savings Banks (distinguishing Great Britain and Ireland) by the Commissioners, and the Aggregate Amount of Interest or Dividends Received by and Due to the Commissioners on the Stocks, Funds, Exchequer Bills, Exchequer and other Bonds held by them on account of the Trustees, upon the 20th day of November 1862; and stating also the Difference in Amount between the Amounts so Paid and Credited, and Received, up to the 20th day of November 1862:

*The Stock held by the Commissioners has always been valued in these Accounts at the Prices on 20th November in each year. If those Prices be higher at one period than another, in the same degree will the value of the securities appear to be greater or less, and so of the Balance deficient. The prices of Stock on 20th November 1861 and 20th November 1862 were as follows:—

	1861.	1862.
Consolidated 3 per Cents. - - - - - - - -	94 $\frac{1}{4}$	93 $\frac{5}{8}$
Reduced 3 per Cents. - - - - - - - - -	92 $\frac{1}{4}$	92

Terms of Years - - - - - - - - - -	15 $\frac{1}{2}$	15 $\frac{1}{16}$

Upon this principle the Balance deficient on 20th November 1862 is made to appear £. 4,996,148. 14., while the same principle made it appear £. 4,703,095. 0. 4., on 20th November 1861.

The TOTAL AMOUNT so credited, and paid therefore to the Trustees in their Account with the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt - - - - - - - - - - - - £.	1,315,863 10 8

The sums actually paid to the Trustees as interest on the amounts withdrawn, as stated above, viz., £. 19,534. 12. 11., being the cash transactions, and affecting cash balances, are included in Column 2 of this Return.

The amounts of interest credited, but not paid, have, on the other hand, not been so inserted, because they are not cash transactions affecting the balances of money in the hands of the Commissioners; they are the amounts credited to the Trustees, and added to the capital of the Savings Banks in the Books of the National Debt Office, under the directions of the Act 9 Geo. 4, c. 92.

The Sums applied for Incidental Expenses, paid out of the Funds of Savings Banks during the Year 1862, were as follows:—

From 20th November 1861 to 20th November 1862 (see Detail in Column 5 of this Account) - - £. 540. 13. 1.

The above-stated SUM of £. 540. 13. 1. was applied as follows, viz.:—

General Note.—The number of hours given in the last column does not, in numerous instances, as appears by the returns received at the National Debt Office, show to anything like the full extent the time occupied in transacting the whole business of the Banks; the attention of the officers and clerks being much occupied with correspondence, attendance on Trustees and Managers at their meetings, half-yearly balances of accounts, preparation of returns to the Commissioners and to Parliament, and various incidental matters in addition to the ordinary business arising from receipt and payment of money.

SAVINGS BANKS (IRELAND).

RETURN to an Order of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 23 June 1863;—for,

RETURNS "from each SAVINGS BANK in Ireland, relating to the Audit of DEPOSITORS BOOKS, in conformity with the Act 11 & 12 Vict. c. 133, s. 5, with the following particulars:—

(a) Books not produced were usually presented for inspection in the month of January, and cause of absence, viz., illness, or distance allowed by a trustee or manager, and interest restored to account.

(b) Not established till 1860.

(c) All books produced in 1861 and 1862 by depositors were paid off in full, and steps have been taken to discover the residences of those who did not appear that all may be paid off.

(d) From the number of cases wherein the managers have allowed the interest, some in full and some in part, it would be almost impossible to give an accurate return of those accounts on which interest had actually ceased. The auditor also attends on each business day for some few weeks subsequently to examine and verify the depositors' books.

"And, of the TREASURY MINUTE thereon."

Treasury Chambers, Whitehall, 30 June 1863. F. PEEL.

Sir Frederic Rogers to Mr. G. A. Hamilton.

Sir, Downing Street, 4 April 1863.

I AM directed by the Duke of Newcastle to transmit to you, for the consideration of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, a copy of a Despatch from the Governor of New South Wales, with a memorandum prepared by the Deputy Master of the Sydney Mint, with reference to the admission of the coin struck at that Mint to a currency co-extensive with that of Imperial coin. I am also to forward a copy of a letter on the subject from Mr. Edward Hamilton, who is acting in this country on behalf of New South Wales.

No. 8, 21 January 1863.

I am, &c.

G. A. Hamilton, Esq., &c. &c. &c. (signed) Frederic Rogers.

(Enclosures.)

Sir J. Young to the Duke of Newcastle.

My Lord Duke, Government House, Sydney, 21 January 1863.

THE Colonial Secretary has requested me to forward the enclosed memorandum, which has been prepared by Captain Ward, the Deputy Master of the Sydney Mint.

2. I would beg to recommend the propositions contained in this paper to the favourable consideration of Her Majesty's Government. I enclose copies of a Bill which was introduced last Session, with the view of placing the Sydney Branch of the Mint on the footing which it appears would meet the approval of Her Majesty's Government. Owing to press of business towards the close of the Session the Bill fell through, but the Ministers do not anticipate any difficulty in carrying a similar measure in the next Session.

I have, &c.

To His Grace the Duke of Newcastle, K. G. &c. &c. &c. (signed) John Young.

MEMORANDUM for the consideration of the Honourable Charles Cowper, Colonial Secretary, New South Wales.

1. A SELECT Committee of the House of Commons did in 1862 recommend on certain conditions the admission of the coin struck at the Sydney Branch Mint to a currency co-extensive with that of the coin struck at the Royal Mint in London.

2. The Colonial Government are desirous of accepting the boon on the conditions proposed; and with this object are prepared to introduce a Bill next Session into the local Parliament to make permanent provision for the maintenance of the local Mint, and thus to place the control of that establishment in the hands of the Imperial Government.

3. When this Bill has been passed, and before the coin can be admitted to the currency promised, an Act of the Imperial Parliament will be necessary to render such currency legal.

4. As the local Bill cannot become an Act before the middle of this year, the Imperial Act, if it must follow the local Act, cannot be passed until the Session of 1864.

5. It is suggested, however, that to save one Session of the Imperial Parliament, an Imperial Act might be passed in 1863, authorising the Queen by Order in Council to proclaim the coin struck at the Branch Mint in Sydney, a legal tender in all parts of the British Dominions where gold coin minted in London is current, as soon as the Colonial Parliament shall have passed a satisfactory Act for making the permanent provision prescribed.

A suggestion to this effect might be made to the Secretary of State, accompanied by a statement of the views of the Government, and a copy of the Bill proposed to be introduced in the Colony.

Royal Mint, Sydney,

26 Victoriæ, 1862.

A BILL to make permanent Provision for the Sydney Mint.

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to make permanent provision in this Colony for maintaining the establishment of the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint; Be it enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Sydney Mint supported out of Colonial Revenues.

When Sydney coinage adopted in United Kingdom.

1. There shall be payable to Her Majesty in every year, out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of the Colony, a sum or sums not exceeding in the whole in any year the sum of 15,000 l., for defraying the salaries and other contingent expenses of maintaining the establishment of the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint, provided that such yearly payments shall take effect and begin to run on and from the day upon which it shall be proclaimed in this Colony that the coin issued from the said Sydney Branch has been duly declared to be a legal tender in all parts of Her Majesty's dominions in which the coin issued from the Royal Mint in London is a legal tender.

Payments to be made under Governor's warrants.

2. The said several sums of money shall be issued by the Colonial Treasurer in discharge of such warrants as shall from time to time be directed under the hand of the Governor. And the said treasurer shall account to Her Majesty for the same through the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in such manner and form as Her Majesty shall be graciously pleased to direct.

Mint charges to go to Consolidated Fund.

3. All sums of money lawfully received or collected by way of fees, dues, or charges at the said Sydney Branch shall be, from time to time, accounted for and paid over by the Deputy Master, or other proper officer of the said Branch, to the Colonial Treasurer, to be by him paid into the Consolidated Revenue Fund of the Colony.

Short title.

4. This Act shall be styled, and may be cited as the "Sydney Mint Act of 1862."

Mr. Edward Hamilton to Sir F. Rogers.

Sir, 5, Cannon-street, E. C., 18 March 1863.

I have the honour to inform you that I have received instructions from the Government of New South Wales to bring under the notice of Her Majesty's Government the accompanying minute, drawn up by the Deputy Master of the Royal Mint in Sydney, and to request that you will authorise me to open communications with the Treasury on the subject.

The Government of New South Wales is anxious to avail itself of the recommendation contained in the Report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons (17 July 1862) on the Sydney Branch Mint, by complying with the required conditions, and is prepared to bring in a Bill in the ensuing Session of the Colonial Parliament to provide for the charges of that establishment by an Act of permanent appropriation. The object of the suggestion made in this minute is to avoid delay as far as possible, and I take the liberty of observing that it would be almost premature if the Colonial Parliament passed the Act of Appropriation without some definite evidence such as would be furnished by passing the the Imperial Act, suggested in the accompanying minute, that Her Majesty's Government is prepared to extend to the Colonial coin the privilege of having the same legal currency throughout the empire as the coin issued by the Royal Mint in London.

I have, &c.

To the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies.

(signed) Edward Hamilton,
Representative Agent of New South Wales.

TREASURY MINUTE, dated 22 June 1863.

WRITE to Sir Frederic Rogers, with reference to his letter, and request he will inform the Duke of Newcastle that my Lords have had under their consideration the arrangements which it will be necessary to adopt for the purpose of carrying into effect the recommendations of the Select Committee of the House of Commons of last Session, on the Sydney Branch Mint.

The first point raised in the Report of that Committee regards the locality of the Branch Mint. It states that "the Committee have abstained from entering into any other question than the one referred to them, and have, therefore, avoided the controversy which appears in the correspondence placed before them, as to whether the Mint would have been better placed at Melbourne than at Sydney; or if a Mint should not also be placed at Melbourne."

My Lords would have been ready to have entered into this question if required to do so, as preliminary to any measure for declaring sovereigns and other gold money, coined in Australia, a legal tender of payment in the United Kingdom; but as it has not been raised by the Colonies immediately concerned, though ample time has been afforded for its consideration since the publication of the Report, their Lordships feel themselves warranted in passing it by, and applying themselves to the proposition now before them from the Colony of New South Wales.

It will be convenient to take the six recommendations with which the Report of the Committee concludes, as the basis of the arrangements to be considered. They are as follows: viz.,—

1. That gold coin be issued from the Branch Mint at Sydney having currency in all parts of the British dominions where gold coin minted in London is current.

2. That the coin struck at the Sydney Mint should have, as nearly as possible, the same alloy, and the same quality of execution and durability as that struck at the Royal Mint in London.

3. That the coin should also have a Mint mark sufficient to indicate, at least to bankers and others, the Mint whence it issued.

4. That an adequate Mint charge or seignorage should continue to be levied, and that the Imperial Government should stipulate for its being kept at such an amount as to prevent any undue inducement to the importation into the United Kingdom of gold in coin, rather than in bars.

5. That arrangements should be made for withdrawing from circulation, as speedily as possible, the existing Sydney gold coinage.

6. That the charge for the Branch Mint should be provided for by permanent appropriation by the Legislature of New South Wales, rather than by an annual vote.

Of these propositions, the last is properly regarded by the Government of New South Wales as the first in order of action, since a permanent appropriation for the charge of the Branch Mint by the Legislature of that Colony, with the view of giving Her Majesty's Government an immediate control over the establishment, is considered to be a necessary preliminary to the recognition of the Branch Mint as an institution adopted for Imperial objects.

My Lords are satisfied with the disposition shown by the Legislature of New South Wales to pass an Act for this purpose, the Bill introduced this year having been withdrawn only on account of a technical objection, not affecting the principle of the measure; and they are willing to submit a Bill to Parliament, as proposed by the Governor of New South Wales, conditionally, enabling Her Majesty to declare by proclamation, coins to be issued from the Branch Mints of New South Wales, corresponding in the essential particulars regarding the standard of value and denomination with those issued from the Royal Mint of London, a legal tender of payment in the United Kingdom. The effect of such an enactment will be to enable Her Majesty to give currency to the Sydney gold coins in all parts of Her dominions in which gold coins issued from the Royal Mint in London are a legal tender.

It will be necessary, however, that this measure should be guarded by the precautions recommended by the Committee. Of these, the fourth proposition regarding the imposition of an adequate Mint charge or seignorage is the one of most immediate importance. The object of the Committee, as my Lords apprehend, in making this proposition, is that by the imposition of a reasonable charge for the cost of coinage, a wholesome check should be established on requisitions for coin for transmission to this country, in excess possibly of the quantity required for the purposes of circulation, which might therefore tend to derange the system by which gold coins are issued from the Royal Mint, on requisitions from the Bank of England, which requisitions are founded on the ascertained requirements of the public.

The local dues levied on the export of gold might appear, at first sight, to have some bearing on this question. By the Act of the Legislature of New South Wales, 26 Vict., No. 5, the gold duties were reduced from the 1st January 1863 to 1*s.* 6*d.*, payable at the Customs for every ounce, troy weight, of gold about to be exported, and at the Royal Mint, Sydney, upon gold imported thither, the duty of 1*s.* 3*d.* for every ounce, troy weight, of standard fineness, so imported. There is thus a difference of 3*d.* between the duty imposed on gold exported through the Customs, and that levied at the Mint; but it will be observed that the former is imposed on gold generally, and the latter on gold reduced to standard fineness. My Lords understand that this difference is intended to equalize the charge upon the two descriptions of metal, the raw gold as produced from the mines being considered generally better than standard gold, to the extent of 3*d.* the ounce. It is obvious that the inducement, so far as this differential duty operates, to take the gold to the Mint for the purpose of its being refined, or to export it in its crude state, will depend on the correctness of the average valuation on which the distinction is based.

On consideration of the subject, however, my Lords are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government may leave the question of the export duty on gold to the unfettered discretion of the local Government, and confine their attention to the imposition of a proper charge for coinage, as distinguished from the operations of the refinery attached to the Branch Mint. It may be taken for granted that in the interest of the local revenue, the duty on gold imported into the Mint will be rendered, as nearly as circumstances will admit, equivalent to the export duty on gold, which has not passed through the Mint, i. e., that the difference in the duty when levied on standard gold at the Mint, and the export duty when levied on crude gold at the Custom House, will, as is obviously requisite, be solely regulated by the excess in value (so far as it can be ascertained) of the average crude gold of New South Wales, over and above standard gold.

In this view it is only necessary to provide a statutory security against the creation of inducements to demand coin from the Branch Mint, in preference to bar gold from the refinery department.

My Lords propose, therefore, that a Mint charge shall be imposed sufficient to cover the cost of coinage on all gold returned in coin to the importer, over and above the charge, if any, which may be incurred for assay and refining, and over and above the duty, if any, imposed by Colonial Act on gold imported into the Mint, as the equivalent of an export customs duty.

The Mint charge to be thus imposed should be fixed at such an amount as to check excessive and useless coining, without creating an impediment to proper applications for coin. The actual cost attending the fabrication of the coin would, so far as it can be ascertained, be the proper measure of the charge, with a small allowance for error, it being mainly requisite that the charge should not be less than the cost. By communication with the Master of the Mint, my Lords have learnt that it is estimated that the wages of the workmen, cost of materials and waste of metal in coining gold at the Royal Mint, are covered covered by one-sixth per cent. of the value coined; but this does not include the salaries of the officers of the establishment, nor the outlay for buildings.

The charge at the French Mints "pour frais de fabrication" is for gold, 2·161 millièmes, or 2·0185 pence per ounce. Taking into consideration the higher cost of the process at Sydney over that incurred in Europe, the charge for coining at the Sydney Mint may be fairly taken at three millièmes (0·3 per cent.), which is about equivalent to 3 d. per ounce on the coin on those data.

My Lords propose that the Mint charge for coining at the Sydney Mint should be for the present fixed at 3 d. per ounce of gold coin.

The proposed charge may be open to revision hereafter, and it will be sufficient to provide in the Bill to be submitted to Parliament for the imposition of a Mint charge for coinage, of 3 d. per ounce troy of standard gold; with a power to Her Majesty in Council to augment that charge if found insufficient with reference to the principle which has been laid down, or on the other hand to reduce it if it should be found to be unnecessarily high.

It will be understood that this charge will be exclusive of that which is now made at the Branch Mint, at Sydney, for prompt returns, whether in coin or bar gold, and which is analogous to the charge of 1 ½ d. allowed by law at the Bank of England for immediate payments in exchange for bullion.

The second and third recommendations in the Report of the Committee will be subject for future consideration when the necessary statutory powers shall have been obtained.

My Lords think it right, however, to observe that, although identity in quality of execution and durability between the coin struck at the Sydney Mint and that struck at the Royal Mint of London may properly be kept in view as an object of ultimate attainment, it would not, in their opinion, be expedient to lay down, in connexion with the measure now contemplated, any positive regulation regarding the character of the alloy to be employed. The second recommendation of the Committee on this point was probably founded on a suggestion in evidence given before them, that the silver which is contained in the native gold of Australia might probably lead to the re-exportation of the coin made from it immediately on its importation into this country, with the view to its being melted down on the Continent, for the purpose of extracting the silver. In the same evidence it is, however, shown that the separation of the silver from the gold would be too costly an operation in Australia, at present, on account of the deficiency of chemical aids, to render it profitable. A strict and immediate compliance with the recommendation of the Committee might therefore, in effect, put a stop to coinage in Australia.

My Lords consider therefore that it would be inexpedient to establish any positive regulation with regard to the coinage of gold at the Sydney Mint, for circulation in the United Kingdom, which would not agree with the law applicable to the coinage conducted at the Royal Mint. The only enactment defining the weight and fineness of the gold money circulating in the United Kingdom is contained in the 16th section of the 56 Geo. 3, c. 68, which enacts that "the gold coin of this realm shall be, and shall be considered, and is hereby declared to be the only legal tender for payment (except as hereinafter provided) within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland; and that the said gold coin shall hold such weight and fineness as are prescribed by the present indenture with His Majesty's Master and Worker of the Mint, for making gold monies at His Majesty's Mint, in London."

The provision on this point in such Mint Indenture is as follows:—"Every pound weight troy of all the monies of gold aforesaid shall be in value 46 l. 14 s. 6 d., and shall be in fineness at the time of the same 22 carats of fine gold and 2 carats of alloy in the pound weight troy, which standard aforesaid of 22 carats of fine gold and 2 carats of alloy in every pound weight troy, our Sovereign Lord the King doth will and ordain and establish by these presents to be the right standard of Crown gold."

It follows from these terms that the only legal requirement in respect of standard gold is, that each pound weight troy shall contain 22 carats of fine gold, and that the remainder shall be of alloy, the nature of which is left to the discretion of the Master of the Mint.

My Lords are unwilling to propose legislation for Sydney which should go beyond the regulations thus in force in England, and consequently an equal amount of discretion will remain in respect to the coinage to be conducted for Imperial purposes at the Sydney Branch Mint. It may not be unimportant to observe, in illustration of this principle, that, by the Mint law of the United States, it is expressly provided that not more than one-half of the alloy in the gold coins may consist of silver.

The fifth recommendation of the Committee regarding the withdrawal from circulation of the existing Sydney gold coinage does not call for any immediate action on the part of Her Majesty's Government, and may be left to the regulation of the Colonies concerned.

TRANSMIT copy of this Minute to the Master of the Mint, for his information, and request he will cause a Bill to be prepared for Parliament, enabling Her Majesty's Government to carry into effect the proposed arrangements.

REPORT of the COMMISSIONERS of AUDIT, dated 31 January 1863.

(No. 57.)

Audit Office, Somerset House, London, W. C.,
31 January 1863.

My Lords,

IN pursuance of the 39th section of the 14 & 15 Vict. c. 42, we have the honour to transmit copies of Abstract Accounts, showing the Receipt and Expenditure of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues, for the year ended 31st March 1862.

The only portions of the Expenditure of the Commissioners of Woods defrayed out of the Grants of Parliament, are the "Salaries and Expenses in the Office of Woods," and "Landed Estates Record Offices, Office in London."

In the present Account, as in former years, the Balance of the Vote for Salaries in prior years has been brought forward, and made available for current expenditure, in addition to the Grant for the current year; but in the Appropriation Act, 1862, the Grant of Parliament for the salaries and expenses of the Office of the Commissioners of Woods is made "to defray the Charge which will come in course of payment during the year ending on the 31st day of March 1863."

The Balance unexpended, 31st March 1862, was 2,695 l. 0 s. 11 d., which, we apprehend, will have to be surrendered to the Exchequer.

The year 1861-62 is the first year in which the expense of the Landed Estates Record Offices has been provided for by a special Vote of Parliament. The sum of 1,126 l., for which the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Woods account, is not the whole of that Vote, but only that portion of it which relates to the Record Office in London, the remainder of the Vote being accounted for by the Paymaster General.

Upon that portion of the Vote which is under the control of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Woods and Forests, there is a surplus of 289 l. 3 s. 5 d., which, we apprehend, should also be surrendered to the Exchequer.

We have further to state that there are some questions which remain for adjustment on the audit of the Cash Account.

We have, &c.

(signed) Edw^d Romilly.
Henry Arbuthnot.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

(No. 58.)

Audit Office, Somerset House, London, W.C.
31 January 1863.

My Lords,

In pursuance of the 39th section of the 14 & 15 Vict. c. 42, we have the honour to transmit copies of the Abstract Accounts of Receipt and Expenditure of the Moneys granted, or otherwise received and appropriated in the Department under the control and management of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Works and Public Buildings, in the year ended 31st March 1862.

We also enclose a Statement, showing how far the Expenditure in 1861–2 has fallen short of, or has exceeded, the aggregate amount derived from the Grants for that year, and the balances on former Grants.

In the Appropriation Act, 1862, the Grants of Parliament for the year 1862–3, in respect of this service, are for the first time made "to defray the charges which will come in course of payment during the year." In the Estimates submitted to Parliament for the year 1862–3, the amount of the probable surpluses on the Grants of former years have (as in the previous year) been deducted from the gross amount required for the service of the year, and the net amount only has been voted.

The anticipated surpluses are stated at 55,000 l., but the actual surpluses, as shown in the enclosed Statement, were 573,110*l.* 18*s.* 8*d.*

573,110	18	8
£.518,110	18	8

If, therefore, the Board of Works are at liberty to regard the estimated surplus of 55,000 l. as forming part of the Parliamentary Grants for 1862–3, there will still remain to be surrendered to the Exchequer, in respect of the unexpended balances on the 31st March 1862, the sum of 518,110 l. 18*s.* 8*d.* In one instance there is, as your Lordships will perceive, a trifling excess of 1*l.* 1*s.* to be provided for.

With reference to the Note at the foot of the enclosed Statement, relating to the sum of 1,704*l.* 7*s.* 3*d.*, we beg to observe that, inasmuch as this sum has not been treated in the Account as an excess of expenditure over the Grants of Parliament, it is not included by the Accountant in the "Recapitulation of Balances" appended to his Account amongst the "Balances overdrawn."

With regard to the sum of 4*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.*, which also forms the subject of a Note at the foot of our Statement, it may be observed, that though this is not treated by the Accountant as an excess on the Special Vote for the British Embassy at Paris, the Accountant's Balances will not be affected thereby, inasmuch as the amount has been charged to another Vote in this Account.

There are, in fact, two Accounts in respect of the Embassy House at Paris; one (included in Votes for Civil Services, Class I.), for ordinary maintenance and repairs; and the other (under Votes, Class VII.), a Special Grant in 1858–9 "for the repairs and restoration of the British Embassy House at Paris, and for additional fittings and furniture." The expenditure under the last-mentioned Grant has exceeded the amount voted, and the deficiency (4*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.*) has been made good out of Civil Contingencies, which Account has been reimbursed out of the Vote for ordinary maintenance and repairs.

We enclose a copy of our observation on this subject, and of the reply of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Works.

The other items in the Account to which we have to advert, are as follows:—

Royal Palaces.

In our Report of 31st January 1862, accompanying the Account of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Works for 1860–61, we observed upon a payment under the Vote for Royal Palaces of 7,500*l.*, in respect of Works at Marlborough House; and we stated that we had not been furnished with those vouchers, which we should have received in support of the expenditure, if the works had been executed under the superintendence of the Board of Works, by whom the Vote was taken.

We have to notice that the Account herewith submitted contains a further payment of 4,000 l. for the above works, which is supported by a certificate from Mr. Pennethorne, not countersigned, however, as in the previous year, by Sir Charles Phipps.

Embassy House, Constantinople.

Under this head a sum of 5*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* has been brought to credit, in respect of interest on bills of exchange drawn at short date. This amount should have been carried to Extra Receipts, and paid into the Exchequer under that head. It is, however, included in the Balance to be surrendered to the Exchequer.

Holyhead Roads, &c., Loan Accounts.

Under this head the following sums are "written off," viz.:—

	£.	s.	d.
St. Alban's and South Mims Trust	30,491	3	8
Highgate Archway Company	25,912	16	6
Shifnal District Trust	8,012	6	2
Stratford and Dunchurch Trust	21,745	14	3

We have, however, to observe that these debts will not be extinguished until the completion of the payment of the several annuities for fifteen years imposed on these Trusts by the Act 24 & 25 Vict. c. 28.

We have only further to notice that there are questions which remain for adjustment on the Audit of the detailed Cash Account.

We have, &c.

Expenses incurred by Special Commissioners in visiting the above-named places of Appeal in the year 1862–3 - - - - - - - £. 675 19 2

This Return is confined to assessments made by the Special Commissioners in respect of trades, professions, and employments under Schedules D. and E. in the United Kingdom, and of Railway Companies under Schedule A. in Great Britain.

The Special Commissioners, in addition, make the assessments on foreign and colonial dividends payable in this country, and also make all assessments in Ireland under Schedules A. and B. on lands and tenements, amounting in number to upwards of 1,220,000. The number of individuals assessed under these two last-mentioned Schedules cannot be given, as there are numerous instances in which the same persons are separately assessed for various properties situated in different parts of the kingdom.
